U.S. 6,466,862
1. A system for providing traffic information to a plurality of mobile users connected to a network, comprising:		The accused product does not provide "traffic information," and thus does not meet this element as properly construed.	Google	traffic information	The accused product/system provides information regarding traffic conditions, and therefore meets this element as properly construed.
			"Traffic information" should be construed in the context of "traffic information representative of said signals transmitted by said traffic monitors" as we do below.
			Traffic Information
			"traffic information" means data regarding traffic conditions, which data can include, but is not limited to, the speed, velocity, motion, density, flow, frequency of vehicles on a road, and/or other data representative of the movement of vehicles on a road.
(a) a plurality of traffic monitors, each said traffic monitor comprising at least a detector and a transmitter, . . .	traffic monitors	The accused product does not provide a stationary device capable of determining the current speed, frequency, or flow of multiple vehicles traveling along a road, and thus does not meet this element as properly construed.	Google	traffic monitors	The accused product/system includes devices used to sense, measure, detect, and/or determine vehicular movement and transmit and/or provide a signal representative of vehicular movement, and therefore meets this element as properly construed.
			A stationary device capable of determining the current speed, frequency, or flow of multiple vehicles traveling along a road
			Traffic Information
			"traffic monitors" means any device used to sense, measure, detect, and/or determine vehicular movement and transmit and/or provide a signal representative of vehicular movement.

... said detector providing a signal including data representative of vehicular movement and said transmitter transmitting said signals;		The accused product does not provide a signal representative of the current speed, frequency, or flow of multiple vehicles traveling along a road, and thus does not meet this element as properly construed.	Google The current speed, frequency, or flow of multiple vehicles traveling along a road as detected by one or more traffic monitors Traffic Information “Vehicular movement” means the velocity, speed, position, and/or change in position of a vehicle.	vehicular movement	The accused product/system includes devices that provide a signal representative of the velocity, speed, position, and/or change in position of a vehicle and therefore meets this element as properly construed.
(b) a receiver, remotely located from said transmitter, that receives said signals transmitted by said traffic monitors; and
(c) a computer system . . .			Google No construction necessary Traffic Information “computer system” means a computer or computers that receive data representative of vehicular movement from the traffic monitors and send traffic information representative of said signals transmitted by said traffic monitors to the mobile user stations by way of the network.	computer system	The accused product/system includes a computer or computers that receive data representative of vehicular movement from the traffic monitors and sends traffic information representative of the signals transmitted by the traffic monitors to the mobile user stations by way of the network and therefore meets this element as properly construed.

... interconnected with said receiver and said network;			Google No construction necessary Traffic Information “interconnected” means the computer system facilitates the continuous or periodic movement of data from the receiver to the network.	interconnected	The accused product/system includes a computer system that facilitates the continuous or periodic movement of data from the receiver to the network and therefore meets this element as properly construed.
(d) a mobile user station connected to a global positioning system receiver, a display, and a communicating device; and	mobile user station	Google provides only the Nexus One mobile device and, therefore, the accused product cannot meet this element, as properly construed, as to mobile devices not supplied by Google.	Google A mobile device, distinct from a traffic monitor, capable of determining and displaying traffic information Traffic Information “mobile user station” means an easily moving or movable device that can transmit data to and/or receive data from the network. The mobile user station may be a cellular phone or other handheld unit, or may be installed within a car.

Claim	Google Terms Identified	Google Statement of Importance	Proposed Construction	Traffic Information Terms Identified	Traffic Information Statement of Importance
(e) said computer system, in response to a request for traffic information from one of said mobile user stations, ...		The accused product provides information to the recipient after the recipient interacts with a device, and thus does not meet this element as properly construed.	Google	in response to	The computer system of the accused product/system, rather than only arbitrarily sending traffic information representative of the signals transmitted by the traffic monitors, is capable of sending traffic information representative of the signals transmitted by the traffic monitors to a mobile user station as a result of the mobile user station sending a request for traffic information to the computer system and therefore meets this element as properly construed.
			Should be construed as part of "providing in response thereto"
			Traffic Information "in response to" means that the computer system, rather than only arbitrarily sending traffic information representative of said signals transmitted by said traffic monitors, is capable of sending traffic information representative of said signals transmitted by said traffic monitors to a mobile user station as a result of the mobile user station sending a request for traffic information to the computer system.
