Jason -

Linden Lab and Mr. Rosedale have retained John Crittenden of the Cooley Godward firm to represent their interests in this case. Mr. Crittenden has asked me to ask you if Plaintiff will agree to a thirty day extension so that his office will have sufficient time to complete an answer and counterclaim to the complaint. The purpose of the extension is to give Cooley Godward adequate time to prepare a responsive pleading. Please let us know if Plaintiff can agree to an extension in light of this development.

Mr. Crittenden will speak to you soon about the case generally.

Thanks,

Andrew J. Soven

As I stated to you in our call, my client does not want to delay this matter further. Moreover, the request for an extension appears directly designed so that your client (who allegedly is moving for a stay and appealing to the Third Circuit) will never have to answer the complaint.

Further, given your client's prior position that my motion for preliminary injunction was "untimely", we are not going to engage in any conduct that would serve to undermine our motion.

As such, we cannot agree to the stipulation.

Thank you.

-j.

Jason - Please let me know if you can agree to the attached stip. I put in language to the effect that we are agreeing that the stip is without prejudice to your position on the injunction motion. Thanks.
