JOINT MOTION FOR EXTENSION TO FILE DOCKET CONTROL ORDER

Uniloc, Activision, Adobe, Aladdin, ApexSQL, Articulate Global, Automatic Duck, BMC, Data Access, Digital River, Gear entities (2), EA, eEye, Engrasp, Final Draft, Intego, Intuit, LegalPRO Systems, National Instruments, Onyx, Pinnacle, Quinstar, Safenet, ScriptLogic, Solar Winds, Sonic, Sony, Symantec, Tableau Software, Transmagic, and Wildpackets respectfully move the court for a two-day extension of time until June 2, 2011, to submit the Docket Control Order required by the Court's May 20, 2011 order. As reflected in the certificate of conference attached hereto, since the issuance of the Court's May 20th order, the parties have worked diligently to agree upon dates for the Docket Control Order. Despite their diligence to date, the moving parties believe that a brief two-day extension will allow the parties to continue to narrow certain remaining differences on particular dates. While not all parties have expressly joined this motion, no party has expressly opposed the requested two-day extension. An order reflecting the relief requested is attached for the Court's convenience.

ATTORNEYS FOR PLAINTIFFS

CERTIFICATE OF CONFERENCE

I hereby certify that counsel for 57 of the 60 defendants has complied with the meet and confer requirements in Local Rule CV-7(h). This motion is consented to and not opposed by the parties listed below. Some parties have not participated.

The Court Issued its Order on May 20, 2011. Uniloc emailed to all defendants a proposed Discovery Offer on May 22, 2011. A group of defendants circulated a counter-proposal on May 26th. Seven group telephonic conferences were held May 27, 2011. Counsels for Uniloc and various defendants exchanged numerous emails between May 22, and May 31, 2011. Uniloc circulated modifications on May 30, 2011. A group of defendants responded with additional changes. A final meet and confer was conducted by telephone on May 31, 2011 with counsels for a number of the parties. The Discovery Order was finalized and submitted on May 31. A number of parties (34 listed below) believe a short extension of 2 days would allow the parties to narrow the open issues relating to the Docket Control Order.

Parties consenting to the Extension

Uniloc entities (2), Activision, Adobe, Aladdin entities (2), ApexSQL, Articulate Global, Automatic Duck, BMC, Data Access, Digital River, Gear entities (2), EA, eEye, Engrasp, Final Draft, Intego, Intuit, LegalPRO Systems, National Instruments, Onyx, Pinnacle, Quinstar, Safenet, ScriptLogic, Solar Winds, Sonic, Sony, Symantec, Tableau Software, Transmagic, Wildpackets
