FILED IN THE
U.S. DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

NOV 23 2005

JAMES R. LARSEN, CLERK
DEPUTY
RICHLAND, WASHINGTON

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AT RICHLAND

James S. Gordon, Jr., Plaintiff, vs.

Impulse Marketing Group, Inc.,
Defendant

Impulse Marketing Group, Inc.,
Third-Party Plaintiff,

v.

James S. Gordon III,
Third-Party Defendant

Case No.: CV-04-5125-FVS

RESPONSE TO THIRD PARTY
PLAINTIFF'S MEMORANDUM
IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANT
AND THIRD PARTY
PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO AMEND THIRD PARTY
COMPLAINT

TO: Clerk of the Court

AND TO: Floyd E. Ivey, Attorney for Third-Party Plaintiff

INTRODUCTION

2 Impulse has made some minor changes to the language of its
3 amended complaint and re-submitted it for the third or fourth time to 4 this Court. Even with these changes, Impulse fails to state a claim for 5 which relief can be granted as no new cause of action or no new fact
6 which would entitle Impulse for relief was proffered.

7 In fact, without admitting the fraud and deceit attendant to 8 making fraudulent claims of prizes and money won, and then alleging
9 my alleged involvement in this fraud (their fraudulent activities pre-
10 existed any opt-in allegations made by Impulse), there can be no claim 11 for which relief can be granted as their claims to date are mere 12 sophistry.

13
14 The changes made to the complaint by Impulse include:

- 15 1. I no longer represented myself as myself, but rather my dad
16 misrepresented himself as me (and others). No facts were 17 proffered in support of that claim – a simple sign-up page with the 18 related sign-up data would be helpful, but if such a document
19 existed it would evidence the fraud of not fulfilling the alleged –
20 but non-existent contract Impulse insists exists.
- 21 2. No facts are asserted by Impulse to support the claim of a 22 conspiracy, which Impulse alleges. The alleged conspiracy
23 concerns an alleged scheme to sue Impulse for sending commercial
24 email that allegedly violates RCW 19.190. The notion of re-

1        subscribing repeatedly to these fraudulent offers once
2        unsubscribed is not supported by any facts.

3        3. Impulse did not claim or allege that they had sent any free gift or 4        money won to me. And if they claim fraud and deceit were the 5        reasons for not sending same, they must, necessarily, supply facts
6        which support such alleged fraud and deceit, e.g. the sign-up
7        page(s) which demonstrate same.

9                                  Lack of Standing

10       Impulse does not have standing to assert claims on behalf of 11       unnamed marketing partners. None of the sites referenced in Impulse's
12       amended complaints belonged to Impulse at the time of the alleged opt-
13       ins and Impulse fails to allege its ownership or provide facts concerning 14       its ownership of same.

15       Lacking standing to assert claims concerning the 1) alleged 16       misrepresentations by Plaintiff to unnamed marketing partners as 17       Impulse did not allege or claim ownership of the named web sites 2)
18       alleged conspiracy to defraud unnamed marketing partners as the 19       named web sites belonged to unnamed parties 3) purported exchange of 20       consideration as Impulse has not claimed or alleged that it or its 21       unnamed marketing partners sent any free gift or money won to me or 22       any third party defendant from web sites belonging to unnamed parties.

23       Therefore, Impulse's current claims and amended claims and any 24       progeny should be dismissed under FRCP 12(b)6.

Third party defendant re-asserts facts, claims, and information made in his motion to dismiss presently before this Court. Based on information and belief, Impulse lacks standing to assert rights and claims and causes of actions, which are the prerogative of the as of yet unnamed allegedly injured party, i.e. the unnamed parties owning the web sites that Plaintiff allegedly opted-in at. If any injury was sustained by Impulse it was the result of direct or indirect action or lack of action by its own unnamed marketing partners. The rightful unnamed web page owners' silence on these claims speaks to the temerity of Impulse in business as well as law.

Lacking standing to assert a claim or cause of action on the behalf of unnamed third party marketers for "indemnification and contribution", "fraud and deceit," "tortious interference with business relationships," "breach of contract," and "injunctive relief", Impulse fails to state a claim for which it can be granted relief. As a result, Impulse's lawsuit against me should be dismissed under FRCP 12(b)6 with prejudice.
