DEFENDANT FULBRIGHT & JAWORSKI, LLP'S REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS'
RESPONSE TO FULBRIGHT'S MOTION TO COMPEL PLAINTIFFS TO PERMIT
QUESTIONING OF THOMAS R. FELGER AND R. DARRYL BURKE

TO THIS HONORABLE COURT:

COMES NOW, Fulbright & Jaworski, LLP ("Fulbright"), and files its Reply to Plaintiffs' Response to Fulbright's Motion to Compel Plaintiffs to Permit further Questioning of Darryl Burke and Tom Felger, and in support thereof, would respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. Summary

Plaintiffs continue their slow but steady retreat on their objections to discovery of their attorneys, Tom Felger ("Felger") and Darryl Burke ("Burke"), who worked with and provided advice to Plaintiffs on the '418 subsequent to Fulbright's representation of Plaintiffs.

At the time of Felger and Burke's depositions, Plaintiffs' counsel made repeated privilege objections and instructed them not to answer innumerable deposition questions. Only after the Felger deposition was over did Plaintiffs finally admit that they had wrongly asserted privilege regarding pre-April 2002 communications and they agreed to permit Fulbright to ask some questions of Burke regarding such communications. Although Plaintiffs continue to object to questions regarding Felger and Burke's impressions and assessments of the '418, Plaintiffs offer no facts or law to establish any privilege protecting such information, and instead they now argue that such information is somehow not relevant. (Response at 2, 9-10). In doing so, Plaintiffs have resorted to factually unsupportable hair-splitting over the role and activities of their counsel, and they assert positions that are belied by their own documents and testimony. The information sought is relevant and it is not privileged. Accordingly, the Court should grant Fulbright's motion.

II. Argument and Authorities

Plaintiffs do not even discuss, much less provide a counter to, Fulbright's argument that there is no privilege applicable to Felger and Burke's assessments of the '418. Indeed, Plaintiffs have studiously refused to identify what "privilege" they claim—they use that term without ever stating that a privilege actually exists or the basis for a privilege. Plaintiffs ignore that it is their burden of proof to show privilege,¹ and they offer no evidence in their Response to carry that burden. This reticence is understandable, as there has been absolutely no allegation that, prior to April 2002, plaintiffs or their counsel were "anticipating litigation" such that work product would apply, or that there was a "confidential communication" such that attorney-client privilege would apply.

Plaintiffs posit only two arguments in their response to Fulbright's motion. (See Response at 2). First they argue that Defendants' nonwaiver agreement regarding Plaintiffs' production of Felger and Burke's documents somehow precludes Fulbright from obtaining the information that is the subject of the Motion to Compel. Second, they argue that the information Fulbright seeks is irrelevant. Both arguments are wrong.

A. The September 19, 2005 Letter Agreement only applies to certain documents not at issue here.

Plaintiffs' argument regarding the September 2005 Letter Agreement is without merit because (a) there is no privilege covering this information (thus, waiver considerations are irrelevant), and (b) because Plaintiffs misconstrue the Letter Agreement reached regarding the scope of document discovery of Felger and Burke.

Should this Court decide that a privilege may apply, despite Plaintiffs' failure to produce any proof thereof, such privilege has been waived because of the offensive-use doctrine and because Plaintiffs discussed their communications with Felger and Burke in their depositions. In an attempt to preclude this discovery of Felger and Burke, Plaintiffs mischaracterize a Letter Agreement between counsel regarding whether Plaintiffs' act of producing documents that predate April 5, 2002 from Felger and Burke's files constitutes waiver of privilege governing documents that post date April 5, 2002. The Letter Agreement cited by Plaintiffs states that Plaintiffs' act of producing certain documents from Felger's files (i.e., those that pre-date April 5, 2002) did not constitute waiver of privilege with respect to other documents that post-date April 2002:

It is agreed that, by producing the above-described [pre-April 5, 2002] documents to Defendant, Plaintiffs do not waive in whole or in part, any attorney-client privilege that exists between Plaintiffs and its attorneys for documents other than those produced to Defendant.

(See Exhibit D to Plaintiffs' Response). Plainly, the non-waiver portion of the Letter Agreement only applies to certain documents (i.e., those dated after April 5, 2002), and not to the communications or impressions that are the subject of Fulbright's Motion. Plaintiffs' argument that the Letter Agreement somehow applies to their deposition testimony is also wrong as the sole subject matter of the agreement was document production.

Fulbright is not arguing that Plaintiffs' act of producing Felger and Burke's pre-April 5, 2002, documents waived any privilege. Rather, it is the well-established offensive use doctrine and Plaintiffs' deposition testimony that constitute waiver of any privilege that might otherwise attach.²

B. Felger and Burke's assessments and impressions of the '418 are relevant and discoverable.

As they cannot rely on privilege, Plaintiffs attempt to argue that the information is not relevant. Specifically, Plaintiffs contend that any assessments of the '418 held by Felger and Burke were allegedly formed while acting outside the scope their employment and therefore would "not be relevant." (Response at 2). As demonstrated in Fulbright's motion, one need only take a cursory look at the record to see that the information is relevant to limitations and the merits of Plaintiffs' claims, and that Plaintiffs' position regarding Felger and Burke's roles is artificially limiting.

The evidence shows that Felger reviewed the '418 years before Plaintiffs filed suit, and that the file history and prior art was reviewed as well. Felger testified that he reviewed the '418 in 1999. (Exhibit A, Deposition of Thomas Felger, pp. 20-21.) Additionally, Felger reviewed the '418 file history and prior art references and sought to "interpret" the claims in the '418. Consider the work described in Felger's bill to Plaintiffs for "professional services rendered through February 28, 2002":

Patent review to determine size of molecules covered in patent; interpreting claims in issued patent; continuing review of the file history for U.S. Patent 5,571,418; telephone discussion with Mr. David Radunsky concerning the file history and possible questions by Johnson & Johnson concerning the scope of the claims in U.S. Patent 5,571,418; reviewing prior art references cited by the examiner to reject the pending claims; continuing to study the file history in preparation for telephone conference with Johnson & Johnson concerning the scope of the claims in U.S. Patent 5,571,418 and other Immunocept patents/pending applications; telephone conference with Immunocept and Johnson & Johnson representatives concerning Immunocept intellectual property portfolio.

(Exhibit B (emphasis added); Exhibit A, Felger Deposition, pp. 37-38.) This time entry reflects that Felger even conducted a review of the prior art references “cited by the examiner to reject pending claims.” Id. Plaintiffs’ malpractice case centers on an amendment used to overcome the Patent Office’s rejection of the pending claims.

Despite this evidence detailing Felgers’ comprehensive review of the ‘418, Plaintiffs now seek to minimize Felger’s role and his work on the ‘418, claiming that, although he was asked to review the ‘418 patent, its file history and prior art references, he was never asked to “comprehensively review” it. (Motion at 10). Engaging in similar verbal gymnastics, Plaintiffs acknowledge that Felger reviewed the ‘418 patent, its file history and prior art to assess the scope of its protection of its claims against “slightly smaller or larger pore size filters.” (Response at 9). Yet they contend that he was not specifically asked to assess the patent “within the claimed range” of the patent. (Motion at 8). Plaintiffs’ touted Felger’s opinions about the scope of the ‘418 in pre-litigation documents, but now aver that he never really reviewed the ‘418. (Motion at p. 3 and at Exhibits C, D, E to Defendant’s Motion to Compel). At a minimum, this evidence raises serious fact questions about the scope of the representation provided by Felger, and therefore whether his knowledge may be imputed to Plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs frame the relevant limitations inquiry far too narrowly by contending that Felger and Burke were never asked specifically to look at the ‘418 to see if “malpractice had occurred in its prosecution.” (Response at 8). A cause of action accrues on a fact specific basis when the client “discovers a risk of harm to his economic interests”; the harm need not be finally established or an inevitable consequence of the conduct. See Brents v. Haynes & Boone, L.L.P., 53 S.W.3d 911, 914-15 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2001, pet. denied) (emphasis added). It does not matter for limitations purposes that the plaintiff did not know the specific cause of the alleged injury, the party responsible for it, the full extent of it, or the chances of avoiding it. PPG Indus., Inc. v. JMB/Houston Ctrs. Partners L.P., 146 S.W.3d 79, 93-94 (Tex. 2004).

Based on these principles, the issue at hand is not whether Felger or Burke was asked to look specifically at whether the '418 was prosecuted improperly, or to investigate whether "malpractice" occurred. The issue is whether, after their work reviewing the patent, working on the patent, assessing its scope, reviewing its file history, prior art, and the subject amendment, they knew or should have known facts that are the basis for Plaintiffs' claims, including but not limited to whether they thought that the patent was narrowly drawn or whether they noticed the "consisting of" language placed at issue by Plaintiffs.

With respect to these issues, one need only look to Plaintiffs' expert's testimony to conclude that Felger and Burke's knowledge is relevant to the limitations inquiry. First, Plaintiffs' patent expert Alan MacPherson has concluded that Fulbright was negligent "by adding the phrase 'consisting of' to Claim 1 of [the '418]." (Exhibit C, Deposition of Alan MacPherson, pp. 53-54.) He stated that a patent attorney could reach the conclusion "just based on looking at the claim" that "consisting of" was "of less of a scope than it would have been if the word 'comprising' was used." (Exhibit C, p. 30.) It is "generally understood," according to MacPherson, that the phrase "drastically limits" the scope of a patent. (Exhibit C, pp. 36, 50, 100-01.) When directly asked, MacPherson could not hypothesize any set of facts under which it would be non-negligent to use the term "consisting of" in an independent claim. (Exhibit C, pp. 43; 47-48; 193.) He thought it was a "big error" that should be avoided "except as a desperate last resort.” (Exhibit C, pp.101, 125.) One need not comprehensively review the file history to understand the implications that “consisting of” has on the scope of a patent. (Exhibit C, pp. 36-37.) MacPherson said that upon reviewing the ‘418 file history, he concluded that unnecessary limitations were made to the ‘418 claim language. (Exhibit C, pp. 54-56.)

Put simply, based on McPherson’s litmus tests, Plaintiffs’ patent counsel subsequent to Fulbright would have known facts relevant to Plaintiffs’ claims and causes of action, even if they had not been requested to specifically “investigate malpractice.” And under Texas law, a client becomes aware of his legal injury when his attorney has knowledge or notice of a claim, because the attorney’s knowledge is imputed to the client. Burke v. Ins. Auto Auctions Corp., 169 S.W.3d 771, 777-78 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2005, pet. denied).

The information sought is also relevant to the standard of care and whether it was breached. McPherson says that it was a “big error” and that he cannot even envision a reason for using the subject language. Indeed, Plaintiffs seek punitive damages based on the use of the “consisting of” language. Yet according to Plaintiffs, two other well-qualified IP lawyers subsequent to Fulbright (Felger and Burke)—at least one of who reviewed the scope of the patent, including its file history, prior art and amendments—never mentioned anything to Plaintiffs about the subject language. Their assessments of the ‘418 and whether they believed “consisting of” was improper or the patent was “narrow” are plainly relevant to the jury’s determination of whether Fulbright breached the standard of care.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, Fulbright respectfully requests that the Court grant its motion to compel to permit questioning of Thomas R. Felger and Darryl Burke regarding their assessments of the ‘418 prior to April 2002.

Respectfully submitted,

1 Q. Sure.

2 A. I believe I moved to the Austin office
3 probably -- I'd have to get -- I'd have to get back
4 when I moved there. It was in 1999. So I think I was 5 in Austin at this time. But I just have to -- I'd have 6 to check my records to make sure about that.

7 Q. Okay. Now, if you would look at Matson
8 Exhibit -- or Exhibit 100, which was the previous 9 document we showed you, that's the one dated June 15,
10 1999. It appears that the '418 patent was sent to you
11 on or about June 15, 1999, and then two days later an 12 engagement letter was signed. Does that seem to be the 13 history?

14 A. Yes, sir.

15 Q. Okay. Now, when you received the '418 patent,
16 what did you do?

17 A. With the '418 patent, I don't recall doing
18 anything.

19 Q. Would you have looked at it?

20 A. When it came with this letter, I doubt that I
21 looked at it.

22 Q. Okay. When is the first time, in all
23 likelihood, you would have looked at the '418 patent?

24 A. My memory is that the first time I would have 25 looked at that patent would have been when it -- I

1 can't say whether it was the first meeting with David
2 Radunsky or Dr. Matson, but it would have been either
3 the first or second meeting. There was a meeting with 4 them in the Dallas office where they -- what they 5 really talked to me about was -- my memory is they
6 talked to me about these new devices, and they gave me
7 a -- gave me -- my memory is they gave me information
8 about several new inventions, and I believe the '418
9 patent Claim 1 was discussed during that meeting.

10 Q. Okay. Do you recall approximately when that 11 meeting was?

12 A. I'm sorry, sir. I don't know whether that 13 was -- it probably would have been after -- it probably 14 would have been after this -- these June dates. It
15 probably would have been after those dates.

16 Q. But in all likelihood, would it have been in 17 1999?

18 A. It all likelihood would have been in 1999.

19 Q. Okay. Now, when you looked at the '418
20 patent, why did you do that?

21 A. The -- in these -- in this meeting and in most 22 of the -- and I would say in this meeting and early on,
23 almost every meeting, it came up about there's a range
24 on a filter that's described in that '418 patent, and 25 I'm sure that we talked about that range on the filter.

1 Q. Let me --

2 A. Or we might have had it prior to that. I just
3 don't -- I just don't recall for a fact.

4 Q. Let me show you what has been marked as 5 Exhibit 142, which is a copy of a Baker-Botts' bill or 6 invoice dated March 26th, 2002.

7 A. Yes, sir.

8 Q. Is this -- would you have been the one sending 9 this out?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And I take it --

12 A. Yes. Yes, I did. Yes, I would have sent this 13 out.

14 Q. You would have reviewed it before it went out?

15 A. Yes, sir.

16 Q. All right. There's a reference in here -- and 17 let me just point. It says, "Patent review to 18 determine size of molecules covered in patent." And 19 that's this 100 to 150 kilodalton we've been talking 20 about?

21 A. Yes, sir.

22 Q. And then it goes on to say, "Continuing to 23 review of the file history for U.S. patent" -- and I'm 24 just going to shorten it -- "'418"?

25 A. Right.

1 Q. Would that suggest that at least in February
2 of 2002, you had the file history for the '418 patent?

3 A. Yeah. That would be this date here, February
4 6th.

5 Q. Right. And then it shows you had a telephone
6 discussion with Mr. Radunsky concerning the file
7 history?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And "possible questions by Johnson & Johnson
10 concerning the scope of the claims in U.S. patent 11 '418"?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And I take it those references in the 14 statement are accurate?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And then there's another reference that says,
17 "Continuing to study the file history in preparation
18 for telephone conference with Johnson & Johnson"?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And I'm going to shorten this, "concerning the 21 scope of the claims in the '418 patent"?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. And you did have a telephone conference with 24 Johnson & Johnson about that?

25 A. There were -- I'm pretty sure -- I can't --

10:10:22 1 just said that you might determine from the file
10:10:23 2 history that adding "consisting of" might have been the 10:10:26 3 only way to get a claim issued, right?

10:10:29 4 A. You were talking about a speculative
10:10:31 5 possibility, and I said yes.

10:10:32 6 Q. Right. And that's what I'm -- I am talking
10:10:34 7 about hypotheticals.

10:10:35 8 But nonetheless, regardless of why someone 10:10:42 9 had to use "consisting of" language, or even if they 10:10:46 10 didn't have to use "consisting of" language, you would 10:10:48 11 know just from looking at the face of the patent that 10:10:51 12 it was limited, right?

10:10:54 13 A. It was of less of a scope than it would have 10:11:01 14 been if the word "comprising" was used. I think that 10:11:06 15 probably that's -- that's a conclusion you could come
10:11:10 16 to just based on looking at the claim.

10:11:14 17 Q. Now you earlier, a few questions ago, were 10:11:18 18 talking about -- you could look at the file history and 10:11:22 19 determine for what reason the "consisting of" language
10:11:26 20 was added and if it was necessary based on the back and 10:11:30 21 forth with the examiner, right?

10:11:32 22 A. You would look at the file history and hope
10:11:36 23 that you could find that.

10:11:37 24 Q. Now that goes to whether or not the 10:11:49 25 "consisting of" was necessary. But would review of the 10:20:10 1 would make "consisting of" in that Claim 1 of the '418

10:20:17 2 patent broader than -- than what you have opined it is 10:20:22 3 in your expert report?

10:20:24 4 A. I can't think of how any comments in the file
10:20:35 5 history would broaden the meaning of "consisting of" as 10:20:40 6 I sit here now.

10:20:40 7 Q. So when you look at the '418 without looking 10:20:44 8 at its file history, you know that Claim 1 is very 10:20:50 9 limiting, period?

10:20:52 10 A. I know that it uses a phrase "consisting of."

10:20:59 11 Q. And you know that that is very limiting on 10:21:01 12 the scope of the claim, period?

10:21:04 13 A. I know that the interpretation given to that 10:21:07 14 phrase is as I have said, and it's much more limiting 10:21:11 15 than the word "comprising."

10:21:12 16 Q. And you don't need to look at the file
10:21:14 17 history to determine that?

10:21:15 18 A. The meaning of the phrase "consisting of" is 10:21:19 19 generally understood in the patent notes.

10:21:23 20 Q. That's not my question. I am asking: When 10:21:25 21 you look at that phrase "consisting of" in the '418
10:21:28 22 patent, you know that it's limiting and you don't need
10:21:32 23 to look at the file history to know that the '418 is 10:21:36 24 much more limited with "consisting of" than it would be 10:21:39 25 with "comprising"?

10:21:43 1 A. Well, that I think is correct.

10:21:45 2 Q. And nothing about reviewing the file history

10:21:52 3 is going to change that fact?

10:21:55 4 A. Nothing in the file history will change the 10:22:04 5 meaning that's given to the phrase "consisting of"

10:22:07 6 compared to the word "comprising," that is, to the 10:22:11 7 meaning given to the word "comprising."

10:22:14 8 Q. Nothing in the file history it follows would

10:22:41 9 make you possibly change your opinion about the

10:22:47 10 narrowness of the "consisting of" language in the '418

10:22:53 11 patent?

10:22:53 12 A. I think that's correct.

10:23:01 13 Q. Let me make clear that -- I'm asking the

10:23:05 14 question hypothetically. Before you review the file

10:23:07 15 history, you know that there is nothing in the file

10:23:09 16 history that is going to make the "consisting of"

10:23:11 17 language in Claim 1 seem broader than it is on the face

10:23:14 18 of just the patent itself?

10:23:26 19 A. I think that's right. The reason I'm

10:23:30 20 hesitating is that the phrase "consisting of" has an

10:23:33 21 established meaning, and when you look at that phrase

10:23:37 22 generally, you look at it in the context of that

10:23:40 23 established meaning.

10:23:45 24 Q. So if you -- we talked earlier about what you

10:23:47 25 need to review the file history to determine whether it

10:33:25 1 A. I would have to look at the circumstances
10:33:31 2 associated with the use of the phrase "consisting of"
10:33:35 3 in a hypothetical situation before I would say that 10:33:37 4 there was negligence.

10:33:38 5 Q. And you would have to look at the 10:33:40 6 circumstances because it's not necessarily always 10:33:43 7 negligent, right?

10:33:44 8 A. I would want to -- I'm a cautious person. I
10:33:48 9 would want to know why the person did what they did
10:33:51 10 before I came to any conclusion.

10:34:03 11 Q. So sitting here today, you can't hypothesize
10:34:12 12 any set of facts under which it would be non-negligent
10:34:16 13 to use the term "consisting of" in an independent
10:34:19 14 claim?

10:34:19 15 A. I have difficulty doing so, yes.

10:34:25 16 Q. Does use of the term "consisting of" in the 10:34:35 17 independent claim always lessen the value of a patent?

10:34:39 18 A. The word "always" is one I try to avoid using 10:35:07 19 because, who knows, there may be exceptions. But in 10:35:10 20 general, I would say yes, that the use of the word
10:35:12 21 "consisting of" in an independent claim is not good;
10:35:16 22 that you would have less of a value associated with 10:35:19 23 that claim than if you used the word "comprising."

10:35:22 24 Q. Can you give any sort of explanation, whether 10:35:24 25 you want to choose qualitative or quantitative? How

10:40:13 1 in the patent area.

10:40:14 2 Q. So if that's the general rule, when you see
10:40:20 3 "consisting of" in an independent claim of a patent,
10:40:26 4 would you begin with the presumption that some sort of 10:40:31 5 negligence has occurred?

10:40:33 6 A. I can't recall having seen the phrase
10:40:41 7 "consisting of" other than the '418 patent at the 10:40:44 8 moment, but again, it depends on why I am looking at 10:40:48 9 the patent. As I said, most of the time when we're 10:40:51 10 looking at patents, we are not looking to determine the 10:40:54 11 claim coverage unless we are doing a right-to-use
10:40:57 12 study; then, of course, we would look at the phrase
10:41:00 13 "consisting of" and why it was added. But before I
10:41:02 14 jump to any conclusions, what I do is I -- as I say, I
10:41:05 15 look at the prosecution history.

10:41:09 16 Q. Well, again -- but you have said that the 10:41:11 17 prosecution history doesn't impact the fact that 10:41:16 18 "consisting of" limits the patent, right?

10:41:17 19 A. That's true.

10:41:18 20 Q. So you know from looking at the face of the 10:41:20 21 patent that it's limited by the "consisting of"
10:41:23 22 language, right?

10:41:23 23 A. That is correct.

10:41:24 24 Q. And you can't imagine many circumstances when 10:41:26 25 it makes sense to use "consisting of"?

10:41:28 1 A. That's correct.

10:41:29 2 Q. So if you are looking at the Claim 1 and see

10:41:33 3 "consisting of," then there is probably some sort of 10:41:39 4 negligence in your opinion, right?

10:41:41 5 A. Negligence is the conclusion that is a final

10:41:47 6 conclusion, I should say, in this situation. So before

10:41:50 7 I jump to a final conclusion, I'm just careful and I

10:41:53 8 look at the file history to see if there are some

10:41:56 9 explanation that I may not be able to imagine. I don't

10:41:58 10 pretend to know all reasons why all people do all

10:42:01 11 things, and so I would just be careful.

10:42:04 12 Q. Well -- and I understand you would be careful

10:42:06 13 and look at it, but you want to be careful and look at,

10:42:09 14 at the file history, after seeing "consisting of" in

10:42:12 15 Claim 1 because it's tough for you to imagine a good

10:42:17 16 reason for doing that, right?

10:42:18 17 A. Yes. It's difficult for me to understand why

10:42:24 18 the phrase "consisting of" may have been put in the 10:42:27 19 claims; that's correct.

10:42:28 20 Q. And I'm not talking about the '418 here.

10:42:31 21 A. I understand.

10:42:32 22 Q. I'm talk in general. So in general, if you

10:42:34 23 see a Claim 1 that has "consisting of," you would want

10:42:40 24 to look at the file history because there might be

10:42:43 25 something wrong with the prosecution; is that your

10:44:07 1 the phrase "consisting of" may have been a mistake. I
10:44:08 2 mean, it could have been any one of a number of reasons
10:44:12 3 that the phrase "consisting of" was used there. So you
10:44:15 4 are asking me to speculate and -- on a hypothetical,
10:44:19 5 and I can't tell you what the actual reasons would be 10:44:24 6 unless we have, you know, a specific situation.

10:44:27 7 Q. In a general sense, would you say that the 10:44:31 8 use of "consisting of" in Claim 1 of a patent would 10:44:38 9 drastically limit the scope of the patent?

10:44:41 10 A. I think I've said that I believe that's the 10:44:43 11 case.

10:44:43 12 Q. And you don't need to look at a file history
10:44:53 13 to determine that that's a drastic limitation?

10:45:00 14 A. I would look at the file history to confirm 10:45:04 15 that conclusion.

10:45:04 16 Q. But you are confirming a conclusion that you
10:45:08 17 had from the face of the patent, right?

10:45:09 18 A. I'm confirming initial impression.

10:45:18 19 MR. TILLOTSON: I'm sorry. I didn't mean to 10:45:19 20 interrupt you, but when you reach a stopping point
10:45:21 21 could we just take a short rest room break?

10:45:24 22 MR. GANNAWAY: Sure. I am getting there.

10:45:26 23 MR. TILLOTSON: Okay.

10:45:26 24 Q. BY MR. GANNAWAY: Does it make a difference
10:45:35 25 whether the "consisting of" phrase is used in a

10:59:17 1 the prosecution history of Exhibit 24?

10:59:23 2 A. I was asked to provide an opinion with

10:59:35 3 respect to what I thought of the prosecution of this

10:59:39 4 patent.

10:59:40 5 Q. Is it your opinion that attorneys from

10:59:43 6 Fulbright and Jaworski who worked on the '418 patent

10:59:48 7 were negligent?

10:59:51 8 A. I believe so, yes.

10:59:53 9 Q. In what way?

10:59:56 10 A. By adding the phrase "consisting of" to Claim

10:59:59 11 1 of this patent.

11:00:00 12 Q. Is there any other reason that you believe a

11:00:09 13 Fulbright attorney or the law firm was negligent other

11:00:12 14 than adding "consisting of" to Claim 1 of the '418

11:00:15 15 patent?

11:00:17 16 A. Well, there may have been things that should

11:00:32 17 have been done ancillary to that -- in addition to that

11:00:35 18 phrase, such as filing a continuation application to

11:00:38 19 continue the prosecution so as to get a claim with

11:00:41 20 broader coverage, and I didn't see that that had been

11:00:47 21 done and so that would be another aspect of the basis

11:00:54 22 of my conclusion.

11:00:55 23 Q. So you believe that Fulbright and Jaworski

11:00:58 24 was negligent in adding the "consisting of" phrase to

11:01:02 25 Claim 1 and in not filing a continuation to the '418

11:01:07 1 application; is that right?

11:01:08 2 A. That's correct.

11:01:12 3 Q. Are there any other reasons that you allege

11:01:16 4 that Fulbright or its attorneys were negligent?

11:01:21 5 A. That's what I recall at this time.

11:01:50 6 Q. What else could you review that might lead

11:01:53 7 you to any other theories about Fulbright's negligence?

11:01:58 8 A. Well, if there are any other records or other

11:02:13 9 documents or other testimony that I haven't seen there

11:02:16 10 may be other bases too, but --

11:02:20 11 Q. Sitting here today, you have come to the 11:02:28 12 opinion that Fulbright was negligent for the

11:02:32 13 "consisting of" amendment to Claim 1 and for not filing

11:02:35 14 a continuation, and that's it?

11:02:39 15 A. That's the basis of my conclusion right now.

11:02:46 16 Q. Do you intend to add to the basis of that 11:02:51 17 conclusion before trial?

11:02:53 18 A. I may. I don't know.

11:02:54 19 Q. What will shape that decision?

11:03:02 20 A. If I see any other documents -- I don't know

11:03:05 21 whether I will or not -- or other evidence.

11:03:08 22 Q. Tell me what you first thought when you

11:03:16 23 reviewed the '418 for the first time.

11:03:22 24 A. I don't recall what I first thought, but I

11:03:29 25 can tell you that when I reviewed the file history and

11:03:35 1 the '418 patent and the Claim 1 of the '418 patent I
11:03:50 2 thought that a mistake had been made in adding the 11:03:59 3 phrase "consisting of" to the claim.

11:04:00 4 Q. So to make the determination that in your 11:04:03 5 opinion a mistake had been made in adding the 11:04:07 6 "consisting of" language in Claim 1 of the '418 patent,
11:04:10 7 you looked at the patent itself and the file history?

11:04:14 8 A. That's correct.

11:04:15 9 Q. Is there anything else that you looked at in 11:04:18 10 making the determination that in your opinion
11:04:22 11 negligence had occurred?

11:04:23 12 A. Well, I looked at all of the documents in 11:04:26 13 addition to the patent and the file history which are 11:04:31 14 shown in Exhibit D.

11:04:32 15 Q. Well, what would a patent attorney need to 11:04:35 16 review to make the determination that you did that 11:04:40 17 negligence had occurred in the prosecution process of 11:04:44 18 the '418?

11:04:45 19 A. Well, certainly the materials that I
11:04:59 20 reviewed, including the explanations of -- of what 11:05:07 21 happened as set forth in, for example, the various 11:05:13 22 papers that are listed in Exhibit D.

11:05:22 23 Q. So -- well, I'm trying to -- what I am trying 11:05:29 24 to get as is, what at a minimum would a patent attorney
11:05:33 25 need to review to determine that negligence had

11:05:37 1 occurred, as you opined, in the prosecution of the '418
11:05:42 2 patent?

11:05:44 3 A. Well, I looked at the patent, I looked at the 11:05:49 4 file history and then other documents to see if there
11:05:54 5 was an explanation of why, in fact, what we have in 11:06:01 6 Claim 1 of the '418 patent is what it is at this time.

11:06:06 7 Q. Is it your testimony that just reviewing the 11:06:10 8 '418 and its file history was not enough to draw the 11:06:14 9 conclusion that negligence had occurred in the 11:06:17 10 prosecution of the '418?

11:06:18 11 A. Well, I looked at the file history and I came 11:06:26 12 to the conclusion that there were some limitations
11:06:30 13 added to the Claim 1 of the '418 patent that didn't
11:06:35 14 have to be added in order to distinguish over the prior 11:06:40 15 art reference. And then I looked at other papers to 11:06:44 16 see if there was some explanation for why this was 11:06:49 17 done, and at the end I came to the conclusion that the 11:06:52 18 phrase "consisting of," end quote, was probably 11:06:56 19 improperly added.

11:06:58 20 Q. You reached a conclusion after just reviewing 11:07:06 21 the patent in the file history, though, that the 11:07:09 22 addition of "consisting of" was unnecessary, right?

11:07:12 23 A. I had the impression that it was unnecessary,
11:07:20 24 but in looking at further materials I had no
11:07:27 25 explanation explaining why that phrase was added, and 13:22:14 1 patent attorney to work effectively in this area.

13:22:18 2 Q. You believe that you, with your technical 13:22:21 3 background, were equipped to determine whether or not 13:22:24 4 the "consisting of" language in the '418 was 13:22:27 5 appropriate, right?

13:22:27 6 A. I believe so.

13:22:28 7 Q. Do you have any reason to believe that any of 13:22:30 8 the Fulbright attorneys who were with Fulbright while 13:22:35 9 the '418 was being prosecuted were not equipped by 13:22:39 10 their technical background to determine whether the use 13:22:42 11 of the "consisting of" language in '418 patent was 13:22:45 12 appropriate or not?

13:22:49 13 A. I haven't considered that. I have no basis
13:22:51 14 to comment on that one way or the other.

13:22:53 15 Q. Do you think anyone supervising Ms. Brashears
13:23:02 16 during the patent prosecution would need to have a
13:23:05 17 background in a particular kind of science to determine
13:23:10 18 whether or not the use of the "consisting of" language
13:23:13 19 was appropriate?

13:23:14 20 A. I don't think that it was necessary to have a 13:23:25 21 specific background in a specific science to determine 13:23:28 22 whether the phrase "consisting of" was appropriate in 13:23:30 23 this context.

13:23:32 24 Q. Okay.

13:23:32 25 A. In fact, I think that the phrase "consisting 13:23:37 1 of" really is a phrase that is legally defined and a 13:23:43 2 lot different background attorneys would know what his 13:23:48 3 limitations were.

13:23:49 4 Q. Specifically a patent attorney would know
13:23:51 5 what his limitations are?

13:23:52 6 A. Specifically a patent attorney, yes.

13:23:54 7 Q. Were you asked to determine in this case what 13:23:59 8 sort of claim language the examiner would have 13:24:03 9 permitted if the '418 had been prosecuted differently?

13:24:14 10 A. I don't recall being asked specifically that 13:24:18 11 question. I recall, though, in going through the 13:24:22 12 papers, coming to the conclusion that the phrase
13:24:28 13 "consisting of" did not have to be added to the claim.
13:24:32 14 In fact, in an earlier answer I think I said that I
13:24:37 15 thought that Ms. Brashears, when she, you know, would 13:24:41 16 -- should have told the client what the meaning of the 13:24:45 17 phrase "consisting of" was when she talked to the 13:24:47 18 client, if you remember that.

13:24:48 19 But as a practical matter, I think that the 13:24:51 20 advice that "consisting of" had to be added to the 13:24:55 21 claim is wrong, because it did not have to be added to 13:24:57 22 the claim. And so I think that was a big error on her
13:24:59 23 part, and I'm not sure that just advising the client of 13:25:03 24 the meaning of the word "consisting of" in that context
13:25:06 25 solves the problem.

DEPOSITION OF ALAN MACPHERSON

101

14:00:03 1 to the examiner the distinction that was argued without 14:00:08 2 putting the "consisting of" language in.

14:00:09 3 Q. Do you agree with me that arguing with the 14:00:12 4 examiner might be unsuccessful?

14:00:13 5 A. Well, even with the "consisting of" language
14:00:17 6 in it I think it was unsuccessful. They got another
14:00:21 7 rejection. But I think that I would have done that 14:00:26 8 because I would have avoided putting "consisting of" in 14:00:29 9 except as a desperate last resort, and I don't think 14:00:33 10 they were there. I don't think it was necessary even 14:00:36 11 then, frankly, because I think the claim language does 14:00:37 12 distinguish over the art.

14:00:39 13 Q. You said before that you would never 14:00:45 14 guarantee to a client that a claim, as you wrote it,
14:00:49 15 will certainly be accepted by the examiner, right?

14:00:52 16 A. I don't guarantee that claims will be 14:00:56 17 accepted, yes.

14:00:57 18 Q. If Immunocept -- I'm sorry.

14:01:01 19 If the inventors told Fulbright, We want to 14:01:03 20 make sure we get this patent issued quickly, and we 14:01:07 21 understand that if you try and differentiate the prior 14:01:10 22 art we might not be successful in this next iteration
14:01:14 23 of getting the claim issued, do you agree with me that 14:01:16 24 that's -- that under those circumstances using the term
14:01:21 25 "consisting of" would be more likely to have the patent

16:18:50 1 A. I see that.

16:18:50 2 Q. As you have just defined it, doesn't
16:18:53 3 hemofiltering blood with a filter include replacing
16:18:56 4 albumin?

16:18:59 5 A. I had interpreted hemofiltering blood with a
16:19:06 6 filter as replacing albumin. And I don't think
16:19:09 7 that that is the way hemofiltering blood with a filter
16:19:14 8 is defined in this patent, but that was the way I read
16:19:18 9 the patent, it does not include that step. That would 16:19:22 10 be a claim construction issue.

16:19:24 11 Q. Could reasonable patent attorneys differ on 16:19:28 12 their conclusion regarding that claim construction
16:19:31 13 issue?

16:19:32 14 A. I'm sure patent attorneys would make 16:19:34 15 arguments probably on that issue.

16:19:36 16 Q. Could they make good faith arguments on 16:19:41 17 either direction on that issue?

16:19:45 18 A. Well, I think the phrase "consisting of" is 16:19:51 19 one that would be restricting this particular step to 16:20:00 20 just the filtering of the blood with a filter, and not 16:20:04 21 the addition of albumin to compensate for albumin that 16:20:06 22 was taken out. I think "consisting of" is a very 16:20:10 23 restrictive phrase.

16:20:17 24 Q. In Paragraph 9 of your report you point to 16:20:29 25 some language that was in Claim 2 of a July 1994 CIP

I, AUDREY S. KOLTERER, duly authorized to administer oaths pursuant to Section 2093(b) of the California Code of Civil Procedure, do hereby certify that the witness in the foregoing deposition was by me duly sworn to testify the truth in the within-entitled cause; that said deposition was taken at the time and place therein cited; that the testimony of said witness was reported by me and thereafter transcribed under my direction into typewriting; that the foregoing is a complete and accurate record of said testimony; and that the witness was given an opportunity to read and correct said deposition and to subscribe the same.

Should the signature of the witness not be affixed to the deposition, the witness shall not have availed himself of the opportunity to sign or the signature has been waived.

I further certify that I am not of counsel nor attorney for any of the parties in the foregoing deposition and caption named nor in any way interested in the outcome of the cause named in said caption.
