Re: Heena Shim-Larkin v. City of New York
Docket No. 16 CV 6099 (AJN) (KNF)
Request for an extension of time

Dear Judge Alison J. Nathan:

I am Plaintiff Heena Shim-Larkin and writing to request for an extension of time to file Rule 72(a) objection concerning the order dated April 14, 2020, until September 21, 2020, pursuant to Your Honor's individual rules of practice 1.D. The current due date is September 7, 2020. This is the eighth request and the previous requests were granted. See orders at ECF #625, 635, 638, 645, 647, 650, and 653. Defendant's counsel Dominique Saint-Fort wrote an email that Defendant takes no position on Plaintiff's request. From August 26th through August 31st, Plaintiff asked Saint-Fort the reason for not consenting, via emails and phone call, which led to voicemail. But Defendant did not provide any reason.

New York County Court is still under Phase 3 according to New York State Court website<sup>1</sup>. Plaintiff contacted the library and was told that the New York County Court library is still closed and no timetable for reopening just yet. Therefore, Plaintiff wishes to wait two more weeks. If the library opens on or about September 7, 2020, Plaintiff will need 2 weeks from that date. Additionally, Plaintiff was not able to find any projected date for New York Public Library's research center reopening. Conducting legal research at law library is necessary for Plaintiff to prepare Rule 72(a) objection. If the library does not open beyond September 7, 2020, Plaintiff might request additional extension(s) later on.

Accordingly, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court to extend the date for Plaintiff to file Rule 72(a) objection concerning the order dated April 14, 2020 until September 21, 2020 and order other reliefs which court deems just and proper.

SO ORDERED.

Respectfully submitted,

S/

Heena Shim-Larkin
