UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

In Re:

LLS AMERICA, LLC,

Debtor,

BRUCE P. KRIEGMAN, solely in his capacity as court-appointed Chapter 11
Trustee for LLS America, LLC,

Plaintiff,

v.

LAZY M, LLC, et al.,

Defendants.

NO: 12-CV-668-RMP

Bankr. Case No. 09-06194-FPC11

Adv. Proc. No. 11-80125-FPC

FINDINGS OF FACT AND
CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

This consolidated action was tried before the Court commencing on January 20, 2015. Plaintiff, Bruce P. Kriegman, the court-appointed Chapter 11
Trustee for LLS America, LLC (“Trustee”), was represented by Shelley N. Ripley and Daniel J. Gibbons of Witherspoon Kelley.

1 All Defendants are pro se litigants. Defendants Anthony Cilwa, Beverly
2 Gyenizse, and David Perry participated telephonically. Defendant Anthony Cilwa 3 filed for bankruptcy and confirmed on the record that he was not seeking to have 4 the bankruptcy stay set aside or to have his counterclaims considered at this time.
5 The Trustee indicated that he would not pursue his claim against deceased
6 Defendant Victoria Cilwa, whom the Trustee assumed would have filed for 7 bankruptcy with her husband if she had survived. No other Defendants
8 participated at trial. The record reflects that Defendant Mark Trikowsky also filed 9 for bankruptcy.

10 The Court heard the testimony of the parties' witnesses and, having 11 reviewed the admitted exhibits and being fully informed, makes the following 12 findings of fact and conclusions of law:

13 PREVIOUS RULINGS

14 1. Ponzi Scheme and Insolvency

15 On July 1, 2013, the Bankruptcy Court issued its Report and 16 Recommendation Re Plaintiff's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment on 17 Common Issues ("Report and Recommendation") recommending that the District
18 Court grant the Trustee's Amended Motion for Partial Summary Judgment on two 19 "Common Issues": (1) Debtor operated a Ponzi scheme; and (2) Debtor was 20 insolvent at the time of its transfers to Defendants. On August 19, 2013, this

1 Court adopted the Bankruptcy Court’s Report and Recommendation and entered
2 an order granting the Trustee’s Amended Motion for Partial Summary Judgment
3 on the Common Issues (“Order Adopting Report and Recommendation”). See
4 2:11-cv-00357-RMP, ECF No. 92. Therefore, this Court has determined that 5 Debtor operated a Ponzi scheme and was insolvent at the time of each of the 6 transfers to Defendants.

7 All of the findings and conclusions set forth in the Report and 8 Recommendation and the Order Adopting Report and Recommendation are 9 incorporated by this reference and are the law of this case.

10 2. Omnibus Hearing for the Testimony of Charles B. Hall

11 On January 31, 2014, this Court entered its Order Granting Plaintiff’s
12 Motion for Omnibus Hearing. ECF No. 20. Pursuant to that Order, the court-
13 appointed examiner, Charles B. Hall, testified at an Omnibus Hearing in open 14 court commencing on February 25, 2014. His testimony consists of written direct 15 examination testimony that was filed on or about February 17, 2014, and the oral 16 testimony that he gave at the Omnibus Hearing. Mr. Hall was cross examined by 17 several defense attorneys and by some pro se defendants. Mr. Hall’s testimony at 18 the Omnibus Hearing is part of the record in this adversary action.

FINDINGS OF FACT

2 1. Debtor is the Little Loan Shoppe group of companies, which was 3 formed originally in 1997. PO-1 at 11.

4 2. Debtor operated a Ponzi scheme, whereby investors' loans sometimes 5 were used to pay other investors' promised returns on investments. PO-1 at 16.

6 3. Over the course of its existence, Debtor acquired approximately 7 $135.4 million from investments made by individual lenders, usually documented 8 by promissory notes offering interest returns in the range of 40% to 60% per 9 annum. PO-1 at 7 n.2, 15.

10 4. Debtor accumulated payday loan bad debts of approximately $29
11 million, which were written off in 2009. PO-1 at 41.

12 5. Debtor was never profitable at any time during its existence and at no 13 time did it generate sufficient profits to pay the amounts due the lenders. PO-1 at 14 16, 53.

15 6. Defendants are lenders who received payments from Debtor.

16 7. Defendants filed proofs of claim and/or the relevant conduct largely 17 occurred in Spokane, Washington.

18 8. Some of the promissory notes were executed in Spokane. See e.g., P-
19 21 at 5 (Gyenizse); P-31 at 3 (Haer); P-52 at 1 (Ponton); P-61 at 3 (Pacifica); P-71
20 at 3 (Perry); P-81 at 16 (Armstrong); P-92 at 8 (Lazy M).

1           9. Debtor gave lenders, including Defendants, post-dated checks to 2 cover interest payments, but some checks had insufficient funds to cover payment 3 of the checks or no longer had an active account with the drawee bank when the 4 date for payment arrived. See, e.g., P-76 at 32 (Perry); P-25 (Gyenizse); P-35
5 (Haer); P-66 at 11 (Pacifica); P-85 at 1 (Armstrong).

6           10. Debtor voided approximately 29,000 of the post-dated checks that it
7 had issued to lenders. PO-1 at 26.

8           11. Some Defendants received promissory notes that were rolled into or 9 renewed in other promissory notes. See, e.g., P-21 at 5 (Gyenizse); P-31 at 3
10 (Haer); P-61 at 3 (Pacifica); P-71 at 3 (Perry); P-81 at 16 (Armstrong).

11           12. All of the transfers that the Trustee seeks to avoid were made within 12 the period of September 1997 to July 21, 2009.

13           13. Indicia and characteristics of the Ponzi scheme present in this case 14 include:

15           a. Proceeds received from new investors masked as profits from 16 running a payday loan business; PO-1 at 16, 22;

17           b. Promise of a high rate of return, usually between 40% to as 18 much as 60%, on the invested funds; PO-1 at 19;

1 c. Debtor paid commissions to third parties who solicited new 2 lenders, typically 10% of the amount received from the new lender; PO-1 at 3 20-21;

4 d. Debtor solicited funds as loans evidenced by a promissory
5 note but demonstrated a pattern of “rolling over” the promissory notes
6 when due into new notes instead of paying off the obligation; PO-1 at 26;

7 e. Debtor, throughout its history, made false and misleading
8 statements to current and potential lenders; PO-1 at 53-54; and,

9 f. Debtor was insolvent from its inception to the filing of its 10 bankruptcy; PO-1 at 67.

11 14. The court-appointed examiner, Charles B. Hall, by way of education, 12 experience, and vocation, is qualified to analyze and review the legitimacy of an 13 enterprise’s operation and to detect a fraud based on Ponzi scheme operations.

14 15. Mr. Hall’s testimony is credible.

15 16. Curtis Frye’s testimony, which pertained to Debtor’s record keeping 16 and the accounting of investment, payments, and consulting fees/commissions to 17 Defendants, is credible.

18 17. Defendants received interest and principal payments from Debtor.

19 18. Defendants are “net winners.”

20 19. Defendants were promised high rates of return from Debtor.

1           20.    Specific findings of fact for particular Defendants are as follows:

2           a.    David Perry

3           Defendant Perry disputes the Trustee’s accounting of transfers that he 4 received, claiming that he “never retained any of those funds to [his] own account
5 or to the benefit of anyone in [his] family, as all such funds went to third parties.”
6 ECF No. 127 at 2. The funds that were received from Debtor were used to repay
7 amounts that Defendant Perry had borrowed in order to invest in Debtor, to pay
8 interest, and to satisfy Defendant Perry’s legal fees. See P-77 at 3. According to 9 the Trustee’s summary of transactions between Debtor and Defendants Perry and 10 Spare,<sup>1</sup> these Defendants received $220,000 from Debtor. P-73 at 2.

11           Defendant Perry underestimates the significance of receiving transfers from 12 Debtor, even if those transfers simply were passed along to satisfy Defendant
13 Perry’s financial obligations. If a transfer is avoided, a bankruptcy trustee may 14 recover the value of the transfer from “the initial transferee of such transfer or the 15 entity for whose benefit such transfer was made . . . .” 11 U.S.C. § 550(a). The 16 Ninth Circuit has adopted the “dominion” test for determining whether a person or 17 an entity is an initial transferee from whom recovery can be had or instead a 18 “mere conduit.” In re Incomnet, Inc., 463 F.3d 1064, 1071 (9th Cir. 2006).
19 According to the dominion test, “a transferee is one who . . . has ‘dominion over

1 the money or other asset, the right to put the money to one’s own purposes.” Id.
2 at 1070 (quoting In re Cohen, 300 F.3d 1097, 1102 (9th Cir. 2002)) (internal 3 quotation marks omitted). The inquiry under the dominion test “focuses on 4 whether an entity had legal authority over the money and the right to use the 5 money however it wished.” Id. A defendant asserting this defense bears the 6 burden of proving that it did not have dominion. In re Maui Indus. Loan & Fin.
7 Co., 477 B.R. 134, 145 (Bankr. D. Haw. 2012).

8 Here, although Defendant Perry claims that “all of said funds have been 9 paid out[,]” P-77 at 3, he recognizes that the transfers were paid to reduce his 10 financial obligations. In other words, even though Defendant Perry did not retain 11 the funds that he received from Debtor, he exercised dominion over the funds by 12 using them to satisfy other debts. Thus, Defendant Perry is an “initial transferee”
13 for purposes of the Bankruptcy Code, and the Trustee may seek to recover
14 fraudulent transfers from him.

15 At trial, Defendant Perry also challenged whether the Trustee had provided 16 sufficient evidence to establish that he had received a series of $15,000 wire
17 transfers, totaling $150,000. Wire transfer confirmations indicate that the funds 18 were transferred to the Richard M. Layne Trust. P-74 at 35-44. Mr. Layne was 19 Defendant Perry’s attorney. According to Mr. Layne’s document labeled “Dave 20 Perry Trust Ledger,” the majority of the disputed transfers were used to pay

1 attorney fees or were transferred further to other accounts. See P-76 at 36. For 2 example, Defendant Perry testified that two transfers were made to a European 3 account to repay a loan that he had obtained from a person whom Defendant Perry
4 declined to identify at trial. The $15,000 transfers also are reflected in a document
5 labeled “David V. Perry’s Investment Summary,” which was attached to the proof
6 of claim that Mr. Layne filed on Defendant Perry’s behalf. P-71 at 1, 12.<sup>2</sup>

7         Similar to Defendant Perry’s general objection that he did not retain any of 8 the transfers from Debtor, Defendant Perry’s argument that he did not receive the 9 $15,000 transfers is unavailing. As noted above, Section 550(a) permits a trustee 10 to recover an avoided transfer from “the entity for whose benefit such transfer was 11 made . . . .” 11 U.S.C. § 550(a)(1). Although the series of $15,000 transfers was 12 made to Mr. Layne, the evidence establishes that Defendant Perry’s attorney held 13 the funds in trust for Defendant Perry and used the money to reduce Defendant
14 Perry’s obligations. Thus, the transfers were made for Defendant Perry’s benefit 15 and the Trustee is entitled to seek to recover those transfers from Defendant Perry.

16         Defendant Perry also asserts that he acted under an objective standard of 17 good faith in his dealings with Debtor, discussing the circumstances of his 18 investments. Defendant Perry was in his seventies and living in a foreign country
19 when he learned of the opportunity to invest in Debtor from a close friend, Alex

20 <sup>2</sup> The investment summary includes an additional $15,000 transfer dated July 21, 2009. P-71 at 12. However, the Trustee explained at trial that he lacked evidence of the payment.

1 Mirrow. Defendant Perry never received financial statements from Debtor or 2 visited Debtor's place of business but he testified that he trusted Doris Nelson,
3 Debtor's proprietor, whom he understood to have operated the business for more
4 than nine years without missing an interest payment to investors. Furthermore,
5 Defendant Perry knew that Wells Fargo provided services for Debtor,
6 strengthening his impression that Debtor operated a legitimate business.

7       Although Debtor's promised interest rates were high, Defendant Perry 8 reasoned that such a lucrative deal was possible because of the booming market in 9 the United States. Defendant Perry also compared the annual interest rate that 10 Debtor charged its payday loan customers to bank overdraft fees, which 11 Defendant Perry claims would be much higher than the interest on payday loans if 12 considered as an annual interest rate. Additionally, Defendant Perry inferred that 13 by operating a brick-and-mortar business in Washington State, Debtor was in 14 compliance with this jurisdiction's rigorous financial services requirements.
15 Defendant Perry thought that Debtor was a growing, thriving business that was in 16 need of additional money.

17       However, Defendant Perry also was aware of some of Debtor's suspicious
18 practices. In addition to the high rates of promised returns, Defendant Perry's 19 repeated requests for financial statements were unfulfilled, see P-76 at 30.
20 Defendant Perry also received promissory notes that Debtor later rolled into new

1 notes. See P-70 at 2. Moreover, like other investors in Debtor's scheme,
2 Defendant Perry received checks from Debtor that were not honored. See P-76 at 3 12.

4 The Court finds that Defendant Perry's testimony was credible and that he 5 has established by the preponderance of the evidence that he acted under an 6 objective standard of good faith. Although Defendant Perry never reviewed
7 financial statements from Debtor or visited Debtor's place of business, the Court
8 finds that it was reasonable under Defendant Perry's circumstances for him to rely 9 on the reports of his trusted friend and indications that Debtor was a legitimate
10 business. Accordingly, the Court finds that Defendant Perry did not have notice
11 of sufficient attributes of Debtor's business to understand that it was fraudulent.<sup>3</sup>

12 b. Othelia Spare

13 The Trustee seeks to recover the same amount of transfers jointly from both 14 Defendant Perry and his daughter, Defendant Spare. At trial, however, the 15 Trustee indicated that the only evidence that Defendant Spare had received any 16 transfers from Debtor is that her name appears on a promissory note that also lists
17 her father as a lender. See P-71 at 4. There is no evidence that Debtor actually 18 made any transfers to or for the benefit of Defendant Spare.

19 <sup>3</sup> Defendant Perry disputes that he properly was served. ECF No. 127 at 55. However, as the 20 Court ruled in a prior order, Defendant Perry waived any challenge to service of process. ECF
No. 82 at 4-5.

1           The Court finds that the Trustee has failed to show by the preponderance of 2 the evidence that Defendant Spare received any transfers from Debtor.

3           c.     Beverly and Frank Gyenizse

4           Ms. Gyenizse did not dispute the Trustee's evidence of the amount of 5 money that she and her husband invested in Debtor or the accounting of transfers
6 that the couple received. However, Ms. Gyenizse asserted at trial that she and her 7 husband had invested in good faith.

8           Before investing with Debtor, the Gyenizeses traveled to Spokane, where 9 they met with Ms. Nelson and toured Debtor's place of business. ECF No. 130 at 10 1. They were shown Debtor's client database and observed Debtor's loan 11 representatives speaking on the phone with clients. ECF No. 130 at 1. Ms.
12 Gyenizse testified that plaques on Ms. Nelson's walls and desk indicated to her 13 that Ms. Nelson was respected by the business community. ECF No. 130 at 1.
14 The Gyenizeses were told that Debtor had been in business for nine years and that 15 Ms. Nelson owned the building from which the business operated.

16           However, the Gyenizeses never received a financial statement from Debtor
17 and, similar to other contributors to this Ponzi scheme, they were given 18 promissory notes at suspiciously high rates of 40% and 50%, see P-21 at 4, 6. The 19 Gyenizeses also were aware that Debtor's checks to investors sometimes would not 20

1 be honored, although the evidence at trial indicated that only one check to the 2 Gyenizeses could not be cashed. See P-25.

3 The Court finds that Ms. Gyenizse’s testimony was credible and that the 4 preponderance of the evidence shows that the Gyenizeses met the objective
5 standard of good faith. Although they knew of some of Debtor’s suspicious 6 practices, their concerns reasonably were minimized by the confirmations that the 7 Gyenizeses personally received from Debtor that the business was sound.

8 d. Remaining Defendants

9 The remaining defendants, who neither filed bankruptcy nor participated at 10 trial, are Lazy M LLC, Pacifica Ventures Inc., Shelly Armstrong, David
11 Armstrong, Daljit Haer, Ronald Ponton, and Tomika Ponton. These Defendants 12 offered no evidence or argument in support of the defense of good faith.
13 Moreover, the Court’s review of Plaintiff’s evidence against these Defendants
14 does not support by a preponderance of the evidence that these Defendants met 15 the objective standard of good faith.

16 21. The following summarizes the evidence of investments made by 17 Frank and Beverly Gyenizse and the payments that they received:

18	Total Payments (Money Out):	$145,943.00 CAD
19	Total Investments (Money In):	$101,990.00 CAD
20	MIMO (Difference between Money In and Money Out):	$43,953.00 CAD

13           24. The following summarizes the evidence of investments made by 14 Pacifica Ventures, Inc. and the payments that it received:

15           Total Payments (Money Out):           $85,447.00 USD
16           Total Investments (Money In):           $30,000.00 USD
17           MIMO (Difference between
18           Money In and Money Out):           $55,447.00 USD

19           25. The following summarizes the evidence of investments made by 20 David Perry and the payments that he received:

          Total Payments (Money Out):           $220,000.00 USD
          Total Investments (Money In):           $149,975.00 USD
          MIMO (Difference between
          Money In and Money Out):           $70,025.00 USD

          26. The following summarizes the evidence of investments made by David and Shelly Armstrong and the payments that they received, based on the

1 Court's acceptance of the Bankruptcy Court's report and recommendation
2 granting the Trustee's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment, 2:12-cv-00004-
3 RMP, ECF No. 62:

4	Total Payments (Money Out):	$495,442.56 CAD
5	Total Investments (Money In):	$295,000.00 CAD
6	MIMO (Difference between Money In and Money Out):	$200,442.56 CAD

7 27. The following summarizes the evidence of investments made by 8 Lazy M, LLC and the payments that it received:

9	Payments	$550,707.35 USD
10	Less Building Acquisition	$150,000.00 USD
11	Total Payments (Money Out)	$400,707.35 USD
12	Total Investments (Money In)	$ 71,000.00 USD
13	MIMO (Difference between Money In and Money Out)	$329,707.35 USD

14 28. Total transfers to Defendants are as follows:

- 15 • Frank and Beverly Gyenize for $145,943.00 CAD;
- 16 • Daljit Haer for $117,616.50 CAD;
- 17 • Ronald Ponton, Sr. and Tomika Ponton for $117,411.00 USD;
- 18 • Pacifica Ventures, Inc. for $85,447.00 USD;
- 19 • David Perry for $220,000.00 USD;
- 20 • Mark and Shelly Armstrong for $495,442.56 CAD; and
- Lazy M, LLC for $400,707.35 USD.

1 Fraudulent Transfer Act (UFTA). See Bankr. Adv. Doc. 11-80299, ECF No. 378
2 at 21-25. “Where causes of action are brought under the UFTA against Ponzi
3 scheme investors, the general rule is that to the extent innocent investors have 4 received payments in excess of the amounts of principal that they originally 5 invested, those payments are avoidable as fraudulent transfers . . . .” Donell v.
6 Kowell, 533 F.3d 762, 770 (9th Cir. 2008).

7 6. Defendants have no basis to dispute that they are obligated to pay the 8 Trustee amounts that they received from Debtor that exceed their investment in the 9 scheme. Some Defendants assert, however, that they are entitled to retain the 10 amount of principal that they invested because they acted in good faith.

11 7. A transferee of a fraudulent transfer may keep funds that it took for 12 reasonably equivalent value and in good faith. See 11 U.S.C. § 548(c); RCW
13 19.40.081(a). As recipients of transfers that constitute actual fraud, the burden of 14 proof in establishing the affirmative defense of good faith is on Defendants. In re
15 Agric. Research and Tech. Grp., Inc., 916 F.2d 528, 535 (9th Cir. 1990); 5 Collier
16 on Bankruptcy ¶ 548.09[2][c] at 548-98.2 (16th ed. 2011).

17 8. Although “good faith” is not defined precisely in case law, at least one 18 court has noted that the absence of good faith is shown by a transferee who knows 19 that a debtor is operating a Ponzi scheme. See In re Agric. Research, 916 F.2d at 20 535 (citing In re Indep. Clearing House, 77 B.R. 843, 861 (D. Utah 1987)). The

1 Ninth Circuit has quoted favorably an explanation in an early case that a 2 transferee’s “knowledge or actual notice of circumstances sufficient to put him, as 3 a prudent man, upon inquiry as to whether his brother intended to delay or defraud
4 his creditors . . . should be deemed to have notice . . . as would invalidate the sale
5 as to him.” Id. (quoting Shauer v. Alerton, 151 U.S. 607, 621 (1894)).

6 9. Thus, courts measure good faith by an objective standard, looking to 7 what a transferee “‘knew or should have known’ in questions of good faith, rather 8 than examining what the transferee actually knew from a subjective standpoint.”
9 Id. at 536.

10 10. The goal of avoiding a debtor’s fraudulent transactions is not to 11 punish those who received funds from the debtor. Instead, fraudulent transfers are 12 avoided to benefit a debtor’s creditors by bringing property back into the debtor’s 13 estate for distribution to creditors. See 5 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 548.01[1][a] at 14 548-11.

15 11. Under the Bankruptcy Code, Washington’s UFTA, as well as 16 relevant case law, the Court does not contemplate a recipient’s intent when 17 deciding whether to avoid fraudulent transfers. Id. ¶ 548.04[2] at 548-63;
18 Thompson v. Hanson, 168 Wn.2d 738, 749 (2010). Accordingly, a transfer that 19 constitutes actual fraud is avoided in its entirety unless the transferee establishes 20 that a reasonable person in the transferee’s position would not and should not

1 have known of the fraud, not simply whether he or she actually acted in good 2 faith.

3 12. At least one unsecured creditor existed who triggered the strong arm
4 power of 11 U.S.C. § 544(b)(1) because the creditor did not and should not
5 reasonably have discovered the fraudulent nature of Debtor's Ponzi scheme
6 transfers less than one year before the bankruptcy petition was filed.

7 13. Under the statutes relating to fraudulent transfers, 11 U.S.C. § 548
8 and RCW 19.40, et seq., payments received from Debtor are recoverable from 9 each Defendant by the Trustee, subject to the defense of good faith pursuant to 11
10 U.S.C. § 548(c) and RCW 19.40.081(a).

11 14. Transfers made by Debtor in furtherance of its Ponzi scheme are 12 transfers made with intent to hinder, delay and/or defraud creditors under both 13 state law, RCW Ch. 19.40, and federal law, 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1).

14 15. All transfers to Defendants were made with actual fraudulent intent
15 and in furtherance of a Ponzi scheme.

16 16. As discussed above, Defendants Lazy M LLC, Pacifica Ventures
17 Inc., Shelly Armstrong, David Armstrong, Daljit Haer, Ronald Ponton, and 18 Tomika Ponton failed to meet their burden to establish good faith and, thus, these 19 Defendants are required to return the entire amount of the transfers that they 20 received, including principal, interest, and commissions.

1           17. The Trustee claims that $30,000 of the transfers to Defendant Perry
2 alternatively may be avoided as preferences. The Bankruptcy Code permits a 3 trustee to recover a transfer “(1) to or for the benefit of a creditor; (2) for or on 4 account of an antecedent debt owed by the debtor before such transfer was made;
5 (3) made while the debtor was insolvent;” that was “(4) made . . . on or within 90 6 days before the date of the filing of the [bankruptcy] petition;” and (5) that would 7 allow the creditor to receive more than it would have received if the transfer had 8 not been made and if the creditor instead had received payment through a 9 proceeding under Chapter 7 of the Code. See 11 U.S.C. § 547(b).

10           18. The Trustee has established all of the elements needed to prove that 11 Defendant Perry received $30,000 in preferences, which the Trustee is entitled to 12 recover. This amount comprises two of the series of $15,000 transfers which, as 13 explained above, were for the benefit of Defendant Perry, a creditor. The transfers
14 were on account of the antecedent debt resulting from Defendant Perry’s 15 investments in Debtor. The Court already has determined that Debtor was 16 insolvent at the time of its transfers to all defendants. Additionally, the transfers 17 were received on April 24, 2009, and May 1, 2009, fewer than 90 days before the 18 bankruptcy petition was filed on July 21, 2009. See P-74 at 43, 44. Finally, as an 19 unsecured creditor with a claim against a debtor that ran an extensive Ponzi
20 scheme, Defendant Perry would not have been entitled to receive a $30,000

1 payment. See In re Lewis W. Shurtleff, Inc., 778 F.2d 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1985)
2 (“[A]s long as the distribution in bankruptcy is less than one-hundred percent, any 3 payment ‘on account’ to an unsecured creditor during the preference period will 4 enable that creditor to receive more than he would have received in liquidation
5 had the payment not been made.”).

6 19. Unlike fraudulent conveyances, preferences that are avoidable
7 pursuant to Section 547 may not be retained by initial transferees based on the 8 defense of good faith. See 11 U.S.C. § 548(c) (excluding from the good faith 9 defense transfers that are “voidable under section 544, 545, or 547 of this title”).
10 Thus, even though Defendant Perry has established the good faith defense as to 11 payments from Debtor that are avoidable as fraudulent transfers, the $30,000
12 preference amount that Defendant Perry must pay may not be reduced by the 13 amount of his investment in Debtor. The Court notes, however, that whether the 14 $30,000 in transfers are considered to be fraudulent conveyances or preferences
15 does not affect the amount of judgment to which the Trustee is entitled.

16 20. The Trustee is entitled to pre-judgment interest at the applicable
17 federal rate from July 21, 2009, when the bankruptcy case commenced.

18 21. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 548(a), 544, 550 and 551 and RCW
