Plaintiff United States of America, by its attorney, Preet Bharara, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, for its amended complaint, upon information and belief, alleges as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. From at least in or about November 2006, and continuing through in or about April 2011, the three leading internet poker companies doing business in the United States were PokerStars, Full Tilt Poker and Absolute Poker/Ultimate Bet (collectively the "Poker Companies"). Because United States banks were largely unwilling to process payments for an illegal activity such as internet gambling, the three Poker Companies used fraudulent methods to avoid these restrictions and to receive billions of dollars from United States residents who gambled through the Poker Companies.

2. The principals of the Poker Companies, including Isai Scheinberg ("Scheinberg") and Paul Tate ("Tate") of PokerStars, Scott Tom ("Tom") and Brent Beckley ("Beckley") of Absolute Poker, and Raymond Bitar ("Bitar") and Nelson Burtnick

("Burtnick") of Full Tilt Poker; and others working in concert with the Poker Companies and on their behalf, deceived or directed others to deceive United States banks and financial institutions into processing billions of dollars in payments for the Poker Companies, by, among other things, arranging for the money received from United States gamblers to be disguised as payments to hundreds of non-existent online merchants and other non-gambling businesses.

3. To accomplish this deceit, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate relied on highly compensated third party payment processors (the "Poker Processors") who lied to United States banks about the nature of the financial transactions they were processing and covered up those lies through the creation of phony corporations and websites to disguise payments to the Poker Companies. These Poker Processors included, among others, Ryan Lang ("Lang"), Bradley Franzen ("Franzen"), Ira Rubin ("Rubin"), and Chad Elie ("Elie"), who, at various times relevant to this Complaint, processed and helped disguise payments to each of the three Poker Companies.

4. Working together, the Poker Companies and Poker Processors deceived United States banks and financial institutions - including banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation - into processing billions of dollars in gambling transactions for the Poker Companies. Approximately one-third or more of the funds deposited by gamblers went directly to the Poker Companies as revenue through the "rake" the Poker Companies charged players on almost every poker hand played online.

5. As described more fully below, one of the Poker Companies, Full Tilt Poker, not only engaged in the operation of an unlawful gambling business, bank fraud, wire fraud, and money laundering as alleged in the Complaint, but also defrauded its poker players by misrepresenting to players that funds deposited into their online player accounts were secure and segregated from operating funds, while at the same time using player funds to pay out hundreds of millions of dollars to Full Tilt Poker owners. Full Tilt Poker was able to accomplish this massive fraud, in part, because it illegally conducted business in the United States but maintained its personnel, operations, assets, and accounts principally overseas.

6. As described more fully below, in or about the summer of 2010, Full Tilt Poker's payment processing channels were so disrupted that the company faced increasing difficulty attempting to collect funds from players in the United States. Rather than disclose this fact, Full Tilt Poker simply credited players' online gambling accounts with money that had never actually been collected from the players' bank accounts. Full Tilt Poker allowed players to gamble with -- and lose to other players -- this phantom money that Full Tilt Poker never actually collected or possessed. When other players won these phantom funds, their accounts were credited with money that Full Tilt Poker did not actually possess, but now nevertheless owed to these players. As a result, Full Tilt Poker soon developed a massive shortfall between the money owed to United States players and the money actually collected from United States players, with Full Tilt Poker having credited approximately $130 million in phantom money to U.S. players' online accounts that was never actually collected from players' bank accounts. Full Tilt Poker never disclosed this shortfall to the public.

7. As of March 31, 2011, Full Tilt Poker owed approximately $390 million to players around the world, including approximately $150 million owed to players in the United States. At that time Full Tilt Poker had only approximately $60 million on deposit in its bank accounts. As of the filing of this Amended Complaint, Full Tilt Poker still owes players over $300 million.

8. Meanwhile, from approximately April 2007 until April 2011, Full Tilt Poker, and its Board of Directors, Bitar, Howard Lederer ("Lederer"), Christopher Ferguson, a/k/a "Jesus" ("Ferguson"), and Rafael Furst ("Furst"), all owners of Full Tilt Poker, distributed approximately $443,860,529.89 to themselves and other owners of the company. Payments to the Full Tilt Poker owners stopped only after April 15, 2011.

9. On or about March 10, 2011, a Grand Jury sitting in the Southern District of New York returned a sealed nine-count Superseding Indictment, S3 10 Cr. 336 (LAK) (the "Indictment") charging Scheinberg, Bitar, Tom, Beckley, Burtnick, Tate, Lang, Franzen, Rubin, Elie, and John Campos ("Campos") with conspiring to violate the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act ("UIGEA"), 31 U.S.C. §§ 5363 and 5366, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371 (Count One); violating UIGEA, Title 31, United States Code, Sections 5363 and 5366 (Counts Two, Three, and Four); conducting illegal gambling businesses, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955 (Counts Five, Six, and Seven); conspiring to commit wire fraud and bank fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349 (Count Eight); and conspiring to launder money, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(h) (Count Nine). A true and correct copy of the Indictment is attached hereto as Exhibit A and is incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

10. On or about April 14, 2011, this action was commenced by the filing of a sealed in rem forfeiture and civil money laundering complaint ("the Complaint"). The Complaint sought civil monetary penalties for money laundering against the Poker Companies and the entities that operated those companies: Pokerstars, Full Tilt Poker, Absolute Poker, Ultimate Bet, Oldford Group Ltd., Rational Entertainment Enterprises Ltd., Pyr Software Ltd., Stelekram Ltd., Sphene International Ltd., Tiltware LLC, Kolyma Corporation A.V.V., Pocket Kings Ltd., Pocket Kings Consulting Ltd., Filco Ltd., Vantage Ltd., Ranston Ltd., Mail Media Ltd., Full Tilt Poker Ltd., SGS Systems Inc., Trust Services Ltd., Fiducia Exchange Ltd., Blue Water Services Ltd., Absolute Entertainment, S.A., and Blanca Games, Inc. of Antigua ("the Poker Company Defendants").

11. The Complaint further sought the forfeiture of all right, title and interest in the assets of the Poker Company Defendants, including but not limited to the properties set forth in Schedule A, including the domain names pokerstars.com, fulltiltpoker.com, absolutepoker.com, ultimatebet.com, and ub.com (the "Poker Company Properties"); as well as the properties set forth in Schedule B, consisting of accounts used by payment processors for the Poker Companies and accounts into which proceeds were transferred from the payment processor accounts (the "Processor Properties"). The Poker Company Properties and the Processor Properties are subject to forfeiture (1) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955(d), as properties used in violation of the provisions of Section 1955; (2) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(C), as properties constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to violations of Section 1955; (3) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(C), as properties constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to a conspiracy to commit wire fraud and bank fraud; and (4) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(A), as properties involved in transactions and attempted transactions in violation of Sections 1956 and 1957, or property traceable to such property.

12. On or about April 15, 2011, the Honorable Lewis A. Kaplan, United States District Judge, Southern District of New York, issued a restraining order ("the Restraining Order") with respect to several of the Poker Company Properties and the Processor Properties, finding probable cause that these properties are subject to forfeiture pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Sections 981(a)(1)(C), 982(a)(1), 982(a)(2)(A), and 1955(d) and Title 28, United States Code, Section 2461(c). A true and correct copy of the Declaration of Special Agent Rosemary Karaka of the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") (the "Karaka Decl.") submitted in support of the Government's application for the Restraining Order is annexed hereto as Exhibit B and is incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

13. On or about April 15, 2011, the Honorable Robert W. Sweet, United States District Judge, Southern District of New York, issued an Arrest Warrant In Rem for the Poker Companies' domain names.

14. On or about April 15, 2011, the Indictment, the Restraining Order, and the Complaint were unsealed.

15. On or about April 20, 2011, the United States entered into an agreement with Full Tilt Poker, a true and correct copy of which is attached as Exhibit J, authorizing Full Tilt Poker to use its domain name, which had been seized pursuant to the Arrest Warrant In Rem, for the purpose of allowing internet poker in foreign countries where, Full Tilt Poker maintained, it operated lawfully; and for the purpose of facilitating Full Tilt Poker's repayment of funds to United States players with funds on deposit with Full Tilt Poker (the "Full Tilt Poker Domain Use Agreement").

16. In this civil money laundering and in rem forfeiture action, the United States of America seeks, in addition to the penalties and forfeiture sought in the Complaint, civil monetary penalties for money laundering against Bitar, Lederer, Ferguson, and Furst (collectively the "FTP Insider Defendants") pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(b), of the value of the property, funds, and monetary instruments involved in transactions the FTP Insider Defendants conducted and attempted to conduct in violation of Section 1956(a)(1) and (a)(3) and section 1957, and transmissions and transfers the FTP Insider Defendants conducted in violation of Section 1956(a)(2). The United States of America also seeks the forfeiture of all right, title and interest in the contents of accounts set forth in Schedule C to this Complaint and all property traceable thereto, consisting of payments received by the FTP Insider Defendants (collectively, the "FTP Insider Accounts").¹ The FTP Insider Accounts are subject to forfeiture (1) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(C), as properties constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to violations of Section 1955; (2) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(C), as properties constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to a conspiracy to commit wire fraud and bank fraud; (3) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(A), as properties involved in transactions and attempted transactions in violation of Sections 1956 and 1957, or property traceable to such property; and (4) pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(C), as properties constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to wire fraud and conspiracy to commit wire fraud.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

17. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1345 and 1355.

¹ The Poker Company Properties, Processor Properties, and FTP Insider Accounts are referred to collectively as "the Defendant Properties."

18. Venue is proper pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, Section 1355(b)(1)(A) because acts and omissions giving rise to the forfeiture took place in the Southern District of New York.

19. Venue is further proper pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, Section 1395(a) because the cause of action accrued in the Southern District of New York.

20. Venue is further proper pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(i) because the financial or monetary transactions were conducted in part in the Southern District of New York; because a prosecution for the underlying specified unlawful activity could be brought in the Southern District of New York and the Defendants participated in the transfer of the proceeds of the specified unlawful activity from this District to districts where financial and monetary transactions were conducted; and because the Defendants conspired to violate Section 1956 and venue for the completed offense lies in the Southern District of New York and acts in furtherance of the conspiracy took place in the Southern District of New York.

III. THE PARTIES

21. At all times relevant to this Amended Complaint, Scheinberg was a founder, owner, and principal decision-maker for PokerStars, an internet poker company founded in or about 2001 with headquarters in the Isle of Mann. Through its website, pokerstars.com, PokerStars provided real-money gambling on internet poker games to United States customers. At various times relevant to this Amended Complaint, PokerStars did business through several privately held corporations and other entities, including but not limited to Oldford Group Ltd., Rational Entertainment Enterprises Ltd., Pyr Software Ltd., Stelekram Ltd. and Sphene International Ltd. (collectively, "Pokerstars").

22. At all times relevant to the Amended Complaint, Full Tilt Poker was an internet poker company founded in or about 2004 with headquarters in Ireland. Through its website, fulltiltpoker.com, Full Tilt Poker provided real-money gambling on internet poker games to United States customers. At various times relevant to this Amended Complaint, Full Tilt Poker did business through several privately held corporations and other entities, including but not limited to Tiltware LLC, Kolyma Corporation A.V.V., Pocket Kings Ltd., Pocket Kings Consulting Ltd., Filco Ltd., Vantage Ltd., Ranston Ltd., Mail Media Ltd., and Full Tilt Poker Ltd. (collectively, "Full Tilt Poker"). As of March 2011, Full Tilt Poker was the second-largest poker operator offering gambling on poker games to United States residents.

23. At all times relevant to the Amended Complaint, Bitar, Lederer, Ferguson, and Furst were among the founders of Full Tilt Poker, as well as part-owners of Tiltware, LLC, a California Limited Liability Company that was the beneficial owner of all other Full Tilt Poker entities. In total, approximately 23 individuals owned shares in Full Tilt Poker. The FTP Insider Defendants specifically owned the following approximate percentages of Tiltware LLC: Bitar (7.8%), Lederer (8.6%), Ferguson (19.2%), and Furst (2.6%). The FTP Insider Defendants were also, at all relevant times, members of the Board of Directors of Tiltware LLC, and Ferguson was Chairman of the Board of Directors. At all times relevant to the Amended Complaint Bitar and Lederer were the two managing members of Tiltware LLC and Bitar was the CEO of Full Tilt Poker. At certain times relevant to the Amended Complaint, Lederer was the President of Full Tilt Poker. Lederer, Bitar and Ferguson were also widely known professional poker players, as were many of the other part-owners of Tiltware LLC.

24. At certain times relevant to this Amended Complaint, Tom and his step-brother Beckley were founders and/or principal decision-makers for Absolute Poker, an internet poker company founded in or about 2003 with its headquarters in Costa Rica. Through its websites, absolutepoker.com, ultimatebet.com, and ub.com, Absolute Poker provided real-money gambling on internet poker games to United States customers. At various times relevant to this Amended Complaint, Absolute Poker did business through several privately held corporations and other entities, including but not limited to SGS Systems Inc., Trust Services Ltd, Fiducia Exchange Ltd., Blue Water Services Ltd., and Absolute Entertainment, S.A. In or around October 2006, Tokwiwo Enterprises was identified as the owner of record of Absolute Poker and a companion poker and blackjack gambling website, Ultimate Bet. In around August 2010, ownership of Absolute Poker and Ultimate Bet was transferred to Blanca Games, Inc. of Antigua (collectively, these entities are "Absolute Poker").

25. At certain times relevant to this Amended Complaint, Burtnick was an executive in the payment processing departments of PokerStars and Full Tilt Poker. From in or about October 2006 through in or about November 2008 Burtnick was an employee in the payment processing department of PokerStars, where he ultimately served as the head of payment processing. From in or about January 2009 up to and including in or about March 2011, Burtnick served as head of the payment processing department for Full Tilt Poker.

26. From at least in or about the summer of 2006 up to and including in or about March 2011, Tate was an employee of PokerStars, including in the payment processing department. From in or about early 2009, up to and including in or about March 2011, Tate served as the head of the payment processing department for PokerStars.

27. From at least in or about October 2006, up to and including at least in or about the spring of 2010, Lang worked with the Poker Companies to identify Poker Processors willing to process payments for the Poker Companies, including through deceptive means. In this capacity, Lang acted as an intermediary between principals of the Poker Companies, including defendants Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick and Tate, and the Poker Processors.

28. From at least in or about 2007, up to and including on or about March 2011, Franzen worked with internet gambling companies including the Poker Companies, to identify Poker Processors willing to process payments for the Poker Companies, including through deceptive means. In this capacity, Franzen acted as an intermediary between principals of the Poker Companies, including defendants Beckley and Burtnick, and the Poker Processors.

29. From at least in or about 2007, up to and including in or about March 2011, Rubin processed payments for various internet gambling companies, including each of the Poker Companies, by disguising the payments as payments to dozens of phony internet merchants.

30. From at least in or about the summer of 2008, up to and including in or about March 2011, Elie together with others, opened bank accounts in the United States, including through deceptive means, through which each of the Poker Companies received payments from United States-based gamblers.

31. From at least in or about September 2009, up to and including in or about March 2011, Campos was the Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors and part owner of SunFirst Bank in St. George, Utah, which processed payments for PokerStars and Full Tilt Poker.

IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

The Enactment of the UIGEA

32. On or about October 13, 2006, the United States enacted the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act ("UIGEA"), making it a federal crime for gambling businesses to "knowingly accept" most forms of payment "in connection with the participation of another person in unlawful Internet gambling." Following the passage of the UIGEA, leading internet gambling businesses - including the leading internet poker company doing business in the United States at that time - terminated their United States operations.

33. On various dates in October 2006, notwithstanding the passage of the UIGEA, the Poker Companies issued public statements indicating that they intended to continue offering gambling on internet poker in the United States. For example, in an October 16, 2006 press release, Absolute Poker - whose United States citizen founders had relocated to Costa Rica - noted that Absolute Poker was a "privately held operation, which gives our business model more flexibility and creativity in operating." Absolute Poker also claimed that its payment transactions were done "within the framework of the international banking system, which the U.S. Congress has no control over."

The Scheme to Defraud

34. As set forth more fully below, at most times relevant to this Amended Complaint, because internet gambling businesses such as those operated by the Poker Companies were illegal under United States law, internet gambling companies, including the Poker Companies, were not permitted by United States banks to open bank accounts in the United States to receive proceeds from United States gamblers. Instead, both prior to and particularly after the passage of the UIGEA, the principals of the Poker Companies, including Scheinberg, Bitar, Tom, Beckley, Burtnick and Tate, operated through various deceptive means designed to trick United States banks and financial institutions into processing gambling transactions on the Poker Companies' behalf.

Fraudulent Credit Card Processing

35. Beginning in or about 2001, credit card companies Visa and MasterCard introduced regulations requiring member banks that processed credit card transactions for merchants (so-called "acquiring banks") to apply a particular transaction code to internet gambling transactions. Thereafter, certain U.S. banks that issued credit cards to U.S. consumers (so-called "issuing banks") elected not to extend credit to customers for internet gambling purposes and as a matter of policy automatically declined transactions bearing that internet gambling transaction code. The number of U.S. issuing banks declining such transactions increased significantly over time such that, even prior to the passage of the UIGEA in October 2006, most United States banks blocked transactions containing the internet gambling code.

36. In order to circumvent the Visa and MasterCard regulations and trick U.S. banks into authorizing their internet gambling transactions, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick and Tate, worked with and directed others to apply incorrect transaction codes to their respective Poker Companies' internet gambling transactions in order to disguise the nature of those transactions and create the false appearance that the transactions were completely unrelated to internet gambling.

37. One method used by the members of the conspiracy to trick the United States banks into approving internet gambling charges involved the creation of phony non-gambling companies that the Poker Companies used to initiate the credit card charges. At various times alleged in this Amended Complaint, Bitar, Beckley, and Burtnick worked with other members of the conspiracy to create such fictitious companies - including phony online flower shops and pet supply stores - that established Visa and MasterCard merchant processing accounts with offshore banks. When Full Tilt Poker and Absolute Poker processed a transaction through one of these phony companies without applying a gambling code to the transaction, the United States issuing bank would be tricked into approving the gambling transaction even if its policy was to not allow the extension of credit for internet gambling. Because the credit card networks were often able to detect the fraudulent nature of these phony merchants after a period of time and to shut down processing for those phony merchants, Bitar, Beckley and Burtnick, and their co-conspirators, arranged for a supply of stand-by phony merchants to be used when a particular phony merchant was discovered. For example, an Absolute Poker document from in or around the fall of 2007 identifies approximately twenty phony internet shopping companies then being used by Absolute Poker to disguise credit card transactions, including, among others, www.petfoodstore.biz and www.bedding-superstore.tv.

38. A second method used by the members of the conspiracy to trick United States banks involved the use of certain pre-paid credit cards. At various times alleged in this Amended Complaint, the Poker Companies, through, among others, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, and their co-conspirators, developed so-called "stored value cards" - such as pre-paid debit cards or even pre-paid "phone" cards - that could be "loaded" with funds from a U.S. customer's credit card without using a gambling transaction code. Once "loaded" in this way, the stored value cards were used by gamblers almost exclusively to transfer funds to Poker Companies and other gambling companies. To avoid detection, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, and their co-conspirators, arranged for fake internet web sites and phony consumer "reviews" of the stored value cards so that it would appear that the stored value cards had some other legitimate purpose.

Fraudulent E-Check Processing

39. Because Visa and MasterCard sought to identify and block attempts to circumvent their rules requiring internet gambling transactions to be correctly identified - so that banks could decline to accept them if they wished - the Poker Companies were unable to process credit card transactions consistently, even through their use of fraudulent means. Accordingly, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, and others, worked with and directed others to develop yet another method of deceiving United States banks and financial institutions into processing their respective Poker Companies' internet gambling transactions, through fraudulent e-check processing.

40. At all times relevant to this Amended Complaint, the Automated Clearinghouse (or "ACH") system was an electronic network, administered by the Federal Reserve, that allowed for electronic fund transfers to and from United States bank accounts through "e-checks" or "electronic checks." At various times relevant to this Amended Complaint, the Poker Companies, through among others Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, increasingly focused their payment systems on e-checks.

41. A principal difficulty for the Poker Companies in e-check processing was that the ACH system required the merchant to open a processing account at a United States-based Originating Depository Financial Institution (or "ODFI"). Because the Poker Companies were not legally able to offer gambling in the United States, the Poker Companies could not - and did not - seek to open bank accounts for e-check processing in the names of their businesses. Instead, the Poker Companies found third parties - the Poker Processors - willing to open the bank accounts and process these e-check transactions on behalf of the Poker Companies using the names of phony companies.

42. In furtherance of this aspect of the scheme, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, among others, relied on various middlemen, including Lang and Franzen, to connect their respective Poker Companies with payment processors willing to handle internet poker e-check transactions. Following these introductions, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate entered into processing agreements with certain of the e-check processors. The agreements provided the e-check processors with fees for processing each e-check transaction that were substantially higher than fees paid for standard e-check processing for legitimate, non-gambling merchants. The Poker Companies, including through Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, then worked with the e-check processors and other co-conspirators to disguise the Poker Companies' receipt of gambling payments so that the transactions would falsely appear to United States banks as non-gambling transactions.

43. At all times relevant to this Amended Complaint, the Poker Companies, through Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, and others, and the e-check processors, typically accomplished fraudulent e-check processing as follows:

a. First, the e-check processors - sometimes directly, and sometimes through third parties - opened bank accounts at United States-based ODFI banks in order to process the Poker Companies' e-check transactions through the ACH system. The e-check processors typically lied to the ODFI bank about the purpose of the account, falsely claiming that the account would be used to process e-checks for a wide variety of lawful e-commerce merchants without disclosing that, in fact, they would be used to process internet gambling transactions. In some cases, the e-check processors offered specific lies about the identity of these purported e-commerce merchants. In several cases, for example, the e-check processors falsely told the banks that the transactions were for particular purported internet shopping sites, such as an online store selling watches, when, in reality, as the e-check processors well knew, the transactions were for the Poker Companies.

b. Second, the e-check processors worked with the Poker Companies, including with Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, in the creation of dozens of phony corporations and corresponding websites so that the money debited from U.S. customer's banks would falsely appear to United States banks to be consumer payments to non-gambling related businesses. For example, in or about mid-2008, Rubin, together with co-conspirators, created dozens of phony e-commerce websites purporting to sell everything from clothing to jewelry to golf clubs to bicycles which, in reality, and as Rubin and his co-conspirators well knew, would in fact be used to disguise PokerStars's gambling transactions. In another example, in or around June 2009, Franzen, the defendant, working with multiple co-conspirators, created a phony business called "Green2YourGreen" to be used to disguise payments from U.S. gamblers destined for each of the Poker Companies. Franzen's co-conspirators falsely told multiple United States banks insured by the FDIC, including Citibank and Wells Fargo Bank, among others, that "Green2YourGreen" was a "direct sales" business that allowed consumers to buy environmentally friendly household products and sell them to other consumers in return for commissions. Indeed, the phony Green2YourGreen website that Franzen's co-conspirators created to disguise the gambling transactions listed numerous products that were purportedly for sale and contained "testimonials" about the benefits of green living.

c. The development and selection of phony merchants and websites to serve as cover for the poker processing was conducted in close coordination with the Poker Companies themselves, including with Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate. When a U.S. gambler entered his or her checking account information on one of the Poker Company's websites, the e-check transaction was submitted through the ACH system using the name of one of the phony businesses rather than the name of the Poker Company, and the charge appeared on the customer's bank account under this phony name. The e-check processors' computer systems communicated with the computer systems of the Poker Companies so that when a gambler entered e-check information on one of the Poker Operator's websites, the gambler and Poker Operator received notice of the name of the phony merchant that would appear on the customer's bank account statement, in lieu of the name of the Poker Company, as having initiated the charge.

For example, for a time PokerStars used "oneshopcenter" and "mygolflocations" to appear as the party initiating the charges on gamblers' bank statements. At the time, "oneshopcenter.com" and "mygolflocation.com" were purported internet merchants that falsely claimed to sell clothing and jewelry (for oneshopcenter.com) and golf clubs (for mygolflocation.com).

d. Similarly, the Poker Companies worked with the Poker Processors to coordinate responses to customer inquiries to the phony merchants, including the complaints of gamblers confused by the phony merchant name appearing on their checking account statement. For example, in or around March 2009, Gambler 1 and Gambler 2 sent e-mails to purported customer service addresses listed by oneshopcenter.com and mygolflocation.com regarding attempts to purchase particular items. Gambler 1 and Gambler 2 received responses not from these websites, but from individuals identifying themselves as customer service employees of PokerStars replying from e-mail addresses associated with PokerStars.

e. Tracking all of the phony merchants used to disguise gambling transactions created administrative and technical difficulties for the Poker Companies. For example, a PokerStars document from in or about May 2009 provided as follows:

It's not unusual for PokerStars to have their transactions identified by 30+ descriptors [the name of the merchant appearing on the consumer's credit card or checking account] at any point in time. The purpose of a descriptor is to help the customer identify the source of the transaction, be it credit card or electronic funds transfer. Unfortunately PokerStars does not have this luxury; relying on whatever descriptor the processor can get approved by the bank. These descriptors are diverse, often vague and rarely reflect the nature of the transaction in any way. In fact most descriptors strongly imply the transaction has nothing to do with PokerStars (i.e. BICYCLEBIGSHOP.COM, GOLFSHOPCENTER.COM, VENTURESHOPPING.COM etc). Whilst some players read confirmation emails and understand the process, many do not and it is all too easy for a player to say to their bank "I've never made a purchase at BICYCLEBIGSHOP.COM". As a result chargebacks (Not Auth & Stop Payments) are increasing which in turn jeopardizes the relationship with the processor and their banks.

To address the issue, PokerStars modified its software so, where possible, a consistent phony descriptor would appear on the bank statements of a given U.S. customer.

44. Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, and Tate, worked with multiple e-check processors introduced to them by defendants Lang, Franzen, and others, many of which the Poker Companies used simultaneously. These e-check providers included the following:

a. Intabill. In or around the spring of 2007, Lang introduced Scheinberg, Bitar, and Beckley to a method of e-check processing offered by Intabill, an Australia-based payment processing company. Because Intabill did not have direct access to United States ACH processing accounts, Intabill "sub-contracted" its processing to various United States-based e-check processors. With the knowledge and approval of Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick and Tate, Intabill disguised the gambling transactions as the transactions of dozens of phony financial services merchants. Intabill processed at least $543,210,092 of transactions for the Poker Companies from mid-2007 through March 2009. In or around March 2009, the Poker Companies ceased processing through Intabill, in part because Intabill owed them tens of millions of dollars for past processing.

b. Chad Elie. In 2008 and 2009, Elie had worked with Intabill to establish processing accounts for internet gambling that were disguised as accounts set up to process repayments of so-called "payday loans," which were high-interest, high-risk loans unrelated to gambling transactions. In or about August and September 2009, working with Franzen, Elie processed transactions on behalf of Full Tilt Poker. Also in or about August and September 2009, working with Beckley, Elie processed transactions on behalf of Absolute Poker through a bank account at Fifth Third Bank that Elie told the bank was an account to be used for internet marketing transactions. Elie's deceptive processing through Fifth Third Bank terminated in September 2009 when the bank froze the funds, which were subsequently seized by U.S. law enforcement through a judicial warrant.

c. Intabill's U.S. Representative. In or around March 2009, Intabill's former U.S.-based representative, Andrew Thornhill, began seeking to process transactions for the Poker Companies himself, communicating at various times with Scheinberg, Tate, Franzen, and Elie, among others, about potential processing. In or around June 2009, Thornhill and Franzen began processing e-checks for each of the Poker Companies disguised as payments to the phony "Green2YourGreen" environmentally friendly household products company described in paragraph 25(b) of this Amended Complaint. The Green2YourGreen processing lasted only a few months, until approximately August 2009, when Citibank and Wells Fargo Bank, among others, discovered that the transactions were, in fact, for internet gambling and terminated the accounts. At that time, the proceeds of these accounts were then seized by U.S. law enforcement pursuant to a judicial warrant.

d. The Arizona Processor. In or around December 2008, after learning that Intabill was unlikely to continue processing, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick and Tate began processing payments through an Arizona payment processor (the "Arizona Processor"), which was assisted at times by a company operated by Lang. From in or about December 2008 through on or about June 1, 2009, the Arizona Processor processed more than $100 million in payments primarily from U.S. gamblers to each of the Poker Companies; all of these transactions were processed using the names of phony merchants so as falsely to appear unrelated to internet gambling. On or about June 1, 2009, the Arizona Processor ceased processing transactions for the Poker Companies following the seizure of its bank accounts by U.S. law enforcement pursuant to a judicial warrant.

e. Ira Rubin. At various times relevant to this Amended Complaint, each of the Poker Companies employed Rubin, his company E-Triton, and various of Rubin's associates, including an e-check processor in California (the "California Processor"), to process their internet gambling transactions disguised as legitimate online merchant transactions, in order to trick U.S. banks into authorizing the transactions. For example, in or about mid-2008, Scheinberg and Burtnick hired Rubin's company E-Triton to process PokerStars transactions disguised as payments to dozens of phony web stores, including oneshopcenter.com and mygolflocation.com, which Rubin subcontracted to the Arizona Processor. In another example, in or about June 2009, following the Arizona Processor's termination of its processing activities, Burtnick and Franzen arranged for two of Rubin's associates to process payments for Full Tilt Poker disguised as payments to a medical billing company, until accounts related to that processing were seized by judicial order in or about September 2009. In a final example, at various times from approximately 2008 up to and including in or about March 2011, Beckley hired Rubin to process e-checks for Absolute Poker disguised as, among other things, payroll processing, affiliate marketing, and online electronics merchants.

"Transparent Processing"

45. In or around late 2009, following the collapse of multiple e-check processing operations used by the Poker Companies and the judicially ordered seizure of funds, Scheinberg and Bitar, begin exploring a new payment processing strategy - so-called "transparent processing" - and directed the heads of their payment processing departments, Tate and Burtnick, to find, at least where possible, processing solutions that did not involve lies to banks. Despite their expressed desire for "transparent" processing, PokerStars and Full Tilt Poker continued to rely on processors who disguised the poker transactions.

46. In order to find "transparent" processors, Scheinberg, Bitar, Burtnick and Tate, turned to processors who had worked with the Poker Companies before, including defendants Ryan Lang, Bradley Franzen, and Chad Elie. The Poker Companies had previously sued Elie for allegedly stealing $4 million of the Poker Companies' money. Elie was accepted as a source for "transparent" processing following a conversation between Elie and Scheinberg in or about the fall of 2009 in which Elie agree to repay some of this money.

47. Because it was illegal to process their internet gambling transactions, the Poker Companies had difficulty in identifying "transparent" processors. Elie and his associates were, however, able to persuade the principals of certain small, local banks that were facing financial difficulties to engage in such processing. In exchange for this agreement to process gambling transactions, the banks received sizeable fee income from processing poker transactions as well as promises of multi-million dollar investments in the banks from Elie and his associates. In at least one case, a payment to a bank official who approved the processing was made as well.

48. For example, in or around September 2009, Elie, together with Andrew Thornhill and a partner of Elie's ("Elie's Partner") approached Campos, the defendant, the Vice Chairman of the Board and part-owner of SunFirst Bank, a small, private bank based in Saint George, Utah. Campos, while expressing "trepidations" about gambling processing, proposed in a September 23, 2009 e-mail to accept such processing in return for a $10 million investment in SunFirst by Elie and Elie's Partner, which would give Elie and Elie's Partner more than 30% ownership of the bank. Elie and Elie's Partner made an initial investment in SunFirst Bank of approximately $3.4 million in approximately December 2009. On or about November 29, 2009, Andrew Thornhill told an associate "things are going well with the bank we purchased in Utah and my colleagues and I are looking to purchase another bank for the purpose of repeating our business plan. We probably could do this for a grand total of 3 or 4 banks."

49. On or about December 14, 2009, SunFirst Bank began processing payments for Pokerstars and FullTilt Poker. On or about April 8, 2010, Campos, the defendant, sent an "invoice" to Elie's Partner requesting that $20,000 be paid to a corporate entity that Campos controlled as a "bonus" for "Check and Credit Card Processing Consulting." SunFirst Bank processed over $200 million of payments for PokerStars and Full Tilt Poker through on or about November 9, 2010, when, at the direction of the FDIC, it ceased third party payment processing. SunFirst Bank earned approximately $1.6 million in fees for this processing.

50. In furtherance of the conspiracy described above and to effect the illegal object thereof, Scheinberg, Bitar, Tom, Beckley, Burtnick, Tate, Lang, Franzen, Rubin, Elie, and Campos, and others known and unknown, committed the following overt acts, among others, in the Southern District of New York and elsewhere:

a. On or about October 20, 2008, Lang sent an e-mail to principals of Intabill, reminding them that Burtnick would soon leave PokerStars and that they had promised to "kick him back" 5 cents for every dollar on Intabill's processing revenue from PokerStars.

b. On or about January 20, 2009, PokerStars, Full Tilt Poker, and Absolute Poker each received an electronic transfer of funds from a gambler located in the Southern District of New York.

c. On or about February 11, 2009, Beckley sent an e-mail to a co-conspirator not named as a defendant herein requesting that the co-conspirator obtain e-check and credit card processing for Absolute Poker.

d. On or about April 2, 2009, Scheinberg sent an e-mail to a co-conspirator not named as a defendant in the Indictment about a PokerStars processing account shut down by a United States bank.

e. On or about April 3, 2009, Lang, Burtnick, and Bitar met in Nevada with a co-conspirator not named as a defendant in the Indictment about processing payments through tribal banks.

f. On or about June 4, 2009, Franzen sent an e-mail to a co-conspirator not named as a defendant in the Indictment and asked for a "payout company ID" for Full Tilt Poker consisting of "something on the shelf with a basic web presence."

g. On or about June 23, 2009, an unidentified individual at Full Tilt Poker sent an e-mail to Franzen that included comments on a call center script used by a payment processor that discussed the importance of not mentioning online poker to anyone calling customer service about a charge on a bank statement.

h. On or about September 22, 2009, Elie forwarded to Beckley and Franzen an e-mail from a bank representative stating that funds in an account opened by Elie for processing internet marketing payments were being frozen by the bank as gambling funds.

i. On or about September 29, 2009, Campos sent an e-mail to an attorney in which Campos called the attorney a "wet blanket" for cautioning Campos about processing gambling payments.

j. On or about October 15, 2009, Rubin sent an e-mail to Tate about processing PokerStars transactions through a Bank of America account opened in the name of a supposed internet shop selling electronics and other items.

k. On or about July 20, 2010, Campos flew from New York to Ireland to a meeting regarding processing of poker transactions.

l. In or around August 2007, Full Tilt Poker processed credit card payments for gambling transactions under the name "PS3SHOP," using a non-gambling credit card code for the transactions, through a credit card network with headquarters in the Southern District of New York.

The Poker Company Domain Names

51. The Poker Companies utilized websites as on-line portals for players to deposit and withdraw money to play online poker, and to actually play online poker. In relation to these websites, the Poker Companies utilized the following domains:

POKERSTARS.COM,
FULLTILTPOKER.COM,
ABSOLUTEPOKER.COM, ULTIMATEBET.COM, and UB.COM

(the "Subject Domain Names").

44. Domain names operate as follows:

a. A domain name is a simple, easy-to-remember way for people to identify computers on the Internet. For example, "www.google.com" and "www.yahoo.com" are domain names.

b. The Domain Name System ("DNS") is, among other things, a hierarchical convention for domain names. Domain names are composed of one or more parts, or "labels," that are delimited by periods, such as "www.example.com." The hierarchy of domains descends from right to left; each label to the left specifies a subdivision, or subdomain, of the domain on the right. The right-most label conveys the "top-level" domain. For example, the domain name "www.example.com" means that the computer assigned that name is in the ".com" top-level domain and the "example" second-level domain, and is a web server (denoted by the "www").

c. DNS servers are computers connected to the Internet that convert domain names that are easy for people to remember into Internet Protocol ("IP") addresses, which are unique machine-readable numeric addresses that computers use to identify each other on the Internet. An IP address looks like a series of four numbers, each in the range of 0-255, separated by periods (e.g., 121.56.97.178). Every computer connection to the Internet must be assigned an IP address so that Internet traffic sent from and directed to that computer is directed properly from its source to its destination. DNS servers can be said to "resolve" or "translate" domain names into IP addresses.

d. For each top-level domain (such as ".com"), there is a single company, called a "registry," that determines which second-level domain resolves to which IP address. For example, the registry for the ".tv," ".net," and ".com" top-level domains is VeriSign, Inc.

e. If an individual or business wants to purchase a domain name, they buy it through a company called a "registrar." Network Solutions LLC ("Network Solutions") and GoDaddy.com Inc. ("GoDaddy") are two well-known examples of registrars, although there are hundreds of registrars on the Internet. The registrar, in turn, communicates this purchase to the relevant registry. The individual or business who purchases, or registers, a domain name is called a "registrant."

f. Registrants control the IP address, and thus the computer, to which the domain name resolves. Thus, a registrant may easily move a domain name to another computer anywhere in the world simply by changing the IP address at the registry.

g. Registries and/or registrars maintain additional information about domain names, including the name and contact information of the registrant.

52. On March 5, 2011, a federal law enforcement agent visited the sites affiliated with the Subject Domain Names and took numerous "screen shots" of the sites, capturing what the websites looked like to one visiting the site on the Internet at that time. Additionally, during the course of this investigation, an individual cooperating with law enforcement (the "CW") visited three of the websites discussed herein. As detailed below for each of these three websites, the CW, through the websites, deposited real money into accounts maintained by the Poker Companies for playing poker online with real-money bets and withdrew money as well.

The Pokerstars.com Website

Content of the Pokerstars.com Website

53. Pokerstars.com is an online platform for playing poker with real-money bets. The site consists of numerous webpages that feature information relating to playing poker through the website, including for "Real Money." As captured by the March 5, 2011 screen shots, the homepage states: "Welcome to the World's Largest Poker Site." It states there is a $600 "First Deposit Bonus" available to visitors of the site. The homepage includes tabs which can be pressed to link to other pages within the site, including links entitled "Real Money" and "Poker Tournaments." There is also tab for downloading Poker software. Lower on the homepage, it states: "Welcome to PokerStars, where you'll find more tournaments and games than any other poker site, with 24/7 support, secure deposits, fast cashouts and award-winning software. This is where champions are born and you could be next. Start playing for free now." Under a section entitled "Pokerstars Blog News," it states that an individual with a particular username won "$671,093.81 & Lamborghini."

54. From this homepage, a visitor can link to another webpage within the site that contains general information "About PokerStars." On that page, it states: "Making a deposit in to your PokerStars account is also quick and easy, with a range of payment options available." You can also take advantage of fast cashouts if you decide to withdraw money from your bank roll." That page also contains a section entitled "Fully licensed and regulated." Under that section, the page reads, in part: "PokerStars is a licensed and registered legal business located on the Isle of Man in the British Isles, and abides by all laws and regulations where it does business."

55. From the homepage, a visitor can also link to another page within the site that deals with "Playing with Real Money." This page states, in part:

Ready to play poker with real money at PokerStars? Download [indicating a link] our exciting online poker software and you'll be playing at our fast-paced tables in no time!

56. This page also explains that "Real money deposits into your poker account are accepted in several ways," and provides a drop-down menu list of countries "to view a list of payment and cashout methods available." The United States is included on that list. This page states:

PokerStars players' poker money and account balances are held in segregated accounts and not used for any of PokerStars' operational expenses. These segregated accounts are managed by a leading European Bank.

57. The page also lists a number of poker games and tournaments "available for real money play at PokerStars[.]" These include: Texas Holdem, Omaha High Low, Omaha High, Seven Card Stud High Low, Seven Card Stud, Razz, HORSE/HOSE, and a reference to Tournaments.

58. This page also includes a section on "Cashing Out Your Poker Winnings." That portion explains: "To cash out, click on the 'Cashier' button in the lobby and then select the 'Cash Out' button. You will then be prompted for a cashout amount; please enter the amount and click 'Submit.'" The page contains information stating that a player can play without depositing real money at a "play money table."

59. Screen shots were also taken of a page within the website that explains how to "Fund Your Account." "Step 1" explains that a visitor should "Log into your PokerStars account and click the 'Cashier' button located at the bottom left hand corner of your game lobby." "Step 2" then directs the visitor to "Click 'Buy Chips' and choose a funding option, and click 'Deposit.'" The listed deposit options include Instant eChecks, and links to credit cards such as Visa and Diners Club International.

Gambling Deposits and Withdrawals on Pokerstars.com

60. On or about the dates listed in the chart below, the CW made the following deposits to a PokerStars online gambling account through the pokerstars.com website from a bank account held in Manhattan, New York:

Date	Method of Payment	Amount Requested	Amount Reported
06/10/10	eCheck	$ 10.00	$ 10.00
8/7/10	Check21	$150.00	$150.00
9/13/10	Check21	$ 20.00	$ 20.00
1/23/11	ACH	$ 23.00	Reversed/Not Processed

61. On or about the dates listed in the chart below, the CW requested withdrawals from a PokerStars online gambling account through the pokerstars.com website:

Date	Method of Payment	Amount Requested	Amount Reported
8/4/2010	Paper Check	$35.00	$ 35.00
8/19/2010	Paper Check	$100.00	$100.00
11/29/2010	Paper Check	$25.00	$ 25.00

62. Rather than being issued from accounts in the name of PokerStars, the checks were issued from accounts in the names of entities with no seeming connection to gambling. For example, the checks issued on August 4, 2010 and August 19, 2010 came from an account in the name of TLC Global. The November 29, 2011 check came from an account in the name of Lancore Merchant Services.

The Pokerstars.com Domain

63. In regard to pokerstars.com, registration for this domain was most recently updated on or about March 14, 2011, reflecting the registrar Nom IQ LTD (D.B.A. Com Laude), located in the United Kingdom. Approximately twenty-seven foreign language sites are affiliated with pokerstars.com. Most of these are simply pages within the website affiliated with the pokerstars.com domain, such as "pokerstars.com/de/," "pokerstars.com/gr/," and "pokerstars.com/it/." These pages are accessible to visitors in the United States.

64. PokerStars also operates several foreign-language affiliate websites that are not part of the pokerstars.com domain, such as "pokerstars.ee," "pokerstars.es," and "pokerstars.si."

The Fulltilt.com Website

Content of the Fulltilt.com Website

65. Similar to the pokerstars.com website, the fulltilt.com website is an online platform for playing poker with real-money bets. It consists of numerous webpages that feature information relating to playing poker through the website, including for "Real Money." At the time of the screen shot, the homepage indicated that 109,664 players were presently on line, with 34,255 active tables, and 4,619 tournaments. The homepage also advertised a "100% First Deposit Bonus," explaining: "Make your first deposit at Full Tilt Poker and we'll automatically match your initial deposit with a 100% bonus up to $600!". A link was also included to play free poker. The homepage announced: "Online poker at the Fastest Growing Online Poker Room." It stated:

68. Another page within the site deals with depositing "real money." This page lists Quick Deposit, credit cards, and cash transfers as methods by which a visitor could deposit real money into their Full Tilt Poker account.

69. On another page within the website, which deals with "Security," it states:

Full Tilt Poker conducts their banking and financial affairs in accordance with generally accepted standards of internationally recognized banking institutions. Full Tilt Poker follows and adheres to applicable laws pertaining to transaction reporting and anti-money laundering laws and regulations.

70. The website also includes a page entitled End User License Agreement. That page sets out Terms and Conditions pertaining to "persons situated in North America" in regard to the website accessible from the domain name "www.FullTiltPoker.com." It states that the terms and conditions on this page constitute a binding agreement between the website visitor and the corporate entity Vantage Limited, which is registered Alderney in the Channel Islands. This page states that:

Adult users of all skill levels who are situated in North America can download the proprietary gaming software needed to participate in poker tournaments and to play online interactive games of poker for real money at www.FullTiltPoker.com.

71. The website also includes a page explaining to players how they can withdraw funds from their Full Tilt Poker accounts. This page states that "[a]t Full Tilt Poker, we believe our players should be able to withdraw funds from their accounts as easily as they can make deposits.” It then lists the steps for players to execute a withdrawal. These steps consist generally of logging on to the website, clicking the “Cashier” button, clicking on the “Withdrawal” button, selecting a withdrawal method, entering the amount you wish to withdrawal along with other required account information, confirming that amount and account information, and clicking the “Submit” button. A player can also choose withdrawal by check as a withdrawal option.

V. FULL TILT POKER'S AND THE FTP INSIDER DEFENDANTS' THEFT OF PLAYER FUNDS

99. Full Tilt Poker not only operated an unlawful gambling business and committed the bank fraud, wire fraud, and money laundering as described above, but also defrauded its poker players by paying out hundreds of millions of dollars of player funds to Full Tilt Poker owners while misrepresenting to players that funds credited to their online player accounts were secure and segregated from operating funds. In fact, Full Tilt Poker did not segregate player funds from operating funds and did not keep player funds secure and available for withdrawal. Full Tilt Poker used player funds, among other things, to maintain a steady flow of payments to its owners, totaling more than $443 million over the last four years, despite the fact that Full Tilt Poker did not have sufficient funds to repay its players. As a result of this fraud, by the end of March 2011, Full Tilt Poker owed approximately $390 million to players around the world but had less than $60 million in its bank accounts.

Full Tilt Poker's Assurances To Players About the Security of Deposits Made to Online Gambling Accounts

100. On numerous occasions, Full Tilt Poker's customer-players sought assurances from Full Tilt Poker that funds deposited with Full Tilt Poker were secure and questioned whether, for example, player funds were held in separate bank accounts and not utilized by Full Tilt Poker for other purposes, such as operating expenses. In response to these inquiries, in or about March of 2008, Bitar and Lederer advised a Full Tilt Poker employee that Full Tilt Poker could represent to players that Full Tilt Poker kept all of its player funds in segregated accounts and that funds would be available for withdrawal by players at all times. Subsequently, and based in part on this information, Full Tilt Poker created several form e-mail templates to be used by Full Tilt Poker to respond to player inquiries about the security of their funds. For example:

a. On or about May 6, 2008, Full Tilt Poker created a form e-mail which its staff then e-mailed to players, including players in the United States, in response to inquiries from customers as to whether player funds were protected. The form e-mail stated, in relevant part:

Thank you for contacting Full Tilt Poker Support.

We do understand your concern about the safety of the funds in your Full Tilt Poker account. You raise a valid and commonly-asked question, and we would like to assure you that your funds are completely safe on Full Tilt Poker....

Our players' funds are kept in several deposit accounts throughout the world, all of which are separate and distinct from our operating accounts. With every hand dealt on Full Tilt Poker, commission is accumulated in these deposit accounts and transferred from the players' deposit accounts to Full Tilt Poker's operating accounts only after we have earned them. This is not done each time we earn rake or even daily, but as our earnings accumulate we make periodic transfers of those earnings from the deposit accounts to our operating accounts, from which we then pay outside expenses, Full Tilt Poker employees, and ultimately the shareholders of the company.

Full Tilt Poker is not in any financial difficulty whatsoever and does not anticipate any. In fact, we are doing quite well. We would also like to add that you are always welcome to withdraw some or all of your funds if you feel uncomfortable. Our business depends on ensuring that your funds are available to you 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and 365 days a year.

That said, we would like to assure you that your money is not at all at risk and there is no poker site on the Internet where your money would be any safer than at Full Tilt Poker.

b. On or about May 23, 2008, Full Tilt Poker created a second e-mail template that its staff then e-mailed to players, including players in the United States, in response to inquiries as to whether player funds were protected. This form e-mail stated, in relevant part:

Thank you for contacting Full Tilt Poker Support.

It is important to us that your account funds are secure and available to you at all times.

To protect both our players and business from financial problems, all player account funds are segregated and held separately from our operating accounts. Unlike some companies in our industry, we completely understand and accept that your account money belongs to you, not Full Tilt Poker.

Your account funds are available to you 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. All withdrawals are processed upon completion of a review for fraudulent activity and usually within 48 hours.

101. Full Tilt Poker management also monitored and responded to postings on a popular online discussion forum about internet poker (the "Poker Forum"), and those responses included representations from Full Tilt Poker that player funds were secure. For example:

a. On or about July 18, 2008, an individual ("Poker Forum Poster 1") created a "thread" (the first in a series of new postings on a subject, to which other users can then respond) on the Poker Forum entitled "Fulltilt Management failing?" Poker Forum Poster 1 offered the opinion that Full Tilt Poker's shareholders, who included various professional poker players, were not holding the company's management to account. Another individual ("Poker Forum Poster 2") replied that the "players/shareholders" of Full Tilt Poker don't have a problem with management "as long as those monthlies don't stop," apparently referring to monthly payments made by Full Tilt Poker to its owners. Poker Forum Poster 2 went on to post that the "beauty" of a business like internet poker was "the sites can use the customer deposits interest free to invest in marketing efforts" and because there was "always money coming in" did not "need anywhere near 100% of customer's deposits available to payout, more like 10% from what I'm told."

b. Poker Forum Poster 2's posting, and its implication that player deposits were used by Full Tilt to run its operation, generated a concerned response. On July 19, 2008, another individual ("Poker Forum Poster 3") wrote that he was "greatly disturbed by the insinuation that FTP uses players' money in any operational way. That is just frightening beyond belief." Poker Forum Poster 3 advised "[s]eriously, every player should be worried about this sort of thing," and called it "incredibly sketchy."

c. That same day, a representative of Full Tilt Poker management, posting under the name "FTPDoug," responded to the fears expressed by Poker Forum Poster 3 as follows:

I'm not sure where most of the information in this thread is coming from, but I do want to clear up the most important piece of bad info. I didn't write the following, but hopefully it answers the operational funds question . . . "Players' funds at Full Tilt Poker are kept in several deposit accounts throughout the world, all of which are separate and distinct from our operating accounts. Funds are transferred from the players' deposit accounts to Full Tilt Poker's operating accounts only after we have earned them. This is not done each time we earn rake or even daily, but as our earnings accumulate, we make periodic transfers of those earnings from the deposit accounts to our operating accounts."

Apologies for the factual intrusion

d. Later that day, in response to further expressed doubts and questions about whether funds could be held in "trust" by Full Tilt Poker, "FTPDoug" wrote: "[Poker Forum Poster 3] - I don't know enough about the specific legal terms for all of this to speak with any authority. I can say with authority, though, that we do not mix deposits with operational expenses, so the implications you mention were what I was trying to clear up."

102. On various occasions from 2008 through 2010, Full Tilt Poker suffered publicly reported problems with its payment processors, prompting players to question whether their accounts with Full Tilt Poker were safe. Full Tilt Poker representatives responded by posting statements on the Poker Forum assuring players that their funds were secure. For example, on June 9, 2009, in response to a thread on the Poker Forum entitled "Online poker seizure made front page of Yahoo finance," in which users expressed concern about their Full Tilt Poker accounts, "FTPDoug" wrote the following post:

Understandably, many of you have concerns regarding certain bank accounts with poker players' money being frozen in the US, and I'd just like to reassure everyone that your funds remain safe and secure at FTP, and the processing of withdrawal requests is proceeding as normal and is still available to all of our players. . . . We always make sure we can cash out any of our players at any time. You should never have to worry that you won't get your money. . . .

103. Full Tilt Poker also sought to assure the regulatory authority through which it had acquired a license to operate outside the U.S., the Alderney Gambling Control Commission, in a document entitled "Principal Operating Provisions Under the Internal Control System" ("the Provisions"). The Provisions, which described Full Tilt Poker's internal controls and operating procedures, stated that "[a]ll players have an account that holds money that is available to them on the Full Tilt Poker system," and that "[t]he player may withdraw funds up to the current balance of their account at any time, subject to any applicable bonus terms and conditions." The Provisions further assured that "[n]o play may commence unless the player has credited his account with cleared funds and has adequate funds to participate in the selected game.”

104. Full Tilt Poker continued to assure players that their funds were protected right up to -- and, in fact, after -- April 15, 2011, the day on which its domain name was seized and an indictment charging two of its executives and a forfeiture and civil money laundering action against the company were unsealed. In response to these events, Full Tilt Poker released a “Statement from Full Tilt Poker Regarding Recent Check Withdrawal Issues” which stated, in its entirety:

In light of recent events involving the freezing of certain accounts, Full Tilt Poker would like to assure all players that their funds remain safe and secure. Processing of both deposit and withdrawal requests is proceeding as normal and is still available to all of our players.

All players who were affected by the current situation have had their funds returned to their accounts and all new withdrawal requests are processing normally. We assure all players on Full Tilt Poker that your online playing experience will not change and that you will be able to deposit and withdraw funds as needed. Your money remains safe, secure and accessible at all times.

Full Tilt Poker remains committed to the protection of our players’ security and legal rights, and will continue to provide the best and safest online poker room available worldwide.

Full Tilt Poker's Insolvency As a Result of Paying Owners From Player Funds and Its Inability To Collect Deposits from U.S. Players

105. Full Tilt Poker's repeated representations that (1) player funds were held separately from operating accounts, (2) player funds were "safe" and "available," and (3) it did not allow play on credit but instead allowed play only with "cleared" funds were, in reality, lies. In truth and in fact, Full Tilt Poker provided no protection whatsoever to deposits it received from players in the United States and other countries, and simply used the funds it claimed it was holding on account for its players to cover business expenses and to pay hundreds of millions of dollars in distributions to professional poker players affiliated with Full Tilt Poker and others who owned interests in Tiltware LLC. As a result, according to a balance sheet prepared by Full Tilt Poker, as of March 31, 2011, Full Tilt Poker owed players from around the world over approximately $390,695,788 but had only approximately $59,579,413 in its bank accounts. Full Tilt Poker relied on new deposits from players to ensure its ability to fund withdrawals to players' accounts.

106. Rather than protect player funds as promised, Full Tilt Poker distributed hundreds of millions of dollars to its owners. Beginning in April 2007 and continuing through April 2011, Tiltware LLC's Board of Directors, to wit, the FTP Insider Defendants, authorized the distribution of approximately $443,860,530 to the owners of Tiltware LLC, including themselves.

Many of the distribution payments were transferred from Full Tilt Poker directly to bank accounts the professional poker players affiliated with Full Tilt Poker and other owners had established in Switzerland and other foreign countries.

107. Defendant Bitar personally received at least approximately $41 million, including at least $34,454,781.53 in ownership distributions and at least an additional $6.5 million in "profit sharing" payments. Full Tilt Poker records reflect that at least a portion of these payments were deposited into an account at NatWest Bank held in the name of Ray Bitar, numbered GB81 RBOS 6095 4234 0877 66.

108. Defendant Lederer personally received at least approximately $42 million, including approximately $37,856,010.92 in ownership distributions and at least $4 million in "profit sharing" payments. Full Tilt Poker records reflect that at least a portion of these payments were deposited into an account at Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., held in the name of HH Lederer Consulting LLC, numbered 7655741861, and an account held at Lloyds TSB International in the Isle of Man, in the name of Howard Lederer, numbered GB56LOYD30166314010402.

109. Defendant Ferguson was allocated approximately $85,161,305.88 in distributions. Tiltware records reflect that approximately $25 million of this sum was actually transferred to Ferguson's personal accounts, with the remaining balance characterized as "owed" to Ferguson. Of the approximately $25 million transferred to Ferguson, Full Tilt Poker records reflect that at least a portion of these funds were deposited into an account held at Citibank, N.A., in the name of Chris Ferguson, numbered 40039049628.

110. Defendant Furst received at least $11,706,323.96 in distributions. Full Tilt Poker records reflect that at least a portion of these funds were deposited into an account held at Pictet & Co. Bankers in Switzerland in the name of Telamonian Ajax Trust, numbered CH87 0875 5057 0684 0010 0. The bank accounts referred to in Paragraphs 107-110 are referred to collectively as the "FTP Insider Accounts."

111. The other approximately 19 owners of Tiltware LLC received the remainder of the approximately $443,860,530 distributed. For example, a professional poker player and Full Tilt Poker owner ("Player Owner 1") received at least approximately $40,078,646.64 in distributions, as well millions of dollars characterized as loans from Full Tilt Poker. At least approximately $4.4 million of these loans have not been repaid.

112. These ownership distributions continued at a rate of approximately $10 million per month when, by at least the summer of 2010, Full Tilt Poker's management was aware that Full Tilt Poker was having difficulty collecting funds from U.S. player accounts.

113. Beginning in or around August 2010, Full Tilt Poker was often unable to find payment processors to withdraw funds from the bank accounts of its United States players. Instead of disclosing this fact, Full Tilt Poker secretly began to credit funds to players' online gambling accounts that Full Tilt Poker had never actually collected from players' bank accounts. As players gambled, and lost, these phantom funds, Full Tilt Poker developed an undisclosed shortfall of approximately $130 million owed to players that Full Tilt Poker had never collected because, in reality, these funds were never withdrawn from players' bank accounts. The management of Full Tilt Poker, including the FTP Insider Defendants, operated Full Tilt Poker with the hope that only a small number of players would try to withdraw funds at any one time, and that Full Tilt Poker would regularly receive additional deposits in amounts greater than any withdrawal requests.

114. This undisclosed backlog further exacerbated the already-existing discrepancy between the amount of "safe," "secure," and "available" player funds that Full Tilt Poker represented to have on deposit, and the far smaller amount of funds that it actually maintained.

115. Despite the fact that, by early 2011, Full Tilt Poker was severely insolvent, it continued making payments of approximately $10 million per month to its owners up to and including April 1, 2011. Full Tilt Poker also continued making "loans" to its professional poker players who also owned an interest in the company, including loan payments totaling more than $2,000,000 to Player Owner 1 between August 2010 and January 2011.

Continuing Fraud Against Players After April 15, 2011

116. Following the execution of the Arrest Warrant In Rem and the unsealing of the Indictment, Complaint, and Restraining Order on April 15, 2011, Full Tilt Poker terminated its United States operations. Full Tilt Poker continued, however, to operate its online gambling business outside of the United States and continued to collect deposits from non-U.S. players. Full Tilt Poker continued accepting player funds despite the fact that it had liabilities to players around the world for over $300 million, yet held only a small fraction of that amount in its bank accounts. Indeed, in early June 2011, Lederer reported to others at Full Tilt Poker that there was only approximately $6 million left.

117. Full Tilt Poker's CEO, Bitar, was well aware of the need for new deposits after April 15, 2011, and knew that even a few million dollars' of unexpected withdrawals could reveal Full Tilt Poker's true financial situation. For example, in an internal Full Tilt Poker e-mail dated June 12, 2011, Bitar expressed concern that a company announcement regarding lay offs and the Board (including himself) being replaced would be seen as bad news, which would cause a "new run on the bank," adding that "it could be a huge run" and that "at this point we can't even take a five million run."

118. Full Tilt Poker never disclosed the fact that it had no ability to return funds to these new depositors if they requested the money back. Instead, Full Tilt Poker allowed players to believe that its international business was separate from, and unaffected by, its now-defunct United States operations.

119. On or about June 29, 2011, the Alderney Gambling Control Commission -- which licensed Full Tilt Poker and controlled the computer servers allowing gameplay -- suspended the company's operations and halted Full Tilt Poker's ability to operate in any jurisdiction. On information and belief, as of the date of this Amended Complaint, neither Full Tilt Poker nor the individual owners who received over $443 million in distributions have repaid any of the more than approximately $300 million the company owes to players around the world.

120. As of September 19, 2011, Full Tilt Poker's website stated that players' funds were "safe and secure."

VI. PROBABLE CAUSE FOR FORFEITURE

121. As set forth above, because internet gambling businesses such as those operated by the Poker Companies were illegal under United States law, internet gambling companies, including the Poker Companies, were not permitted by United States banks to open bank accounts in the United States to receive proceeds from United States gamblers. Instead, the principals of the Poker Companies operated through various deceptive means designed to trick United States banks and financial institutions into processing gambling transactions on the Poker Companies' behalf.

122. Also as set forth above, Full Tilt Poker and its board members, the FTP Insider Defendants, lied to and deceived the general public and its player-customers regarding (1) its maintenance and use of player-customer funds and (2) the solvency of Full Tilt Poker in general and its ability to refund player money at any given time.

The Poker Companies

123. As alleged above and in the Indictment, the Poker Companies are properties used in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955. The Poker Companies and all or their assets are subject to forfeiture pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955(d).

The Poker Company Domain Names

124. As alleged above and in the Indictment, the Poker Company Domain Names (the Subject Domain Names described above) are properties used in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955 and are properties involved in money laundering transactions.

The Poker Company Accounts

125. As alleged above and in the Indictment and as described in the Karaka Declaration, the Poker Company Accounts²

² Listed in Schedule A, incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein are held in the names of the Defendants and corporate entities controlled by the Defendants, and are used in violation of the provisions of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955. (Ex. B ¶¶ 26-55).

126. Further, as alleged above and in the Indictment and as described in the Karaka Declaration, the Poker Company Accounts contain funds traceable to illegal gambling businesses, bank fraud, wire fraud, and money laundering. (Ex. B ¶¶ 26-55).

The Poker Processor Accounts

127. As alleged above and in the Indictment and as described in the exhibits attached hereto, the Poker Processor Accounts³ contain funds constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to bank fraud and wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343 and 1344, and property involved in transactions in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1956 and 1957, and property traceable to such property. (Ex. B ¶¶ 61-73).

The FTP Insider Accounts

128. As alleged above, the FTP Insider Accounts⁴ contain funds constituting or derived from proceeds traceable to operating illegal gambling businesses, in violation of Title 18, United ³ Listed in Schedule B, incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

⁴ Listed in Schedule C, incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

States Code, Section 1955, and bank fraud and wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343 and 1344, and property involved in transactions in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1956 and 1957, and property traceable to such property.

129. In sum, there is probable cause to believe that the Defendant Properties constitute (a) property used in illegal gambling businesses, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955, (b) the proceeds of illegal gambling businesses operated in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1955; (c) the proceeds of a conspiracy to commit wire fraud and bank fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343, 1344, and 1349; and (d) property involved in a conspiracy to commit money laundering in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(h). The FTP Insider Accounts specifically also constitute the proceeds of wire fraud and a conspiracy to commit wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343 and 1349. Accordingly, the Defendant Properties are subject to forfeiture to the United States of America pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Sections 981(a)(1)(A), 981(a)(1)(C), and 1955(d).

VII. CLAIMS FOR FORFEITURE

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Forfeiture Under 18 U.S.C. §§ 1955(d) and 981(a)(1)(C) - Illegal Gambling

130. Paragraphs 1 through 129 of this Amended Complaint are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

131. Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1955(d), "Any property, including money, used in [an illegal gambling business] may be seized and forfeited to the United States."

132. Additionally, Title 18, United States Code, § 981(a)(1)(C) subjects to forfeiture:

Any property, real or personal, which constitutes or is derived from proceeds traceable to a violation of section . . . 1344 of this title or any offense constituting 'specified unlawful activity' (as defined in section 1956(c)(7) of this title), or a conspiracy to commit such offense.

133. Title 18, United States Code, § 1956(c)(7) defines the term "specified unlawful activity" to mean, in relevant part, "any act or activity constituting an offense listed in section 1961(1) of this title. . . ." Among the specified unlawful activity set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1) is 18 U.S.C. § 1955.

134. The Defendant Properties are subject to forfeiture pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1955(d) because they were used in violation of the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 1955.

135. The Defendant Properties are also subject to forfeiture pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1)(C) as property constituting, or derived from, proceeds of conducting illegal gambling businesses.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Forfeiture Under 18 U.S.C. § 981(a) (1) (C) - Bank and Wire Fraud

136. Paragraphs 1 through 129 of this Amended Complaint are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

137. Title 18, United States Code, § 981(a) (1) (C) subjects to forfeiture:

Any property, real or personal, which constitutes or is derived from proceeds traceable to a violation of section . . . 1344 of this title or any offense constituting 'specified unlawful activity' (as defined in section 1956(c) (7) of this title), or a conspiracy to commit such offense.

138. Title 18, United States Code, § 1956(c) (7) defines the term "specified unlawful activity" to mean, in relevant part, "any act or activity constituting an offense listed in section 1961(1) of this title. . . ." Among the specified unlawful activity set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1) are 18 U.S.C. § 1343 (relating to wire fraud) and 18 U.S.C. § 1344 (relating to financial institution fraud).

139. Title 18, United States Code, § 1349, provides that

Any person who attempts or conspires to commit any offense under this chapter [including Sections 1343 and 1344] shall be subject to the same penalties as those prescribed for the offense, the commission of which was the object of the attempt or conspiracy.

140. Title 18, United States Code, § 1343, provides that

Whoever, having devised or intending to devise any scheme or artifice to defraud, or for obtaining money or property by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, transmits or causes to be transmitted by means of wire . . . in interstate or foreign commerce, any writings, signs, signals, pictures, or sounds for the purpose of executing such scheme or artifice shall be guilty of a crime.

141. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1344 provides in relevant part that:

Whoever knowingly executes, or attempts to execute, a scheme or artifice-

(1) to defraud a financial institution; or

(2) to obtain any of the moneys, funds, credits, assets, securities, or other property owned by, or under the custody or control of, a financial institution, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises;

shall be guilty of a crime.

142. From at least in or about 2006, up to and including on or about March 2011, in the Southern District of New York and elsewhere, Scheinberg, Bitar, Beckley, Burtnick, Tate, Ryan Lang, Bradley Franzen, Ira Rubin, and Elie, and others known and unknown, unlawfully, willfully, and knowingly did combine, conspire, confederate, and agree together and with each other to commit bank fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1344, and wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343.

143. By reason of the above, the Defendant Properties are subject to forfeiture to the United States of America pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§ 981, 1343, 1344 and 1349.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Forfeiture Under 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1)(A) - Money Laundering

144. Paragraphs 1 through 129 of this Amended Complaint are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

145. Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1)(A), "[a]ny property, real or personal, involved in a transaction in violation of section 1956 [or] 1957 . . . of [Title 18, relating to money laundering offenses], or any property traceable to such property," is subject to forfeiture.

146. Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956, commonly known as the "money laundering" statute, a crime is committed by a person who:

(a)(1) . . . knowing that the property involved in a financial transaction represents the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity, conducts or attempts to conduct such a financial transaction which in fact involves the proceeds of specified unlawful activity -

(A)(i) with the intent to promote the carrying on of specified unlawful activity; or

(ii) with intent to engage in conduct constituting a violation of section 7201 or 7206 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; or

(B) knowing that the transaction is designed in whole or in part -

(i) to conceal or disguise the nature, the location, the source, the ownership, or the control of the proceeds of specified unlawful activity; or

(ii) to avoid a transaction reporting requirement under State or Federal law, shall be guilty of a crime.

147. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956 further provides, in pertinent part, that

(a) (2) Whoever transports, transmits, or transfers, or attempts to transport, transmit, or transfer a monetary instrument or funds from a place in the United States to or through a place outside the United States or to a place in the United States from or through a place outside the United States -

(A) with the intent to promote the carrying on of specified unlawful activity

shall be guilty of a crime.

148. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1957 provides that: "Whoever, [with such offense under this section taking place in the United States] knowingly engages or attempts to engage in a monetary transaction in criminally derived property of a value greater than $10,000 and is derived from specified unlawful activity," shall be guilty of a crime.

149. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956 further provides that "[a]ny person who conspires to commit any offense defined in this section or section 1957 shall be subject to the same penalties as those prescribed for the offense the commission of which was the object of the conspiracy.”

150. By reason of the above, the Defendant Properties are subject to forfeiture pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 981(a)(1)(A).

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Forfeiture Under 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1)(C) - Wire Fraud

151. Paragraphs 1 through 129 of this Amended Complaint are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

152. Title 18, United States Code, § 981(a)(1)(C) subjects to forfeiture:

Any property, real or personal, which constitutes or is derived from proceeds traceable to a violation of section . . . 1344 of this title or any offense constituting 'specified unlawful activity' (as defined in section 1956(c)(7) of this title), or a conspiracy to commit such offense.

153. Title 18, United States Code, § 1956(c)(7) defines the term "specified unlawful activity" to mean, in relevant part, "any act or activity constituting an offense listed in section 1961(1) of this title. . . ." Among the specified unlawful activity set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1) is 18 U.S.C. § 1343 (relating to wire fraud).

154. Title 18, United States Code, § 1349, provides that Any person who attempts or conspires to commit any offense under this chapter [including Section 1343] shall be subject to the same penalties as those prescribed for the offense, the commission of which was the object of the attempt or conspiracy.

155. Title 18, United States Code, § 1343, provides that

Whoever, having devised or intending to devise any scheme or artifice to defraud, or for obtaining money or property by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, transmits or causes to be transmitted by means of wire . . . in interstate or foreign commerce, any writings, signs, signals, pictures, or sounds for the purpose of executing such scheme or artifice shall be guilty of a crime.

156. From at least in or about 2007, up to and including on or about April 2011, in the Southern District of New York and elsewhere, the FTP Insider Defendants and others known and unknown, unlawfully, willfully, and knowingly did combine, conspire, confederate, and agree together and with each other to commit wire fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343.

157. By reason of the above, the FTP Insider Accounts are subject to forfeiture to the United States of America pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§ 981, 1343, and 1349.

VIII. CIVIL MONEY LAUNDERING PENALTIES

18 U.S.C. § 1956

158. Paragraphs 1 through 129 of this Amended Complaint are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

159. Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(b), "[w]hoever conducts or attempts to conduct a transaction described in subsection (a) (1) or (a) (3), or section 1957, or a transportation, transmission, or transfer described in subsection (a) (2), is liable to the United States for a civil penalty of not more than the greater of – (A) the value of the property, funds, or monetary instruments involved in the transaction; or (B) $10,000.”

160. Accordingly, the Poker Company Defendants are liable to the Government for a sum of money representing the amount of property, funds, or monetary instruments involved in the money laundering offenses described above, in an amount that is no less than $1.5 billion for the PokerStars Entities; $1 billion for the Full Tilt Poker Entities; and $500 million for the Absolute Poker/Ultimate Bet Entities.

161. Accordingly, the FTP Insider Defendants are liable to the Government for a sum of money representing the amount of property, funds, or monetary instruments involved in the money laundering offenses described above, in an amount that is no less than $40,954,781.53 for Bitar; $41,856,010.92 million for Lederer; $25 million for Ferguson; and $11,706,323.96 million for Furst.

WHEREFORE plaintiff, the United States of America, prays:

A. That process issue to enforce the forfeiture of the Defendant Properties and that all persons having an interest in the Defendant Properties be cited to appear and show cause why the forfeiture should not be decreed, and that this Court decree forfeiture of the Defendant Properties to the United States of America for disposition according to the law;

B. That a money judgment be entered against the PokerStars Entities in an amount not less than $1.5 billion;

C. That a money judgment be entered against the Full Tilt Poker Entities in an amount not less than $1 billion;

D. That a money judgment be entered against the Absolute Poker/Ultimate Bet Entities in an amount not less than $500 million;

E. That a money judgment be entered against Raymond Bitar in an amount not less than $40,954,781.53;

F. That a money judgment be entered against Howard Lederer in an amount not less than $41,856,010.92;

G. That a money judgment be entered against Christopher Ferguson in an amount not less than $25 million;

H. That a money judgment be entered against Rafael Furst in an amount not less than $11,706,323.96; and

I. That this Court grant Plaintiff such further relief as this court may deem just and proper, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.
