GOOGLE’S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE
NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTAL FACTS REGARDING DEFENDANTS’ MOTION TO COMPEL PLAINTIFF TO COMPLY WITH PATENT RULE 3-1 AND TO EXTEND THE TIME TO SERVE INVALIDITY CONTENTIONS

On February 19, 2010, a month after Bedrock filed its Surreply (Dkt. No. 162) in opposition to Defendants' Motion to Compel Plaintiff to Comply with Patent Rule 3-1 (Dkt. No. 133), Bedrock served a response to Google's Interrogatory No. 7. In response to Google's Interrogatory No. 7, Bedrock provided new infringement contentions for Google (but not the other Defendants), identifying lines of source code it contends infringe the asserted claims for many (but not all) of the claim limitations. Bedrock's response to Google's interrogatory seriously undermines its arguments in opposition to Defendants' Motion to Compel. Google, therefore, seeks leave of the Court to submit a brief, four-page Supplemental Notice along with supporting exhibits, filed concurrently herewith, so that the Court may consider this new development when ruling on Defendants' Motion to Compel. Good cause exists to submit the Supplemental Notice since Bedrock only served the response to Google's interrogatory a month after it served its Surreply in which it denied that it could or should provide more detailed infringement contentions. Accordingly the Court should grant Google's Motion for Leave to File a Notice of Supplemental Facts.

CERTIFICATE OF CONFERENCE

I hereby certify that counsel for Google Inc. have satisfied the meet and confer requirements of Local Rule CV-7(h). The personal conference requirement of Local Rule CV-7(h) has been met. On March 3, 2010, Todd Briggs, counsel for Google, met and conferred by telephone with Austin Curry of McKool Smith, PC, counsel for Bedrock Computer Technologies LLC regarding the relief requested in the foregoing motion. In that conference, we discussed our clients' positions. Bedrock disagreed with Google that its interrogatory response was the proper subject of a supplemental notice. These discussions conclusively ended in an impasse regarding the issues in the motion.
