BY THE COURT:

CYNTHIA M. RUFÉ, J.

¹ The Court agrees with the detailed R&R that the opinion of the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") was not supported by substantial evidence with regard to the conclusion that after properly considering Plaintiff's limitations that there were a substantial number of jobs in the economy that Plaintiff could perform during the relevant time period. The ALJ erred by relying on the testimony of the vocational expert where the examples of suitable job categories conflicted with the requirements set forth in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles and its companion publication and the discrepancy was not explained. The Court agrees that Plaintiff has not established that remand for an award of benefits is warranted under the circumstances of this case.
