the time of gathering documents for its response, within the limitations and subject to the objections described below.

II. GENERAL RESPONSES

- 1. The responses herein reflect only the present state of McKinsey's knowledge or information regarding the documents that the Plaintiff has requested. Except as otherwise stated below, an objection to a specific request does not imply that documents responsive to that request exist. McKinsey further expressly reserves the right to supplement its response to any of the aforementioned requests.
- 2. McKinsey expressly reserves, and this response to the Subpoena shall not constitute a waiver of, McKinsey's right (a) to object on any ground to the use of the documents that are produced in any step or proceeding in this action, (b) to object on any ground to other discovery requests that involve or relate to the subject matter of this Subpoena, and (c) to revise, correct, supplement, or clarify any of the responses set forth herein at a later date. McKinsey does not admit, adopt or acquiesce in any factual or legal contention, assertion, or characterization that is contained in the Subpoena (or any particular request therein).

III. GENERAL OBJECTIONS

1. McKinsey objects to the Subpoena to the extent that it seeks the production of any document protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege or protection available under federal or state statutory, constitutional, or common law, including but not limited to any privilege or protection that McKinsey's client in this engagement, the NBA, may assert as to materials in McKinsey's possession.

- 2. McKinsey objects to the Subpoena to the extent that it seeks information that is neither relevant to any claim or defense of any party to the underlying litigation nor to the subject matter involved in the litigation.
- 3. McKinsey objects to the Subpoena insofar as it seeks sensitive, highly confidential business, financial and/or personal information.
- 4. McKinsey objects to the Subpoena, which was received by McKinsey on April 21, 2008, insofar as it seeks the production of documents by April 29, 2008, which is not a reasonable amount of time to comply with the Subpoena.
- 5. McKinsey objects to the Instructions and the Definitions of the Subpoena to the extent that they seek to impose obligations on McKinsey beyond those imposed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
- 6. These General Responses and Objections apply to each of the Specific Responses below whether or not referred to in any Specific Response provided, and the Specific Responses set forth are not a waiver, in whole or in part, of any of these objections.

IV. SPECIFIC RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS

McKinsey incorporates its General Responses and Objections into its Specific Responses and Objections to each and every request for documents and things contained in the Subpoena. Subject to and without waiving any of its General Responses and Objections, McKinsey specifically responds and objects to the requests contained in the Subpoena as follows:

REQUEST NO. 1.

All documents regarding and/or reflecting any work done by McKinsey for the NBA's relocation committee relating to the potential relocation of the Sonics to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1

McKinsey objects to this Request to the extent that it: (a) seeks the production of documents protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege available under federal or state statutory, constitutional, or common law, including but not limited to any such privilege or protection that McKinsey's client the NBA may assert as to materials in McKinsey's possession; (b) seeks information that is neither relevant to any claim or defense of any party to the underlying litigation nor to the subject matter involved in the litigation; (c) seeks sensitive, highly confidential business, financial and/or personal information; or (d) is so overbroad as to be unduly burdensome and harassing.

Subject to the foregoing and the General Responses and Objections, and without waiving any applicable privilege or protection, McKinsey will produce copies of the March 18, 2008 "Oklahoma City vs. Seattle Market Comparison Report" and the March 18, 2009 "New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets Review," which constitute the sole reports prepared by McKinsey in connection with the proposed relocation of the Sonics to Oklahoma City.

REQUEST NO. 2.

All documents regarding and/or reflecting any statistical analysis, including but not limited to demographic, economic and business analysis, performed by McKinsey for the NBA relocation committee, comparing Seattle, Washington to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2

McKinsey objects to this Request to the extent that it: (a) seeks the production of documents protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege available under federal or state statutory, constitutional, or common law, including but not limited to any such privilege or protection that McKinsey's client the NBA may assert as to materials in McKinsey's possession; (b) seeks information that is neither relevant to any claim or defense of any party to the underlying litigation nor to the subject matter involved in the litigation; (c) seeks sensitive, highly confidential business, financial and/or personal information; or (d) is so overbroad as to be unduly burdensome and harassing.

Subject to the foregoing and the General Responses and Objections, and without waiving any applicable privilege or protection, McKinsey will produce copies of the March 18, 2008 "Oklahoma City vs. Seattle Market Comparison Report" and the March 18, 2009 "New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets Review," which constitute the sole reports prepared by McKinsey in connection with the proposed relocation of the Sonics to Oklahoma City.
