

2. Google has not yet responded to the Complaint and the time in which to do so has not expired; plaintiffs granted Google an extension until May 28, 2008 to answer or move against the Complaint.

3. As required by 28 U.S.C. § 1446(a), attached hereto as Exhibit A are copies of the Complaint and the Acceptance of Service filed in the Action. To date, no other pleadings or orders have been served upon Google in the Action.

4. The Action is a civil action of which this Court has original jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332, and the Action may be removed to this Court pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441 and 1446. More specifically:

- a. The Complaint alleges that plaintiffs reside in Allegheny County, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Complaint, ¶ 1.
- b. At the time of the filing of the Action, Google was, and currently is, a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Mountain View, California.¹
- c. Based on the face of the Complaint, and without conceding that any claim asserted by plaintiffs has merit or is properly stated, the amount in controversy in the Action exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs. See Angus v. Shiley Inc., 989 F.2d 142, 145 (3d Cir. 1993) (amount in controversy for purposes of removal determined from complaint itself).

¹ The Complaint incorrectly avers that Google is a California corporation. Complaint, ¶ 2. Even if it were, there would still be complete diversity between plaintiffs and Google.

- d. Plaintiffs allege that Google drove up a road marked “private road” on which they live, came onto their property without permission, took photographs of their residence, and posted those photographs on the Internet thereby exposing plaintiffs to the risks associated with revealing private information to the public at large. Complaint ¶¶ 6, 9, 13, 15.
- e. Plaintiffs further aver that the conduct alleged was intentional and or grossly reckless, thereby entitling plaintiffs to an award of punitive damages. Id. ¶¶ 11, 15, 19. The prayer for punitive damages must be considered in determining the amount in controversy. Frederico v. Home Depot, 507 F.3d 188, 199 (3d Cir. 2007).
- f. Plaintiffs do not specify the total amount of damages sought, likely because Pennsylvania Rule of Civil Procedure 1021(b) prohibits a plaintiff from seeking a specified amount of damages. In actions where the complaint does not specify the amount of damages sought, remand is warranted only “if it appears to a legal certainty that the plaintiff cannot recover the jurisdictional amount.” Frederico, 507 F.3d at 197 (emphasis in original).
- g. Plaintiffs seek “in excess of $25,000” for each of their four counts. When determining amount in controversy, it is appropriate to aggregate the value of each claim. See, e.g., Government of Virgin Islands v. Sun Island Car Rentals, Inc., 819 F.2d 430, 432 (3d Cir. 1987); MGD Graphic Sys., Inc. v. A & A Bindery, Inc., 76 F.R.D. 66, 68 (E.D. Pa. 1977); see generally Charles Alan Wright et al., 6A Federal Practice & Procedure Civil § 1588 (2d ed. 2008) (“The general rule is that in an action involving a single plaintiff and a single defendant, a party may aggregate all the claims he has against an opposing party in order to satisfy the requisite jurisdictional amount.”). Thus, the Complaint itself puts in controversy in excess of $100,000 based purely on the minimum value of monetary relief sought.

- h. Moreover, the Complaint asserts a claim for violation of the right of privacy and alleges that the conduct described in the Complaint caused them mental suffering and diminished the value of their property.

Complaint ¶ 14. Compensatory and punitive damages for invasion of privacy claims in Pennsylvania have ranged from $0 to $400,000 or more. See, e.g., Doe v. Wyoming Valley Health Care System, No. 455C 1996, 2008 WL 517597 (C.P. Luzerne County Jan. 31, 2008) (award of $400,000); O’Brien v. Cannon, No. 03-CV-0262, 2003 WL 22345231 (E.D. Pa. Aug. 27, 2003) (award of $0).

- i. The Complaint also alleges that plaintiffs paid a “considerable sum of money” for their home and that Google converted value of their property. Complaint, ¶¶ 5, 27. Conversion requires that interference with property be so substantial as to require a defendant to pay full value of the property. Baram v. Farugia, 606 F.2d 42, 44 (3d Cir. 1979). Public records, of which the Court may take judicial notice, see, e.g., Anspach ex rel. Anspach v. City of Philadelphia, Dept. of Public Health, 503 F.3d 256, 273 n.11 (3d Cir. 2007), reflect the value of plaintiffs’ property to be assessed by the County at $106,000. See

<http://www2.county.allegheny.pa.us/RealEstate/General.asp?CurrBloLot=0823E00136000000&>.

- j. In sum, based upon “a reasonable reading of the value of the rights being litigated,” the Complaint plainly puts in controversy in excess of $75,000.

Angus, 989 F.2d at 145.
