

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

DARLENE VINSON SIMS,

Plaintiff,

Case # 17-CV-798-FPG

v.

DECISION AND ORDER

COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY,

Defendant.

INTRODUCTION

Darlene Vinson Sims brought this appeal of the Social Security Administration's ("SSA") decision to deny her disability benefits. ECF No. 1. On February 4, 2019, the Court granted Sims's motion for judgment on the pleadings and remanded this case for further administrative proceedings. ECF No. 13. Thereafter, the Court entered a Stipulation and Order awarding Sims's attorney, Steven R. Dolson, $3,300 in fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act ("EAJA"), 28 U.S.C. § 2412.¹ ECF No. 18.

On November 13, 2019, the SSA issued a Notice of Award granting Sims disability benefits and withholding $27,165.25—25 percent of her past due benefits—to pay her attorney. ECF No. 19-1 at 2. On November 21, 2019, Sims moved for $17,165.25 in attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 406(b).² ECF No. 19. The Commissioner defers to the Court as to whether the requested fees are reasonable. ECF No. 26.

¹ Dolson never received those fees because they were used as a debt offset. See ECF No. 19-3 at 8.

² Sims had a separate attorney at the administrative level, who is seeking to collect attorney's fees in the amount of $10,000. See ECF No. 19-2 at 2. Thus, Dolson's requested fee is the remainder of the $27,165.25 left after accounting for that attorney's fees.

For the reasons that follow, Sims’s motion is GRANTED, Dolson is awarded $17,175.25 in fees, and Dolson shall remit the $2,500 retainer he collected from Sims.

DISCUSSION

I. § 406(b) and Reasonableness of the Requested Fee

The Social Security Act provides that

[w]henver a court renders a judgment favorable to a claimant under this subchapter who was represented before the court by an attorney, the court may determine and allow as part of its judgment a reasonable fee for such representation, not in excess of 25 percent of the total of the past-due benefits to which the claimant is entitled by reason of such judgment.

42 U.S.C. § 406(b)(1)(A).

Within the 25% boundary, “the attorney for the successful claimant must show that the fee sought is reasonable for the services rendered.” Abbey v. Berryhill, No. 6:17-CV-06430-MAT, 2019 WL 336572, at *2 (W.D.N.Y. Jan. 28, 2019) (quoting Gisbrecht v. Barnhart, 535 U.S. 789, 807 (2002)). The statute also requires “court review of [contingent fee] arrangements as an independent check, to assure that they yield reasonable results in particular cases.” Id.

After a court confirms that the fee is within the 25% statutory boundary, it analyzes three factors to determine if the resulting fee is reasonable. Those factors are: (1) whether the requested fee is out of line with the “character of the representation and the results the representation achieved”; (2) whether the attorney unreasonably delayed the proceedings in an attempt to increase the accumulation of benefits and thereby increase his fee; and (3) whether “the benefits awarded are large in comparison to the amount of time counsel spent on the case,” the so-called “windfall” factor. Id. (citation omitted).

The Court has reviewed each factor to assure that the requested fee is reasonable. As an initial matter, the SSA awarded Sims $108,661.00 in past due benefits and therefore counsel’s request for $17,165.25 in fees represents less than 25% of the award and does not exceed the statutory cap.

As to the first factor, the Court finds that the requested fee is in line with the character of the representation and the results it achieved, because Sims's motion for judgment on the pleadings led the Court to remand this case for further administrative proceedings. As to the second factor, there is no evidence that counsel unreasonably delayed the proceedings in an attempt to inflate past due benefits and the potential fee award.

As to the third factor, i.e., whether the fee award constitutes a windfall to the attorney, courts often examine the lodestar figure to help them make this determination. See Abbey, 2019 WL 336572, at *2; see also Wells v. Sullivan, 907 F.2d 367, 371 (2d Cir. 1990). Here, Dolson spent 17.5 hours in connection with the appeal to this Court. ECF No. 19-1 at 3-4. Dividing the $17,165.25 fee requested by 17.5 hours yields an hourly rate of $980.87. While high, this Court has found such a rate reasonable where, as here, counsel developed meritorious, non-boilerplate arguments on the claimant's behalf. McDonald v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., No. 16-CV-926, 2019 WL 1375084, at *2 (W.D.N.Y. Mar. 27, 2019) (awarding fees with effective hourly rate of $1,051.64); see also Torres v. Colvin, No. 11-CV-5309, 2014 WL 909765, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 6, 2014) (“[A] substantial body of caselaw has awarded rates that approach, if they do not exceed, $1,000.00.”); Morrison v. Saul, No. 16-CV-4168, 2019 WL 6915954, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 19, 2019) (approving fees based on effective hourly rate of $935.52).

Accordingly, based on all of the above, the Court concludes that the requested fee award is reasonable.

Furthermore, counsel must refund the retainer to Sims, which he indicated he intends to do. ECF No. 19-1 at 3.

CONCLUSION

Sims's motion for attorney's fees under § 406(b) (ECF No. 19) is GRANTED and Sims is awarded $17,165.25 in fees. The Court directs the Commissioner to release those funds withheld from Sims's benefits award. After counsel receives the § 406(b) fee, he must remit the $2,500 retainer.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
