PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

STROZ FRIEDBERG, LLC
Director, Digital Forensics, April 2006 to Present
Assistant Director of Computer Forensics, February 2004 to April 2006
Consultant and Computer Forensic Examiner, June 2003 to February 2004
New York, NY

Responsible for co-managing the firm's digital forensics, cyber-crime response, and electronic discovery operations. Conduct cyber-crime investigations, including investigations of network intrusions, anonymous and harassing e-mails, and thefts of trade secrets. Perform forensic examinations and acquisitions of electronic media, including computer hard drives, backup tapes, and mobile phones. Supervise and perform large-scale electronic discovery assignments for major law firms, including on-site preservation and searching in Europe, Latin America, and Asia. Respond to significant breaches of confidential and personally identifiable information. Lead efforts to investigate and remediate, to the extent possible, lapses in litigation holds. Perform statistical analyses and data analytics of disparate data sets. Provide expert witness testimony in civil and criminal cases. Significant cases include:

- Located, preserved, and forensically analyzed the metadata of a smoking-gun electronic memorandum in the Enron "Barge" investigation. Testified at trial.
- Conducted forensic investigations of several laptop computers. Authored an expert opinion proving that the subject of an internal corporate investigation backdated a key memorandum accusing a rival banker of violations of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act.
- Participated in the design and implementation of an anti-money laundering transaction monitoring database and data analytics on behalf of an international bank in connection with a criminal investigation by the Department of Justice and Federal Reserve. Performed data analysis and helped develop an automated transaction monitoring system.
- Preserved and analyzed web, event, and domain logs to determine whether a SQL injection attack compromised customer credit card and identity information.
- Conducted source code review and digital forensic examination pursuant to an adverse-party inspection order in a litigation concerning the alleged theft of high-frequency algorithmic trading code.
- Led efforts to reconstruct and forensically analyze more than two terabytes of data in response to one of the largest potential exposures of personally identifiable information.

- Pioneered a methodology for searching Korean-language documents, e-mails, and e-mail attachments for a response to a criminal grand jury subpoena in a price-fixing investigation. Conducted on-site processing to facilitate attorney review and to protect the confidentiality of sensitive client documents.

- Performed restoration of data from legacy backup tapes and data analysis in conjuction with a Medicare fraud investigation. Conducted analysis to identify instances in which medical procedures were improperly submitted as separate claims to increase the amount of reimbursement from Medicare.

- Forensically analyzed multiple computers to determine whether proprietary information and customer lists were transferred without authorization. Determined, based on a metadata analysis of the employee's recovered USB drive, that the employee had downloaded hundreds of proprietary documents in the weeks leading up to his resignation and subsequently used that information at his new place of employment. Submitted an affidavit in support of a temporary restraining order, which was corroborated by the defendant's confession under oath.

- Investigated a lapse in a major media company's e-mail retention system. Provided an assessment of the quantity of e-mail traffic that was not captured based on an analysis of e-mail server logs.

- Analyzed e-mail communications between parties in a theft of trade secrets litigation and determined that many of the alleged confidential documents were openly exchanged in e-mail correspondence prior to the litigation. Testified in Connecticut Superior Court regarding that analysis.
