7 MAY CHEN,
8 Plaintiff,
9 v.
10 XIYAN ZHANG, et al.,
11 Defendants.

Case No. 24-cv-03942-JST

ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO TRANSFER

Re: ECF No. 5

12
13 Before the Court is Defendants Xiyang Zhang, Eagle Trading USA LLC (“Eagle Trading”), 14 and Ameriway Corporation’s (“Ameriway”) (collectively, “Defendants”) motion for transfer of 15 venue to the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York pursuant to 28
16 U.S.C. § 1404(a) or, alternatively, the first-to-file rule. ECF No. 5. The Court will grant the 17 motion.

18 I. BACKGROUND

19 A. Factual Background¹

20 Plaintiff May Chen is the sole proprietor of Ability Customs Brokers (“Ability 21 Customs”)—a U.S. customs broker located in Oakland, California. ECF No. 1-1 ¶ 8. Ability 22 Customs “offers services for importing goods into the U.S. including but not limited to U.S.
23 Customs clearance, bond coverage, transportation, and cargo insurance.” Id.

24 On April 7, 2017, Defendant Xiyang Zhang emailed Chen to retain the services of Ability
25 Customs for importation and U.S. customs clearance. Id. ¶ 9. Chen alleges that Zhang signed a 26

27
28 ¹ The Court repeats the facts as alleged in the complaint without adopting them as accurate or true.

1 “Power of Attorney” as the COO of Eagle Trading² to retain Chen’s services. Id. ¶¶ 11, 14. The 2 Power of Attorney stated that Eagle Trading appointed Chen doing business as Ability Customs to
3 provide a list of certain services for the importation of goods and “generally to transact Customs 4 business.” Id. ¶ 11. Chen alleges that Zhang was the contact and authorized representative for 5 Eagle Trading as well as an agent transacting on behalf of Ameriway, a third-party logistics
6 company that provides transportation and import services for exporters in China. Id. ¶ 18–20;
7 ECF No. 5 at 4–5. Chen also alleges that Zhang provided her with documentation listing an 8 individual named Shiping Jia as “the responsible member” for Eagle Trading. ECF No. 1-1 ¶ 15.

9 According to Chen, by late August 2019, Zhang fell behind on payments to Chen, and the 10 parties discussed setting a payment plan. Id. ¶¶ 26–27. On September 19, 2019, Chen emailed
11 Zhang to “request payment on past overdue invoices based on a payment schedule installment plan
12 of a weekly $10,000 payment.” Id. ¶ 29. The next day, Zhang responded through email to explain 13 that it “had always been our intention to make full payments of all your outstanding invoices” but 14 that it was “difficult to have an accelerated payment to pay of all open invoices at once on such a 15 short notice.” Id. ¶ 30. He added that although he recalled discussing “some possible payment 16 plans such as a fixed amount per week,” he and Chen “did not reach any agreement.” Id. As of 17 the date of the complaint, Chen seeks $380,567.23 from Zhang in late payments. Id. ¶ 33.

18 B. The S.D.N.Y. Cases

19 Four years prior to the filing of this case, Ameriway filed a lawsuit against Chen and 20 Ability Customs, Inc. in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York on 21 October 10, 2019. ECF No. 5-5 at 5; Ameriway Corp. v. Chen, No. 19-cv-9407-VSB (S.D.N.Y.)
22 (“Ameriway”). There, Ameriway asserted claims arising from the same underlying set of 23 transactions between Ameriway, Eagle, and Chen doing business as Ability Customs between 24 April 2017 and August 2019 as those in this case. See Ameriway Corp. v. Chen, No. 19-cv-9407-
25 VSB (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 10, 2019), ECF No. 1. More specifically, Ameriway alleged that it retained

27

² While the parties do not provide any clear description of Eagle Trading, it appears to be an import-export business incorporated in Delaware with a principal place of business in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Id. ¶¶ 3, 11.

1 Ability Customs to provide customs clearance services beginning in April 2017 until July 2019.
2 Id. at 3. Ameriway alleged that in August 2019, Chen illegally and fraudulently had a carrier
3 detain Ameriway’s cargo containers bound for the Port of New York. Id. at 3–9. Ameriway 4 asserted claims for (1) conversion, (2) tortious interference with business relationship and 5 prospective economic advantage, (3) unfair business practices, (4) defamation, (5) fraud, and (6)
6 breach of fiduciary duty. Id. at 9–13.

7 In May 2020, Chen and Ability Customs filed their answer and asserted counterclaims
8 against Ameriway for: (1) implied guarantee of payment, (2) guarantee of payment, (3)
9 misrepresentation, (4) fraud in the inducement, and (5) declaratory judgment as to Ameriway’s
10 liability under the invoiced issued by Chen to Eagle Trading. See ECF No. 5-3 at 6–16. Chen
11 sought damages in the sum of $407,369.73 for the unpaid invoices issued to Eagle, on the theory
12 that Ameriway was a guarantor of those payments. See id. at 10. Chen next filed a third-party
13 complaint against Eagle, Zhang, and Shiping Jia in July 2020, asserting eight causes of action,
14 which included the same five as those raised in her counterclaims as well as breach of contract,
15 unjust enrichment, and “account stated.” ECF No. 5-4 at 2–19.

16 The defendants to the third-party complaint filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a
17 claim, and Chen never filed a response to the motion to dismiss. On December 27, 2021, the court 18 considered the motion to be unopposed but nevertheless decided the motion “on its merits” and 19 dismissed each of Chen’s third-party complaint claims under Rule 12(b)(6). ECF No. 5-5 at 9–13.

20 Chen next initiated another lawsuit against Eagle, Xiyan Zhang, and Shiping Jia on 21 January 25, 2022, also in the Southern District of New York. See ECF No. 5-7 at 4; Chen v. Eagle
22 Trading USA, LLC et al., No. 22-cv-658 (VSB) (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 25, 2022). Chen asserted claims
23 for breach of contract, account stated, quantum meruit, piercing Eagle’s corporate veil, guaranty of 24 payment, misrepresentation, and fraud in the inducement. ECF No. 5-7 at 4. These claims largely 25 duplicated those raised in her third-party complaint, and the action was related to Ameriway. Id.
26 On April 9, 2024, the court granted the defendants’ motion to dismiss for the lack of subject
27 matter jurisdiction, as Chen failed to adequately allege the complete diversity of citizenship
28 between the parties. Id. at 7. That same day, the court also denied Chen’s separate motion for

1 reconsideration regarding the December 27, 2021 order. ECF No. 5-8.

2 Chen has since appealed both the December 27, 2021 order and the April 9, 2024 order
3 denying her motion for reconsideration. See ECF No. 5-9. The Ameriway case remains ongoing,
4 and Defendants assert that discovery has been under way. ECF No. 5 at 12.

5 C. Procedural Background

6 Chen filed this case in Alameda Superior Court on December 29, 2023. See ECF No. 1-1.
7 Defendants then removed the case to this Court on June 30, 2024. ECF No. 1. A week later,
8 Defendants filed the motion to transfer currently before the Court. ECF No. 5.

9 Chen did not file any response to the motion to transfer. Instead, Chen moved for leave to 10 amend her complaint under 28 U.S.C. § 1447(e), seeking to substitute a DOE defendant with a 11 non-diverse defendant—iPEL, Inc., an entity with its principal place of business in California.
12 ECF No. 9 at 7.

13 On July 29, 2024, the Court issued an order to show cause regarding Chen’s failure to file
14 either an opposition or a statement of nonopposition. ECF No. 17. Chen responded to the order to 15 show cause contending that the Court “must rule on jurisdictional issues first, as a threshold 16 matter, before looking at the merits of the case,” and asked that the Court rule on her motion for 17 leave to amend her complaint. ECF No. 18 at 1. Given the procedural history in the Ameriway
18 litigation, this was not Chen’s first time failing to respond to a potentially dispositive motion in 19 litigation involving the underlying facts here.

20 Accordingly, the Court will treat Defendants’ motion to transfer as unopposed but examine 21 each of the factors for whether a transfer of venue is appropriate.

22 II. JURISDICTION

23 The Court has jurisdiction over this matter under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a).

24 III. LEGAL STANDARD

25 The well-established “first-to-file” rule allows a district court to transfer, stay, or dismiss 26 an action when a similar complaint has been filed in another federal court. Alltrade, Inc. v.
27 Uniweld Prods. Inc., 946 F.2d 622, 623 (9th Cir. 1991). A district court examines three threshold
28 factors in deciding whether to apply the first-to-file rule: (1) the chronology of the two actions, (2)

1 the similarity of the parties, and (3) the similarity of the issues. Pacesetter Sys., Inc. v. Medtronic,
2 Inc., 678 F.2d 93, 95 (9th Cir. 1982); Alltrade, 946 F.2d at 625–26. “The principle underlying the 3 federal comity doctrine is ‘wise judicial administration, giving regard to conservation of judicial 4 resources and comprehensive disposition of litigation.’” Benson v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A.,
5 No. C-09-5272 EMC, 2010 WL 1445532, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 7, 2010) (quoting Pacesetter
6 Systems, 678 F.2d at 94–95).³

7 IV. DISCUSSION

8 A. Threshold Factors

9 The first factor, chronology, weighs in favor of applying the first-to-file rule because the 10 Ameriway lawsuit was filed first by more than four years. Compare ECF No. 1-1 (Dec. 29, 2023)
11 with Ameriway, ECF No. 1 (Oct. 10, 2019).

12 The second factor, similarity of parties, also weighs in favor of applying the rule. The 13 parties need only be “substantially similar,” not identical. Kohn Law Group, Inc. v. Auto Parts
14 Mfg. Mississippi, Inc., 787 F.3d 1237, 1240 (9th Cir. 2015) (citations omitted). The current case
15 involves claims by Chen against Zhang, Eagle Trading, and Ameriway. The Ameriway lawsuit
16 involves claims by Ameriway against Chen and Ability Customs, counterclaims by Chen and 17 Ability Customs against Ameriway, and third-party claims by Chen and Ability Customs against 18 Zhang, Eagle Trading, and Jia. Although in slightly different combinations, the same parties are 19 involved in the two lawsuits.

20 Finally, the similarity of issues factor also weighs in favor of applying the first-to-file rule.
21 Like the parties, the issues “need not be identical, only substantially similar.” Kohn, 787 F.3d at 22 1240 (citations omitted). In both the Ameriway lawsuit and the case here, the claims all stem from 23 transactions between Ameriway and Chen between April 2017 and August 2019 wherein Chen
24 provided customs clearing services through Ability Customs to Ameriway. Chen asserts legal 25 theories and claims in this case that are completely duplicative as those that she asserted through 26 her counterclaims and third-party complaint in the Ameriway case. Both cases are clearly based

27 _____
28 ³ Because this Court grants Defendants’ motion to transfer based on the first-to-file rule, it need not address Defendants’ other arguments regarding transfer under 28 U.S.C. § 1404(a).

1 on an identical core of factual allegations and seek comparable damages. “[T]he first-to-file rule
 2 does not require identical issues, so long as the actions are substantially similar or involve
 3 substantial overlap.” Red v. Unilever United States, Inc., No. 09-07855 MMM (AGRX), 2010
 4 WL 11515197, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 25, 2010); see also Pedro v. Millennium Prod., Inc., No. 15-5 CV-05253-MMC, 2016 WL 3029681, at *5 (N.D. Cal. May 27, 2016) (“[W]here claims in the 6 earlier and later-filed lawsuits implicate ‘common fact[s]’ . . . , courts have found those lawsuits
 7 present similar issues.”) (citing Adoma v. Univ. of Phoenix, Inc., 711 F. Supp. 2d 1142, 1149 (E.D.
 8 Cal. 2010)); Bozic v. Uijl, No. 16-CV-733-BAS(MDD), 2017 WL 432878, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Jan.
 9 31, 2017) (finding test satisfied where claims “substantially overlapped”).

10 Because these cases satisfy all three factors, the first-to-file rule applies.

11 B. Equitable Considerations

12 The first-to-file rule “is primarily meant to alleviate the burden placed on the federal 13 judiciary by duplicative litigation and to prevent the possibility of conflicting judgments.”
 14 Selection Mgmt. Sys., Inc. v. Torus Specialty Ins. Co., No. 4:15-CV-05445-YGR, 2016 WL
 15 304781, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2016) (citing Church of Scientology of California v. U.S. Dep’t
 16 of Army, 611 F.2d 738, 750 (9th Cir. 1979), overruled on other grounds by Animal Legal Def.
 17 Fund v. U.S. Food & Drug Admin., 836 F.3d 987 (9th Cir. 2016)). For that reason, “the rule
 18 ‘should not be disregarded lightly.’” Id. (quoting Microchip Tech., Inc. v. United Module Corp., 19 No. 10-CV-04241, 2011 WL 2669627, at *3 (N.D. Cal. July 7, 2011)).

20 The Court has considered the equitable exceptions to the first-to-file rule and finds that 21 none of them apply here. There is no evidence of bad faith, anticipatory filing, or forum shopping.
 22 As for the balance of convenience, “normally the forum non conveniens argument should be 23 addressed to the court in the first-filed action,” although it can be appropriate “for the court in the 24 second-filed action to give consideration to the convenience of the parties and witnesses.”
 25 Pacesetter, 678 F.2d at 96. Here, the Court does not identify any additional expenses or 26 inconvenience that Chen would suffer if the case were litigated in New York. Indeed, Chen has 27 already been litigating her defenses, counterclaims, affirmative claims, and appeals—including a 28 case she voluntarily initiated against largely the same defendants—for the past four years in the

1 Southern District of New York without raising any argument as to venue or personal jurisdiction.
2 See generally Ameriway.

3 The Court finds that any potential, minor inconvenience to Chen is greatly outweighed by 4 “the importance of conservation of judicial resources and the comprehensive disposition of 5 litigation.” CRU Acquisition Grp., LLC v. Mykey Tech. Inc., No. 3:11-CV-05743-RBL, 2012 WL
6 441293, at *1 (W.D. Wash. Feb. 10, 2012); Inherent.com v. Martindale-Hubbell, 420 F. Supp. 2d
7 1093, 1102 (N.D. Cal. 2006) (“Additionally, to transfer the suit to New Jersey would further the 8 first-to-file rule’s purpose of promoting efficiency and avoiding the duplication of litigation.”).
9 Accordingly, “because the Court finds that the balance of convenience is neutral or at most only 10 slightly more favorable to the California forum, it declines to exercise its discretion to depart from 11 the first to file rule here.” Am. Newland Communities, L.P. v. Axis Specialty Ins. Co., No.
12 11CV1217 JLS WMC, 2011 WL 5359335, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 7, 2011).

13 C. Dismiss, Stay, or Transfer

14 After determining that the first-to-file rule applies, the Court must decide whether to 15 dismiss, stay, or transfer the case. Alltrade, 946 F.3d at 623. District courts have broad discretion
16 in making this decision. Clardy v. Pinnacle Foods Grp., LLC, No. 16-CV-04385-JST, 2017 WL
17 57310, at *2–3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 5, 2017) (citations omitted). A transfer is the most appropriate 18 option in this case because it would be inefficient to have two lawsuits involving substantially the 19 same parties and issues proceed separately in two separate courts. See Bodley v. Whirlpool Corp.,
20 No. 17-CV-05436-JST, 2018 WL 2357640, at *3 (N.D. Cal. May 24, 2018). Proceeding
21 individually would “waste judicial resources [and] require duplicative efforts by both parties.” Id.
22 (quoting Henry v. Home Depot U.S.A., Inc., No. 14-cv-04858-JST, 2016 WL 4538365, at *5 (N.D.
23 Cal. Aug. 31, 2016)).

1 CONCLUSION

2 For the foregoing reasons, Defendants’ motion to transfer is granted, and the instant case is
