

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

SHAUNA NOEL, et al

Plaintiffs,

-against-

CITY OF NEW YORK,

Defendant.
-----X

KATHARINE H. PARKER, UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE:

Plaintiffs commenced this action to challenge a New York City policy regarding affordable housing lotteries. The City’s policy allocates 50% of units in affordable housing lotteries to individuals who already reside in the community district where the new affordable housing units are located. This policy is referred to herein as the “Community Preference Policy.” Plaintiffs allege that the Community Preference Policy violates the federal Fair Housing Act (“FHA”), 42 U.S.C. § 3604 et seq., and the New York City Human Rights Law (“NYCHRL”), N.Y.C. Admin. Code § 8-107 et seq., because it perpetuates racial segregation and disparately impacts racial minorities. They also claim that the City’s decision to establish, expand, and maintain the policy constitutes intentional discrimination.

Currently pending before this Court is Plaintiffs’ motion challenging privilege designations on 350 documents in the City’s privilege log. (ECF Nos. 729, 747.) The City asserts that the documents are protected from disclosure based on one or more of the following reasons: (1) attorney-client privilege, (2) work product protection, (3) deliberative process privilege, and (4) legislative privilege. This Court assumes the reader's familiarity with the factual background of this case based on its many decisions in this action and does not repeat it here. See, e.g., Winfield v. City of New York, No. 15-cv-5236 (LTS) (KHP), 2017 WL 5664852, at *1-6 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 27, 2017); Winfield v. City of New York, No. 15-cv-5236 (LTS) (KHP), 2017 WL 2880556, at *1-2 (S.D.N.Y. July 5, 2017), aff'd, 2017 WL 5054727, at *1-2 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 2, 2017); Winfield v. City of New York, No. 15-cv-5236 (LTS) (DCF), 2016 WL 6208564, at *1-3 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 24, 2016).

The City submitted for in camera review a detailed privilege log with hyperlinks to all 350 documents and, in some cases, cover emails for the documents providing greater context for the creation and purpose of the communication and the basis for the privilege assertion. The City also submitted declarations from Leila Bozorg, Deputy Commissioner of the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD"), and Eric Enderlin, current Commissioner of HPD, providing greater detail as to the basis for the assertion of privilege as to certain documents and categories of documents. Bozorg attests that she has reviewed the documents withheld on the basis of deliberative process privilege and that they involve pre-decisional deliberations by officials at HPD and/or other City agencies. She attests that these documents reflect deliberations on the Housing New York Plan ("HNY"), which was publicly announced on May 5, 2014 and deliberations on updates to the plan, announced as HNY 2.0 in November 2017. Other documents reflect deliberations on Mandatory Inclusionary Housing ("MIH"), which was an amendment to the City zoning law. The MIH application submitted by the administration was completed on September 21, 2105 and ultimately approved by the City Planning Commission on February 3, 2016 and the City Council on March 22, 2016. Some of the documents relate to deliberations on changes to the so-called 421-a homeless preference policy, which was announced on October 14, 2016, and the “Where We Live NYC” plan (“WWL”), which is a planning process that the City is using to better understand how challenges like segregation and discrimination impact New Yorkers’ lives and to identify ways to improve the City’s fair housing policies. Other documents pertain to deliberations on various neighborhood plans for East New York (“ENY”), Jerome Avenue, Inwood, East Harlem, the Bay Street Corridor and the Far Rockaways.¹ Final versions of the above-described housing policies are publicly available, as is documentation about public review and zoning amendment processes. Additionally, Plaintiffs’ counsel, the Antidiscrimination Center, was invited to stakeholder meetings and is thus independently knowledgeable about the WWL planning process.

This Court does not repeat the legal standards for a claim of privilege, as those were previously set forth by this Court in earlier decisions. See ECF Nos. 259, 655. It has, however, reviewed each of the 350 documents consistent with these legal standards in determining whether the City has met its burden in demonstrating privilege.² The Court also has been mindful that privileges must be construed narrowly insofar as they are contrary to the “search for truth.” Kaufman v. City of New York, 98 Civ. 2648(MJL)(KNF), 1999 WL 239698, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 22, 1999). This is particularly important in civil rights cases such as this, where fundamental rights are at issue. King v. Conde, 121 F.R.D. 180, 195 (E.D.N.Y. 1988); Skibo v. City of New York, 109 F.R.D. 58, 61 (E.D.N.Y. 1985). A brief discussion of the Court’s ruling is set forth below.

¹ The ENY plan was finalized April 20, 2016 after the City Council approved zoning changes. The Jerome Avenue plan was finalized on March 22, 2018 after the City Council approved zoning changes. The Inwood plan was finalized on August 8, 2018 after City Council approved it. The East Harlem plan was approved by the City Council on November 30, 2017. The Bay Street Corridor plan, which includes zoning changes, is currently in the public review process and not yet final. HPD was involved in developing the plan’s and putting them forth for public review and City Council vote on necessary zoning changes. Thus, the initial proposals were developed before the City Council votes and in some cases there were deliberations on changes to the plans after the public review period and before the zoning votes. However, contrary to what the City has suggested, deliberations post-announcement of the policy and pre-City Council approval are not necessarily protected. The Court has been mindful of the various dates applicable to identified policies when evaluating whether a document is pre- or post-decisional.

I. Deliberative Process Privilege

The majority of the documents in the review set were withheld on the basis of deliberative process privilege. Under this privilege, the document must be pre-decisional and deliberative. Noel v. City of New York, 357 F. Supp. 3d 298, 303 (S.D.N.Y. 2019). To demonstrate the former, the City must point to a specific decision to which the communication correlates. Id. This does not mean, as Plaintiffs suggest, that current deliberations of a non-final policy are not subject to the privilege. General open-ended discussions would not be protected, but deliberations for the purpose of arriving at a specific policy or plan would be protected. Grand Cent. P’ship, Inc. v. Cuomo, 166 F.3d 473, 482 (2d Cir. 1999) (“[T]he privilege does not protect a document which is merely peripheral to actual policy formulation,” and “the record must bear on the formulation or exercise of policy-oriented judgment.” (quoting Ethyl

² To the extent the City has suggested there is a presumption in favor of withholding deliberative documents or that the Plaintiffs have the burden to show why a document should be disclosed, the Court rejects these suggestions. It is well established that the party withholding a document has the burden of establishing a privilege attaches. Grossman v. Schwarz, 125 F.R.D. 376, 380 (S.D.N.Y. 1989).

Corp. v. U.S. E.P.A., 25 F.3d 1241, 1248 (4th Cir. 1994))). The Court has taken notice of the dates when certain policies were finalized versus when they were released for public comment and City Council vote in its evaluation of the documents and determination of whether a communication is pre-decisional. See supra, n.1.

Because factual information is not protected, the Court has ordered production of some documents on the log in redacted form where appropriate. Noel v. City of New York, 15-cv-5236(LTS) (KHP), 2018 WL 6649969, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 18, 2018). Likewise, post-decisional explanations and implementation of policies are not protected by the privilege. Davis v. City of New York, No. 10 CIV. 0699 SAS, 2011 WL 1742748, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. May 5, 2011) (noting that the privilege “does not extend to materials related to the explanation, interpretation or application of an existing policy, as opposed to formulation of a new policy” (quoting Resolution Trust Corp. v. Diamond, 137 F.R.D. 634, 641 (S.D.N.Y.1991))). Nor are communications reflecting routine self-evaluation of a policy protected. Noel, 2018 WL 6649969, at *4; Marisol A. v. Giuliani, No. 95 CIV. 10533 (RJW), 1998 WL 132810, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 23, 1998). Accordingly, the Court has declined to find privilege as to some of the documents on the City’s log for these reasons.

Where the Court has found that deliberative process privilege does apply, it has applied the balancing test set forth in Rodriguez v. Pataki in the manner prescribed by Judge Swain. 280 F. Supp. 2d 89 (S.D.N.Y.), aff’d, 293 F. Supp. 2d 302 (S.D.N.Y. 2003). Specifically, this Court has construed relevance broadly for purposes of weighing the relevance factor, consistent with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(1) and Federal Rule of Evidence 401. Noel v. City of New York, No. 15-cv-5236-LTS-KHP, 2018 WL 6786238, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 12, 2018). In this regard, the Court has found documents pertaining not just to the Community Preference Policy, but pertaining to the City's knowledge of and responses to resistance to or fear of neighborhood racial change, knowledge of the nature of opposition to affordable housing development, discussions about methods for combatting displacement other than the Community Preference Policy, segregation within the City, and other topics to fall within the broad definition of relevance. The Court has considered communications with City Council members about neighborhood plans and affordable housing generally (and preparations for or reporting of same) to be relevant as well. In other words, the Court credits Plaintiff's argument that they must be able to probe circumstantial evidence of intentional discrimination and has found most of the documents on the City's log to be relevant even if they do not discuss the Community Preference Policy. The weight of the relevance factor in this Court's final balancing of the Rodriguez factors, however, varied from document to document.

As to the second Rodriguez factor, this Court took into consideration Plaintiffs' arguments about their access to documents and information. It also has considered Plaintiffs' contention that they need drafts of documents to ascertain options that were considered and rejected. For the most part, however, this Court found that the balance of Rodriguez factors did not warrant production of the drafts on the City's privilege log because of the weight given to the relevance of the particular changes between drafts and final documents in the balancing analysis, along with Plaintiffs' access to final versions of policies and other extensive discovery on the topics in the drafts and considerations informing final policies and plans.

Consistent with its prior decisions and reviews of documents in camera, the third and fourth Rodriguez factors – the seriousness of the issues involved and the role of the government in the litigation – weighed in favor of disclosure as to each document this Court reviewed and in the balancing analysis. In other words, these factors were additive in the Court’s determination on disclosure.

Finally, this Court analyzed each Rodriguez factor separately in the first instance and then weighed them against the fifth factor– the potential chilling effect disclosure would have on government employees. Noel, 2018 WL 6786238, at *5. To the extent that the City has suggested that the fifth factor will nearly always outweigh the first four factors, the Court rejects this suggestion. Rather, the Court conducted a balancing analysis as to each document, and the fifth factor did not tip the scales against disclosure as to a fair number of the documents. Its rulings on the individual documents based on the above-described balancing process are reflected on Attachment A to this Opinion and Order.

II. Attorney-Client Privilege

The attorney-client privilege applies to: (1) a communication between government counsel and their clients, (2) that was intended to be and was in fact kept confidential, and (3) was made for the purpose of obtaining or providing legal advice. See In re Cty. of Erie, 473 F.3d 413, 419 (2d Cir. 2007) (internal citation omitted). As to factor 3, the key inquiry is whether the “predominant purpose” of the communication is to solicit or provide legal advice. Id. at 419-20 (collecting cases). When legal advice is the predominant purpose, “other ‘considerations and caveats’ are not severable and the entire communication is privileged.” Fox News Network, LLC

v. US Dep't of Treasury, 739 F. Supp. 2d 515, 560 (citing In re Cty. of Erie, 473 F.3d at 420). On the other hand, if the legal advice is merely “incidental to the nonlegal advice that is the predominant purpose of the communication,” then the legal portions of the document may be redacted. In re Cty. of Erie, 473 F.3d at 420 n.8. For the most part, where asserted, the City demonstrated applicability of attorney-client privilege. As to these documents, the Court’s review confirmed that they involve communications and draft documents exchanged between attorneys for the City and their clients for the predominant purpose of seeking or conveying legal advice. Where the privilege was not established, the Court notes this in Attachment A.

III. Work Product

The work product doctrine protects a broader category of documents and communications than the attorney-client privilege. Specifically, it protects documents and other tangible things “that are prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or its representative.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3)(A); see also Bowne of N.Y.C., Inc. v. AmBase Corp., 150 F.R.D. 465, 471 (S.D.N.Y. 1993). “Where a document was created because of anticipated litigation, and would not have been prepared in substantially similar form but for the prospect of that litigation,” it is protected as work product. United States v. Adlman, 134 F.3d 1194, 1195 (2d Cir. 1998). “Conversely, protection will be withheld from ‘documents that are prepared in the ordinary course of business or that would have been created in essentially similar form irrespective of litigation.’” Schaeffler v. United States, 806 F.3d 34, 43 (2d Cir. 2015) (quoting Adlman, 134 F.3d at 1202). In those instances where the City established work product protection, this Court found that the document would not have been created in the same manner irrespective of anticipated or pending litigation.

The Court also considered, with respect to these documents, whether Plaintiffs have shown (1) substantial need for the material; and (2) an inability to obtain its substantial equivalent from another source without undue hardship. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3)(A); Obeid v. Mack, No. 14-cv-6498 (LTS) (HBP), 2016 WL 7176653, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 9, 2016). Plaintiffs did not meet this showing as to any of the protected documents. First, the documents on the log related to the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (“HUD”) compliance review all involved discussions about possible changes to the Community Preference Policy to settle concerns HUD expressed. Plaintiffs have questioned or had an opportunity to question witnesses about alternatives to the policy and potential changes to the policy considered and that could be considered. To the extent HPD Commissioners considered these changes outside of settlement discussions, Plaintiffs were permitted to question them on this topic. Thus, they have had a full opportunity in discovery to vet alternatives to the Community Preference Policy considered or that could have been considered by the City. Moreover, Plaintiffs have not persuasively articulated why they have a substantial need for these few communications. Plaintiffs likewise have not shown a substantial need for Housing Connect data analysis done in connection with this lawsuit. Plaintiffs have been provided the data themselves and information about non-privileged analyses conducted. They also have been permitted extensive discovery on the data.

IV. Legislative Privilege

The legislative privilege protects communications integral to a person's determination whether to vote for or against a proposal or law. See Eastland v. U.S. Servicemen's Fund, 421 U.S. 491, 504 (1975); Bogan v. Scott-Harris, 523 U.S. 44, 54-55 (1988). Examples include "delivering an opinion, uttering a speech, or haranguing in debate; proposing legislation; voting on legislation; making, publishing, presenting, and using legislative reports; authorizing investigations and issuing subpoenas; and holding hearings and introducing material at committee hearings." S.E.C. v. Comm. On Ways and Means of the U.S. House of Representatives, 161 F. Supp. 3d 199, 236 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) (citing Fields v. Office of Eddie Bernice Johnson, 459 F.3d 1, 10-11 (D.C. Cir. 2006)) (internal quotation marks omitted). The legislative privilege also protects formal and informal fact and information-gathering activities about the subject of potential legislation, as well as documents regarding or reflecting the fruits of this research. See id. at 236-37, 245; see also United States v. Biaggi, 853 F.2d 89, 102-03 (2d Cir. 1988); McSurely v. McClellan, 553 F.2d 1277, 1286 (D.C. Cir. 1976) (en banc), cert. dismissed, 438 U.S. 189 (1978). The privilege does not attach to activities concerning the administration of a law, speeches delivered outside of the legislative body and preparation for the same, the making of appointments with government agencies, and newsletters and press releases to constituents. See U.S. v. Brewster, 408 U.S. 501, 512 (1972); Hutchinson v. Proxmire, 443 U.S. 111, 130-33 (1979). Very few documents on the log were designated withheld under this privilege. In most instances where noted, this Court found that the City did not establish applicability of the privilege. In the few instances where this Court found the privilege might apply, it conducted the same Rodriguez balancing analysis described above in arriving at its rulings.

Conclusion

The Court appends a spreadsheet reflecting the Court's rulings on the 350 documents. The City is directed to re-review its privilege log consistent with this ruling and determine whether there are additional documents on its log that must be de-designated as privileged. The City shall complete this task by September 30, 2019 and provide Plaintiffs with a supplemental production by that date.

To the extent there are objections to this ruling, or Plaintiffs believe that the Court should re-evaluate the balance of Rodriguez factors or wish to make a substantial need argument as to a specific document protected by the work product doctrine, this Court requests that the parties first file a motion for reconsideration with this Court. The parties shall notify the Court by letter if they intend to request reconsideration of a ruling as to a particular document by September 6, 2019. The Court will then set a briefing schedule as to any such motion. To the extent the City does not dispute this Court's ruling with respect to documents deemed non-privileged, it shall produce such documents by September 30, 2019.

SO ORDERED.
