14 CORPORATION OF WASHINGTON;

18 Defendant.

CASE NO. C11-1449RSM

ORDER OF DISMISSAL FOR LACK OF JURISDICTION

19 This matter is before the Court for consideration of plaintiff's response to the Order to 20 Show Cause dated September 2, 2011. Dkt. # 4. The Court on that date ordered plaintiff to 21 show cause why the complaint should not be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. The Court noted
22 that the complaint asserts only state law causes of action. The parties in this case are non-diverse
23 as one defendant is a Washington resident. Therefore there is no basis for either diversity or 24 federal question jurisdiction.

25 Plaintiffs have timely responded to the Order to Show Cause, but their response fails to 26 demonstrate any basis for this Court's jurisdiction. The Court has already rejected plaintiffs'
27 argument regarding "Article III common law" and plaintiffs have failed to cite to any case

1 authority recognizing such law in this context. Plaintiffs also assert that they “may” amend their
2 complaint to add causes of action under the Truth in Lending Act, 16 U.S.C. § 1601 and/or the
3 Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, 12 U.S.C. § 2601, but such amendment would be futile,
4 because it appears the statute of limitations has run. These causes of action arise from the loan
5 documents. The loan in this case was processed in 2004. Complaint, Dkt. # 1, ¶ 7.

6 As the Court stated in the Order to Show Cause, it is a basic principle of federal 7 jurisprudence that federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction. “They possess only that 8 power authorized by Constitution or a statute, which is not to be expanded by judicial decree. It 9 is to be presumed that a cause lies outside this limited jurisdiction and the burden of establishing 10 the contrary rests upon the party asserting jurisdiction.” Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of 11 Am., 511 U.S. 375, 377 (1994); see also Abrego Abrego v. The Dow Chem. Co., 443 F.3d 676,
12 684 (9th Cir.2006). This Court has an obligation to raise the question of subject matter
13 jurisdiction, sua sponte, where it appears to be lacking Snell v. Cleveland, Inc., 316 F.3d 822,
14 824, 826 (9th Cir.2002).

15 Having raised the question through the Order to Show Cause, and having considered
16 plaintiffs’ response, the Court finds that it lacks subject matter jurisdiction. Plaintiffs’ remedy, if 17 any, lies in state court. This action is hereby DISMISSED for lack of jurisdiction.

18 Dated this 30th day of September 2011.
