To be clear, we also believe it is also unduly burdensome since it is not designed to lead to the discovery of relevant evidence: It is implausible under Lucent to argue this discovery could lead to relevant evidence on the basis offered by Eolas, that a patent within a licensed portfolio -- which itself is part of a bigger transaction -- might be comparable to one of the two Eolas patents, making the entire transaction relevant or designed to lead to relevant evidence on GP Factor 2, comparable licenses, or any other GP factor.

This said, we will confirm a time and date shortly.

Thank you for the call today. We understand the defendants refuse to produce the requested information because they contend it is not relevant. Accordingly, we request that each defendant or the defendants collectively provide us with a date for a Rule 7 meet and confer between Monday and Wednesday next week.
