Les championnes Russes

Malgré leur fantastique succès le dernier temps, les filles d'USVO ont perdu leur titre de championnes d'Europe au profit des Russes d'Ekaterinburg (82-80). Au cours d'une finale d'un très haut niveau et d'une grande intensité, les filles de Laurent Buffard n'ont pas réussi à remonter les 20 points de retard, en laissant les Russes gagner.

Bourges battues par les Tchèques

L'équipe berrichonne n'a pas pu enlever la troisième place du Final Four 2003 et a été battue par une solide équipe tchèque de Brno (93-54). Sans Cathy Melain et Boba Tuvic, Bourges n'a pas pu faire face à la situation et a perdu le contrôle du jeu.

DR CARLOS GOMES COMMENTS ON THE RELATIONSHIP WITH CHAVDA & ASSOCIATES

'Instead of isolated individual procurement policies we are looking to use synergies to reduce costs,' Gomes says. 'the partnership between ourselves and Chavda is to ensure we obtain the best quality products on the market at the best prices, with the shortest lead times. In this way we can optimise the services we provide to the mining operations in Angola.'

We chose Chavda & Associates because it has been dealing with Angola's mining sector for some time, and it has the expertise to ensure we achieve our goals. The relationship

This is Lisa Latham's front page. In it, she uses self-deprecating humor in a sly attempt to impress you.

Lisa uses her fancy boarding school/Harvard education to write about breast pumps, sore nipples, getting bitten by her children and other painful skin conditions associated with domestic life. Her favorite piece available here is probably "Breastpumping at 70 MPH" which ran in Salon.com (see link on the Online Clips page), but it will soon be joined by a piece for Men's Health entitled "The Sexiest Man I Know." when they run the special edition they've pegged it to or they run out of glitzy photos of six-pack abs, whichever comes first. Same goes for "The W-Word," languishing at Babytalk, "The Four Year Couch" written for the New York Times, and a bunch of pieces assigned by the Los Angeles Times Home section.

Until these pieces hit newsstands, please enjoy the links to her online work or drop her a line to get a fax or .pdf of her many restaurant reviews for travel magazines (in particular, her cover article/feature story on "The Education of an LA Chowhound," her collection of best and worst moments from the Academy Awards, "The Knitting Hormone" or any number of pieces about spicy food, diapers, domestic bliss, etiquette and other scarily feminine topics seen from a decidedly un-frilly point of view.

Lisa has published dozens of articles only available in print, which she keeps promising to excerpt online and then scan as a .pdf for easier download, much to the dismay of her webmaster, the inimitable Puttyhead. For now, you can find a joke or two from a few of them on the "Samples" page. The articles which have just not yet run can be excerpted briefly if requested by email, but cannot be made available as .pdf's for fear of irritating their editors — any further.
