FAQ

What is Aereo?

Aereo is a technology platform that enables you to watch live broadcast television at home or on the go. With your Aereo membership, you also get a remote, cloud-based DVR to set and watch recordings. To use Aereo all you need is a standard Web browser or a compatible internet-enabled mobile device, no new boxes or cables. For a list of supported browsers and devices, please see below.

How does Aereo work?

When you become an Aereo member and log in, you are assigned a miniaturized, private, remote antenna and DVR. Aereo offers technology to give consumers access to their antenna and DVR via a web browser and supported internet-enabled device. Once you've connected to your antenna, you can use the Aereo platform to access all major broadcast networks live in HD and use your remote DVR to set recordings and watch your favorite shows when you want.

What Channels Do I Get?

Aereo's technology enables you to watch and record over 20 TV channels, including all the major networks and a number of local stations that broadcast 24 hours a day. These stations offer a range of programming that includes children's shows, local news, movies, and Spanish language content.

How does the free trial work?

When you join Aereo, you will be eligible for a free trial. A credit card is required to start your trial, however, please note that you will not be billed during this free trial period. Near the end of your free trial, you will receive an email alerting you that your free trial is almost over. If you cancel before your free trial ends you will not be billed. If you do not cancel, your credit card will automatically be charged the monthly fee.

How do I become a member?

To become a member you will need to register your interest at aereo.com. Both options are subject to availability. Because each Aereo member needs access to an antenna to watch or record a show, we need to make sure there are enough antennas available. Please be patient if you register and do not receive an invitation immediately, we are working hard to satisfy demand.
