

1 seeking relief under Rule 60(b), the court acts cautiously.

2 The Rule 60(b) standard is familiar. Success under that rule requires more 3 than merely casting doubt on the correctness of the underlying judgment. See 4 Karak v. Bursaw Oil Corp., 288 F.3d 15, 19 (1st Cir. 2002). Rather, Rule
5 60(b) relief is ‘extraordinary in nature’ and, thus, ‘motions invoking that rule
6 should be granted sparingly.’ Id.

7 Fisher v. Kadant, Inc., 589 F.3d 505, 512 (1st Cir. 2009).

8 First, the court finds Plaintiffs motion untimely. Judgment was entered on March 19, 2012.
9 Plaintiffs’ motion was filed September 4, 2013. While there is no specific time limit under Rule 10 60(b)(6), seeking relief eighteen months after final judgment pushes against reasonableness. See 11 Cotto v. U.S., 993 F.2d 274, 278 (1st Cir. 1993) (holding eventually litigation must come to an end).
12 Plaintiffs cannot use Section (b)(6) in a manner to escape the time constraints of Section (c)(1). See 13 id. (“Rule 60(b)(6) may not be used to escape the consequences of failure to take a timely appeal.”).
14 Plaintiffs cite nothing to support their contention that the court should entertain this motion so long 15 after the judgment was entered. For example, Plaintiffs point to Wilgus v. F/V Sirius, Inc., 665 F.
16 Supp. 2d 23 (D. Me. 2009) as requiring the court to investigate the conduct of the jury. (See Docket 17 No. 511 ¶ 17.) However, in that case, the alleged misconduct was brought to the court’s attention
18 merely days after the judgment was entered. See Wilgus, 665 F. Supp. 2d at 24. Clearly the facts 19 of Wilgus and the present case are substantially different due to the passage of time. What was an 20 appropriate investigation in Wilgus is not necessarily appropriate here. Similarly, other precedent 21 cited by Plaintiffs involves a short time period between judgment and the Rule 60 motion, or is 22 simply unclear as to the timeline of the events.

23 Second, the issue of Juror Number 4 was brought to the attention of all parties at trial. After 24 identifying the issue to the court, Juror Number 4 was questioned by the court to determine whether 25 his ability to be impartial was threatened. All counsel were present during this discussion and none 26 made an objection to retaining Juror Number 4. In and of itself, this interaction may not have 27 informed Plaintiffs that Juror Number 4 had purported knowledge of broken down settlement 28 discussions, but it did put Plaintiffs on notice that this juror knew someone involved in this litigation. At the time, Plaintiffs raised no objections to Juror Number 4 remaining on the jury.

 Third, Plaintiffs present to the court only hearsay evidence of the supposed tainted jury

1 deliberations. Plaintiffs raise a valid argument regarding their inability to directly contact the jurors
2 pursuant to Local Rule 47(d). That rule states, “Counsel and the apties shall refrain from any post-
3 verdict communication with the jurors, except under the supervision of the Court.” L.Cv.R. 47(d).
4 Therefore, in support of this motion, Plaintiffs provide two affidavits, one from Dr. Lissette Bouret
5 Echevarria and one from her attorney David P. Angueira. (See Docket Nos. 511-1 & 511-2.)
6 However, these materials are insufficient to push Plaintiffs’ claims beyond the daunting threshold
7 required by Rule 60(b). If this material were sufficient to force a court to hold an evidentiary
8 hearing, the court would be potentially required in any civil case to grant an evidentiary hearing 9 following a jury verdict based on mere rumors, regardless of how much time had elapsed since 10 judgment. Rule 60(b) is not satisfied that easily. See Neron v. Tierney, 841 F.2d 1197, 1205 (1st 11 Cir. 1988) (holding minimal evidentiary threshold must be met prior to interviewing juror regarding 12 impropriety).

13 For these reasons the court DENIES Plaintiffs motion for an evidentiary hearing and a new 14 trial at Docket No. 511.
