Pro se plaintiff Jaime Luevano filed the above-captioned in forma pauperis action against defendants Tina Boykin, Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott, Prosecuting Attorney Sherri Bevan Walsh, Texas Child Support, “F.B.I. Agent in Charge of Corruptions, Conspiracies and Schemes,” and Governor Rick Perry of Texas. Mr. Luevano, who is incarcerated at the El Paso County Detention Facility in Texas seeks an order appointing an investigator and compensation for pain, suffering and emotional/mental anguish.

(Compl. at at 4.) There are no additional details provided by Mr. Luevano.

Standard of Review

Although pro se pleadings are liberally construed, Boag v. MacDougall, 454 U.S. 364, 365 (1982) (per curiam); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972), the district court is required to dismiss an action under 28 U.S.C. §1915(e) if it fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, or if it lacks an arguable basis in law or fact.¹ Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319 (1989); Lawler v. Marshall, 898 F.2d 1196 (6th Cir. 1990); Sistrunk v. City of Strongsville, 99 F.3d 194, 197 (6th Cir. 1996). For the reasons stated below, this action is dismissed pursuant to section 1915(e).

Failure to State a Claim

There is no statement or reference in the complaint that sets forth a basis for this court's jurisdiction. Moreover, principles requiring generous construction of pro se pleadings are not without limits. Beaudett v. City of Hampton, 775 F.2d 1274, 1277 (4th Cir. 1985). District courts are not required to conjure up questions never squarely presented to them or to construct full blown claims from sentence fragments. Id. at 1278. To do so would "require ...[the courts] to explore exhaustively all potential claims of a pro se plaintiff, ... [and] would...transform the district court from its legitimate advisory role to the improper role of an advocate seeking out the strongest arguments and most successful strategies for a party." Id. at 1278.

Even under the liberal notice pleading requirements of Federal Civil Rule 8 and the liberal perspective in which pro se complaints are generally viewed, the complaint does not contain even the minimum requirements of a "short and plain statement" of a claim showing entitlement to relief. See FED. CIV. R. P. 8(a); Vector Research, Inc. v. Howard & Howard Attorneys P.C., 76 F.3d 692, 697 (6th Cir. 1996)("Under the liberal federal system of notice pleading, all that a plaintiff must do in a complaint is give a defendant fair notice of what the plaintiff's claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.”)(quoting Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 47 (1957)).² Legal conclusions are not sufficient to present a valid claim, and this court is not required to accept unwarranted factual inferences. See Morgan v. Church's Fried Chicken, 829 F.2d 10, 12 (6th Cir. 1987); see e.g. Place v. Shepherd, 446 F.2d 1239, 1244 (6th Cir. 1971) (a pleading will not be sufficient to state cause of action under Civil Rights Act if its allegations are but conclusions).

Based on the foregoing, the complaint is dismissed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e). Further, the court certifies that an appeal from this decision could not be taken in good faith.³
