Re: I/P Engine, Inc. v. AOL, Inc. et al.

Dear Charles:

I am writing in regards to your February 7, 2012 letter inquiring “whether Google Search uses click-through rates or data to rank/return search results.” While not entirely clear, it appears that you are asking us to essentially confirm that Google never uses in any way historical data regarding how users interact with search results, in relation to the return of search results. We are not able to confirm that. However, we do not see how this requested confirmation is necessary for Plaintiff to drop any infringement allegation as to Google Search, an allegation that should never have been brought in the first place.

Very truly yours,

David A. Perlson
