Inside Google Bangalore

Some call it the Garden City of India. Others call it our Silicon Valley. Any way you slice it, Bangalore is a great place to be – especially if, like us, you get to work on complex engineering challenges and build products for users around the world.

Our engineers have worked on core Google products like Ads, Apps, Chrome, Enterprise, Geo, News and Search. We've launched Google Finance, Map Maker and SMS Channels, and do important back-end work for AdWords. We're also developing key components of next-generation search infrastructure and products for users in markets with underdeveloped digital infrastructure.
