Schuykill County Observations

Hiking the Marcellus trail in NEPA

Mon Jul 04 2011

Pennsylvania has leased 692,004 of the 1.6 million acres of state forest in the Marcellus Shale region to natural gas drillers for $413 million - with hopes of bringing in many millions more in royalties from sales of the gas.

Phillips-Van Heusen Changes Name

Sun Jul 03 2011

Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation has been formally renamed PVH Corp. after receiving overwhelming stockholder approval of the change at its annual meeting.

PVH has grown exponentially from its 1881 roots of selling and mending shirts for miners in Pottsville, PA and through the introduction of the Van Heusen soft-folding collar in the 1920's to become a global company with 2010 revenues of almost $5 billion, with direct sales to a wide range of consumers and retailers throughout North America, Europe and Asia under its Calvin Klein, Tommy Hilfiger, Van Heusen, IZOD, ARROW, G.H. Bass & Co. brands, as well as numerous licensed brands.

Civil Case: S-655-2010 Joe Sterns v. Gloria Bercher

Sun Jul 03 2011

How did Joe Sterns claw his way to the top of the Schuykill GOP?? He had his lawyer wife (Gretchen) sue any opponents that got in his way.

Challenge petition: Sterns v. Bercher

The petition filed in the county election bureau by Gloria Bercher seeking nomination on the Republican ballot in the May 18th Primary Election as committee person for Deer Lake, 124th Legislative District, is being challenged by Joseph Sterns, who is asking court not to allow her name to appear on the ballot.

His reason is that the nominating petition filed was alleged faulty. In his petition Sterns alleges the candidate signed the affidavit on the petition declaring she obtained the names of the signees before their names were affixed to the petition. Also she incorrectly listed the office she was seeking, stating she was running for committee chairperson. Stern states in the petition the chairman of the party is not elected by the voters but by the committee people under the by-laws of the party.

Attorney Hank Clarke bounces back after hard times

Sun Jul 03 2011

Local attorney Hank Clarke has had a rough few years. In his quest to obtain his law degree, he was forced to accept charity in order to provide a Christmas to his family, was charged with writing a bad check, and almost had his home foreclosed on. He wrote a letter to the editor of the local paper complaining about his business suffering under a health reform law, supported by the Obama administration.?

Eight myths to chill an old-school Republican soul

Sat Jul 02 2011

Today we have the spectacle of smart, patriotic men and women putting their brains and integrity on ice to please a party dominated by anti-intellectual social Darwinists and the plutocrats who finance and mislead them.

Amid Pa. cuts, $437 million goes to private projects

Thu Jun 30 2011

As state budget negotiations these last five months were slicing taxpayer funding for Pennsylvania public schools and colleges, Gov. Corbett has sent letters approving $437 million in grants to 104 private developers, corporations, and nonprofits around the state, including $249 million to 40 projects in Philadelphia and its suburbs.

Larry Padora is a self-made man? LMAO! Now that's funny!

Thu Jun 30 2011

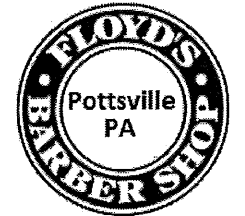

"In my mind, Larry Padora would have made an excellent county commissioner and ambassador for our area. He embodied everything that is good about Schuykill County. Simple roots. Hard worker. Self-made man." - Hank Clarke

-----
Commentary:

How can Larry Padora be a "self-made man" when he work's for his family's business, that his dad and mom bought from someone?

Schuylkill County GOP Chairman sides with Dems and targets Republicans for defeat

CAP will target for defeat in the 2012 primary election any Republican Senator or Representative who opposes Senate Bill 1. ?CAP will actively recruit and fund candidates to challenge Republican opponents of SB 1. ?To date, CAP has raised $1 million for this purpose, and this figure grows steadily each day.?

Sen. Anthony H. Williams (D-Philadelphia County) is one of the two authors of SB 1.

Book Review: Demosclerosis by Jonathan Rauch

Fri Jun 24 2011

Jonathan Rauch defines "demosclerosis" as "government's progressive loss of the ability to adapt." In this sharp and carefully-argued analysis, he describes it as a side-effect of the postwar style of politics that emphasizes interest-group activism and redistributive programs. The dramatic rise of interest-groups coupled with the public's increasing demands on government, he says, have produced in "an escalating game of beggar-thy-neighbor that damages the economy and chokes the government." Today demosclerosis represents the most serious threat to the long-term vitality of American government.

'Jackass' star Ryan Dunn's funeral to be protested by Westboro Baptist Church

Fri Jun 24 2011

Westboro deemed Dunn a "drab pervert" and accused him of promoting "porn-level filth? to get rich off a perverse generation."

"In His wrath, God cut off this young man in the prime of his life, because he made a mock of sin, and taught his fellow man to grievously sin against God!" the release said.

Gorging at the public trough in the name of providing 'affordable housing' for the poor

Fri Jun 24 2011

This scandal has sent the message that the leadership class is fundamentally self-dealing. Leaders on the center-right and center-left are always trying to create public-private partnerships to spark socially productive activity. But the biggest public-private partnership to date led to shameless self-enrichment and disastrous results.

It has sent the message that we have hit the moment of demosclerosis. Washington is home to a vertiginous tangle of industry associations, activist groups, think tanks and communications shops. These forces have overwhelmed the government that was originally conceived by the founders.

The final message is that members of the leadership class have done nothing to police themselves. The Wall Street-Industry-Regulator-Lobbyist tangle is even more deeply enmeshed.

Skooklife is taking a hiatus.....

Thu Jun 23 2011

Our work is done for now. We will be back later this fall to help defeat any candidates that are supported by the "new" Skook GOP, lead by Harrisburg lobbyist Joseph D. Sterns.

We don't feel that the Schuylkill County Republican Party should be run from a lobbyist's office in Harrisburg.

Vote NO on any candidate supported by Joe Sterns.
