ORDER GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART DEFENDANT’S MOTION FOR A MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT AND TO STRIKE, AND DENYING PLAINTIFF’S MOTION TO STRIKE- 1

1 Background

2 On July 21, 2010, William Harris filed a complaint pro se against Sears Holdings
3 Corporation for breach of implied contract, promissory estoppel, defamatory, tortious 4 interference with contractual relations, negligent infliction of emotional distress, and the tort of 5 outrage. In his complaint, Plaintiff alleged (1) his contract with Defendant was wrongfully 6 terminated due to an Internal Revenue Service decision regarding independent contractors, and 7 (2) “false statements were made” suggesting Plaintiff was terminated due to poor performance.
8 (Dkt No. 1-1.) On August 24, 2010, the Defendants filed a motion for a more definite statement
9 and to strike. (Dkt. No. 5). The motion was noted for September 10, 2010. On September 9, 10 2010, Defendant filed a reply which was mailed to the Plaintiff via U.S. mail and e-mail. The 11 Plaintiff was unable to open an e-mail attachment from Defendant and, therefore, filed a Motion
12 to Strike Defendant’s Reply for failure of service. (Dkt. No. 8).

13 Analysis

14 1. Defendant’s Motion for a More Definite Statement

15 As a pro se litigant, the Plaintiff is allowed more leniency with respect to the Federal 16 Rules of Civil Procedure (“FRCP”) and Local Rules than would otherwise apply to lawyers 17 filing a complaint on behalf of a client. Woods v. Carey, 839 F. 2d 622 (9th Cir. 1988).
18 However, a pro se litigant’s “pleadings nonetheless must meet some minimum threshold in 19 providing defendant with notice of what it is that it allegedly did wrong.” Brazil v. U.S. Dept. of 20 Navy, 66 F.3d 193, 194 (9th Cir. 1995). Under FRCP 12(e), a party may move for a more 21 definite statement when a pleading is “so vague or ambiguous that the party cannot reasonably 22 prepare a response.”

1 In this case, the Court finds the Plaintiff's complaint is ambiguous and prevents the 2 Defendant from adequately filing a response and/or defense. To ensure the Defendant has fair
3 notice of the claims, the Court directs the Plaintiff to file an amended complaint properly 4 formatted which clarifies the following:

- 5 1. The specific contract or contracts alleged to be breached.
- 6 2. The role of Plaintiff's own company in his complaint.
- 7 3. The identity of individuals alleged to have made false statements against Plaintiff.
- 8 4. The identity of any other parties involved in the dispute.

9 In granting Defendant's motion in part, the Court does not require Plaintiff provide 10 Defendant with information more appropriately disclosed during discovery, such as documents
11 relating to Plaintiff's previous arbitrations or bankruptcy proceedings.

12 2. Defendant's Motion to Strike

13 The Court "may strike from a pleading . . . any redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or 14 scandalous matter." Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f). However, "motions to strike should not be granted
15 unless it is clear that the matter to be stricken could have no possible bearing on the subject
16 matter of the litigation." United States v. Wong, 404 F. Supp. 2d 1155, 1157 (N.D. Cal. 2005)
17 (quotation omitted). "Immaterial matter is that which has no essential or important relationship 18 to the claim for relief or the defenses being pleaded." Fantasy, Inc. v. Fogerty, 984 F.2d 1524, 19 1527 (9th Cir. 1993) (citation omitted), rev'd on other grounds, 510 U.S. 517 (1994).

20 In this case, Defendants have not demonstrated that the allegations are immaterial. The 21 allegations appear to relate to Plaintiff's employment duties, breach of his implied contract, and 22 the manner in which he learned of his termination. The allegations are not "superfluous 23 historical allegations." Fogerty, 984 F.2d at 1527 (affirming an order striking allegations as to

1 past conduct that was unrelated to the actionable claim and which only related to a claim that 2 would have otherwise been time-barred). The allegations relate to Plaintiff's claims and are not 3 pleaded merely to harass Defendants or increase the costs and time necessary to litigate this 4 matter. Therefore, to the extent Plaintiff provides a more definite statement in his amended 5 complaint, the Court does not strike matters Defendant claims to be redundant or immaterial.

6 3. Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Defendant's Reply

7 The Court finds Plaintiff was properly and timely served when Defendant mailed the 8 reply on September 9, 2010. See FRCP 5(b)(2)(C); CR 7(d)(3). Therefore, Plaintiff was not 9 unfairly prejudiced by Defendant's filing of the reply one day before or on the noting date
10 regardless of Plaintiff's ability to open Defendant's courtesy e-mail.

11 Conclusion

12 The Court GRANTS in part and DENIES in part the Defendant's Motion for a More 13 Definite Statement, DENIES in part the Defendants Motion to Strike, and DENIES the 14 Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Defendant's Reply. In so ordering, the Court directs Plaintiff to file 15 an amended complaint, as set forth above, within 14 days of this Order.

16 The Clerk is directed to send a copy of this order to all counsel of record and mail a copy
17 to Mr. Harris.

18 Dated this 12th day of October, 2010
