Lynn Ellen Mendes

Plaintiff,

Vs.

Charles Brown and

Charlotte Mecklenberg Public Library

Case: 3:10-cv-397-RLV Judge: Richard Veehues

MOTION TO ADD ADDITIONAL URGENT EVIDENCE

Plaintiff, Lynn E. Mendes requests the following article which appears on the Internet entitled John Fleming, The Shocking Menace of Satellite Surveillance details the manner in which the female lesbian terrorists have been terrorizing and tormenting plaintiff, essentially holding her hostage. Doing such things as tracking her every movement irregardless of wherever she goes; i.e. leave a building, city, state, etc. , constant 24/7 surveillance with communication at will, watching her sleep, shower, toilet, attempting to read her thoughts, peer into her brain, monitoring her computer, etc. Ms. Mendes is not a lesbian and never was. The female lesbian terrorists essentially hijacked the brain of Ms. Mendes in an effort to purport their activities; i.e. attempted kidnapping, buying and selling of human body parts while the person is alive, deprivation of rights, attempted murder, racketeering, extortion, sexual assault, etc. Despite numerous contact with law enforcement, they have failed to apprehend and prosecute these dangerous and sexually charged female predators. At the disposal of law enforcement in an effort to catch these terrorists believed to be the cause of a number of deaths in the U.S. and many more to come if not stopped. Innocent lives begging to be free of their murderous and torturous death struggle. Innocent vulnerable females barely standing 5' tall or slightly above unable to fight off an attack worthy of a military takeover.

A copy of John Fleming's article, The Shocking Menace of Satellite Surveillance, has been mailed or delivered to the Charlotte Mecklenberg Public Library as well as the offices of the Essex Law Firm located at 1701 South Blvd. , February 23rd, This is due to it's proximity to the Wachovia Bank across the street. Ms. Mendes held an account there at one point and a safety deposit box. The keys to the safety box were stolen in a purse theft which occurred in Raleigh, NC on 12/15/2009. The box held such contents as a U.S. passport, a medical disk, CIA pin from a UNC career fair, Route 66 pin from the Clinton Museum in Oklahoma, wedding dress photo of one her daughters, etc. Ms. Mendes intended to give the pins to her grandson. A CVS receipt is attached showing Ms. Mendes was in the area on this date.

As a side note, Ms. Mendes has used nude photos of herself including that of a very private part in a desperate attempt to catch these hard core female sexual predators. It is not known whether this has worked. Only the Wachovia Bank, Rite Aid on Park Rd. and a Walgreens in Raleigh, NC would know.
