Myspace Prepaid Surveys Teens Reports on Findings of Teen Gift Card Survey

CLEVELAND, OHIO (September 9, 2007) Myspace Prepaid Solutions has released the results of a survey of 527 college bound teenagers. One of the key findings of the survey is that 98 percent of all teens between the ages of 14 and 19 have either bought or received a gift card. Commissioned by the national gift card supplier and transaction processor, the survey reveals that in 2007 teens purchased almost double the number of gift cards they did in 2006 (7.6 vs. 4.3 cards — a 77 percent increase). Further, the average loaded dollar amount on cards given went from $28 to $33.

Teens also reported that nearly one-half (46 percent) of the presents they give are gift cards — a twelve percent increase from 2006. Males are still more likely to give gift cards (50 percent) than females (43 percent), but these electronic cards packed with cash are becoming a more popular gift option every year.

"As our young people gain more financial freedom, we get a good idea of how they choose to spend their own money," said Lee Mitchell, executive president and general manager of MPS. "Teens are growing up with gift cards receiving them, gifting them and using them for personal purchases. So gift cards continue to gain popularity with this sought-after group of consumers, and are becoming synonymous with their gifting culture. The information in this survey represents very good news for retailers."

According to the survey, while cash is mentioned most often as the preferred gift, an equal number of teens rank cash (81 percent) and gift cards (79 percent) first or second, compared to the 40 percent who prefer receiving actual items.

And once they get a gift card, teens are ready to spend. Sixty-two percent of teens say that they hold on to their gift cards for one month or less before using them. Only one in 10 (11 percent) says that they keep a gift card for more than two months before using it the first time.

When using gift cards, teens also spend more than the card's value. Eighty-nine percent of teens add some of their own money when making a purchase with a gift card. Once they've depleted the funds on their card, some teens are going back for more. While still a growing trend, one in five teens has reloaded a gift card — on average with $24.

"Cards are being reloaded for future use and convenience," said Mitchell. "From a parent's perspective, it's a great way to control where your teen spends his or her money. From our young people's perspectives, it's a way to maintain financial freedom when making purchases — especially when they don't have their own credit or debit card yet."

Other key findings from the survey:

- Among teens who have purchased gift cards, three-quarters (76 percent) have purchased cards for others. Two in five teens (42 percent) have purchased cards for themselves. Young men (46 percent) are more likely than young women (38 percent) to have purchased gift cards for personal use.
- Gift card malls, a collection of various retailers' gift cards typically found in convenience or grocery stores, continue to gain acceptance. Forty-five percent (up from 29 percent in 2006) of teens say they have purchased a gift card at a gift card mall and 21 percent (up from 11 percent in 2006) say they prefer to buy them there.
- If the gift card a teen wished to purchase was not available at a gift card mall, almost half of teens (49 percent) would have gone to the specific retail store to purchase a gift card. Two in five teens (42 percent) would have simply chosen to purchase a different gift card at the gift card mall.
- Respondents report that approximately four in 10 gifts they receive (43 percent) are gift cards. On average, teens report that the gift cards they receive are loaded with $25 per card.
- Teens surveyed reported spending an average of $101 yearly on gifts.

The survey was conducted online between June 29 - July 2, 2007 involving (527) 14 - 19 year-old students who plan to attend college or are currently attending their first year. They have also previously purchased or received a gift card.

STATEMENT ON LEGAL PROCESS & REPORT OUT ON HARASSMENT AT HANDS OF NEWS CORP

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 09, 2006 – Brad Greenspan, founder of Myspace.com and one of the Intermix shareholders actively pursuing on behalf of all shareholders the fraudulent sale of Intermix & Myspace to News Corp. put out the following statement today:

"First, I apologize for the delay in getting out a statement on the State Court litigation developments, but the PR firm I was working with, Allison & Partners, received a flurry of threats over the past few days from News Corp's agent and law firm Hogan & Hartson. These threats to drag the PR firm into court because they were my 'agent' effectively temporarily chilled the small firm's ability to continue their communications with the media on my behalf in the short term as they retain legal counsel to deal with this baseless attack on free media." said Brad Greenspan.

"In addition to this maneuver and continued personal attacks News Corp is making against me, I have information on other concerning harassment near the end of this statement I feel obligated to come forth with." said Brad Greenspan.

"The shareholders of Intermix have a shareholder complaint at the Federal level that continues to proceed well. This lawsuit has the benefit of much of the discovery and evidence that has come out recently.

Second, at the state level, we plan to appeal Judge Kuel's recent decision as there are a plethora of legal errors in her decision.

Judge Kuel's decision is flawed because it failed to take into account incriminating evidence of nondisclosures and fraud by Intermix management. The court also erred by not allowing us to amend the complaint to include the stunning emails and documents recently discovered which make up the heart of the fraud. For instance, we could not explain or inform Judge Kuel that Myspace's revenue was hidden by shareholders in clear violation of FAS 131, because we only received Intermix documents finally disclosing accurate Myspace revenue after the complaint had already been filed." said Brad Greenspan.

STRONG SUPPORT FROM SHAREHOLDERS AND THE PUBLIC

"We continue to believe that even stronger evidence of wrongdoings exists in the hands of documents that Intermix, News Corp, and investment bankers Montgomery Securities and Thoms Weisel are in possession of for the period between August 15 - September 30 2005, the period directly before the shareholders voted. To date, the defendants have refused to provide these surely damning documents.", said Brad Greenspan.

"We are continuing to get incredible feedback and support from Intermix shareholders and the public at large. The message is clear - Rosenblatt and Intermix misled the public by refusing to disclose Myspace's revenue in clear violation of FAS 131. If shareholders had received the same financial info on Myspace that News Corp had, prior to the shareholder vote on September 30, 2005, then shareholders could have cast an informed vote. They didn't. It was not a level playing field." said Brad Greenspan.

Intermix shareholder Michael M contacted the FreeMyspace website recently and explained his view:

"Thank you for continuing to pursue this. I had 4,000 shares of Intermix the day the merger was announced and 2,000 on the day it closed. I was disgusted and shocked with the low sale price and voted against the merger. It may interest you to know that someone called me on behalf of Intermix and tried to get me to change my vote. I refused, telling him that the premium being paid by NWS was inadequate. He then exaggerated about how large the premium was but I still refused."

HARRASSMENT AT THE HANDS OF NEWS CORP

In addition to the recent actions of News Corp to chill and intimidate my PR firm from facilitating my communications with the media and public, the other actions News Corp has undertaken are troubling:

An ongoing harassment by News Corp of friends and associates over the past few months via very aggressive activities by News Corp private investigators with the intent to wage personal attacks on me and discredit me.

For example, excerpts from an anonymous letter I received in August of 2006 warning me of News Corp's ongoing campaign:

Hi Brad,

I hope this is the correct email. I had to track it down through a mutual friend. I just wanted you to know that there are people asking lots of questions about you. I had 2 people contact me at my house and it was a bit spooky. They were asking questions about everything you could think of. I told them I only had 10 minutes. They were polite but it was very disconcerting. They were asking questions about different periods when you were here. There were lots of words around fiduciary obligations and if I knew about deals or discussed any deals with you at various times. What you did immediately after you left. They asked if I knew about any friends in weird places like Russia, China and Australia. Also about relationships with any female coworkers. Parties. Just tons and tons of questions. I thought I would be smart and asked them why and what they were doing, but all they would say was they were private investigators and that they wanted to sit me down for a full interview. I told them I would think about it and call them back. They offered that could have my lawyer present and they would pick up the cost."

I was forced to move from my home in Los Angeles, as I discovered that News Corp employees working in the Myspace group very recently took control of a home (2176 Sunset Plaza) directly across from mine and began observation of my activities via direct and unobstructed viewing access into my house and penetrating my WIFI. I was tipped off to this recently as one of the News Corp employees Ted Skillet had entered my property during a small event I was holding, was recognized and had to be asked to leave the premises.

NEWS CORP ABANDONS MYTH OF MYSPACE CREATION

I am glad that because of the background provided to the public on the process and how my company eUniverse created Myspace, that News Corp as demonstrated by its latest press release has wisely chosen to abandon its efforts to continue to tell the media that Myspace was created in the garage of Tom Anderson and that eUniverse was merely an investor in Myspace.

Myspace was created by eUniverse, I made the decision to launch Myspace as our only new website initiative in 2003 and oversaw the Myspace division personally. eUniverse owned 100% of Myspace at creation. Tom Anderson and Chris DeWolfe were eUniverse employees who were part of the management team.

About Myspace and Brad Greenspan

Among the Intermix properties acquired by News Corp. was Myspace.com, a social networking Web site with Web profiles, blogs, instant messaging, e-mail, music downloads, photo galleries, classified listings and chat rooms that allows users to create their own online community. MySpace.com has more than 100 million registered user. The site receives more monthly page views than Google according to a recent Associated Press report.

Brad Greenspan, founder of eUniverse/Intermix Media which created Myspace.com, serves as an investor and strategic business advisor for successful start-up companies in high-growth markets. He invests capital and resources that enable companies to meet their short- and long-term business objectives. Greenspan has invested in companies such as BroadWebAsia, VidiLife.com, BigFishGames LLC, and Palisades Technology.

MYSPACE INC is and has been using aggressive and unfair business tactics which is common practice for this company these facts can be verified by reviewing the attached documents or reviewing the www.FREEMYSPACE.COM website.

As relevant to the present action.

WHEREFORE, the plaintiffs, DONNELL MITCHELL, ask the the TTAB to issue an injunction enjoining the opposers from continuing its intimidation and that the TTAB award plaintiffs such additional or alternative relief as may be just, proper, and equitable, including costs associated with this opposition for cancellation.

Prepaid Cards: The State of the Industry

Aite Group expects the value of branded and private label prepaid card transactions to amount to US$178 billion by 2010, up from US$113 billion in 2007.

Boston, MA, July 23, 2007 – A new Impact Report from Aite Group sizes and forecasts the evolution of the prepaid card industry in the United States. It examines the key trends impacting each major component of the industry value chain.

Among key findings, the report reveals that despite rapid industry growth, gaining scale in branded prepaid card processing remains a major challenge for processors and issuers. The report also indicates that the introduction of reload services for branded and private label prepaid cards, the drive to offer private label prepaid card products to small merchants, and the deep integration of branded and private label prepaid cards into various industries' business processes are today's three major trends reshaping the industry.

"In the coming few years, the concept of prepaid will grow increasingly irrelevant as it becomes ever-more successful." predicts Gwenn Bézard, research director at Aite Group and author of the report. "Over time, the subtle distinctions between the various card products, such as debit versus prepaid versus credit, and branded versus private label, will erode as products grow in diversity and complexity and mesh together. By the middle of the next decade, the prepaid card industry will have ceased to exist as a recognizable entity."

This 37-page Impact Report contains 26 Figures and 1 Table. Companies mentioned in this report include: ACE Cash Express, ADP, American Express, Bank First, Bank of America, BlackHawk Network, Chockstone, Citibank, Coinstar, Comdata, CVS Pharmacy, Discover Financial, eCount, EFD (eFunds), First Data, FSV Payment, Green Dot, Home Depot, Incomm, Keybank, Macy's, Mastercard, McDonald's, Metabank, Metavante, MoneyGram, National City, Netspend, Paymentech, Simon Property, Skylight, SpringBok, Starbucks, Target, TSYS, UniRush, US Bank, Visa, Wal-Mart, WageWorks, Wells Fargo, and Western Union.

The findings in this report were published by the Aite Group and re-published MySPACE® Prepaid.

NEW YORK (Reuters) - Rupert Murdoch said on Monday his News Corp (NWSa.N) would not get into a fight with Microsoft Corp (MSFT.O) over Yahoo Inc (YHOO.O), confirming what most industry and Wall Street observers suspected.

Murdoch's company has been in talks with Yahoo over a transaction to combine News Corp's MySpace Internet social network and other Internet assets with Yahoo, a source familiar with the talks said earlier.

"We're not going to get into a fight with Microsoft, which has a lot more money than us," Murdoch told investors at the annual Bear Stearns media conference.

Microsoft has made an unsolicited $41.4 billion bid to buy Yahoo.

Time Warner Inc (TWX.N) has also held talks to combine its AOL Internet division with Yahoo, another source said last week.

about October 26th 2007 between the hours of 4:30PM EST and 4:55PM EST speaking with Trademark Trial and Appeal Board staff.

3. Registrant explained to TTAB staff that Registrant's company had no way of contacting the Opposer by phone.
4. Registrant was advised to file the request on Friday October 26th because Monday October 29th 2007 would have passed Registrant's cancellation answer deadline of October 28th 2007.
5. Registrant learned of the Opposer's frivolous cancellation procedure on or about October 25th 2007.
6. Registrant by phone explained to the TTAB staff that Registrant's company needed additional time to hire counsel.
7. Registrant admits to being a pro se applicant, new to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board process. Registrant was not aware as of October 26th 2007 that his company needed consent from Opposer to proceed with an extension request.
8. Opposer has insufficient knowledge or information as to the truth of the allegations of fraud and deception as alleged against Phenomenon Licensing and Myspace Prepaid and, therefore Opposer has made willful false statements to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board.
9. Registrant emailed the Opposer on October 26th 2007 at 4:16PM not 6:16PM as stated by the Opposer in the request for sanction motion. See Exhibit A
10. Registrant has complied with and will continue to comply with all requests from the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Registrant has explained by email that his company will not be intimidated by Opposer's meritless tactics. See Exhibit B

11. Registrant is requesting that the Opposer's request for sanctions motion be dismissed by the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board without prejudice and sanctions be placed on the Opposer for unethical behavior and violations of the Lanham Act.
12. Registrant is also considering filing a formal complaint with the Connecticut Disciplinary Counsel against Opposer's company.
13. Opposer has made several willful fraudulent statements to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board as of September 14th 2007 and October 31st 2007.
14. Opposer was fully aware of Phenomenon Licensing and Myspace Prepaid Solutions international press releases dated and released internationally September 9th 2007. Opposer filed cancellation hearing no. 92048120 on or about September 14th 2007. Opposer filed (5) days after our international MYSPACE PREPAID press releases were distributed. See Exhibit C
15. Registrant requests that the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board enter judgment in Registrant's favor on all counts of it's petition as a sanction for Opposer's willful misconduct.

ARGUMENT DEFENSE 1

16. Applicant repeats and reiterates Paragraphs 1-15 as if fully repeated herein
17. Registrant, a pro se applicant, potentially committed mistakes in the application and prosecution of his trademark applications.
18. Applicant denies making any fraudulent statements on any trademark applications. Any such mistakes by applicant amounted to harmless error.

ARGUMENT DEFENSES 2

19. Applicant repeats and reiterates Paragraphs 1-18 as if fully repeated herein.
20. Opposer's conduct amounts to laches or acquiescence.
21. Opposer is fully aware the term MY SPACE is not federally prohibited from registration due to Statutory Protection 1205.01. See Exhibit D
