Case No. C16-355 RSM

ORDER GRANTING IN PART MOTION
FOR SUPPLEMENTAL PROCEEDINGS,
GRANTING IN PART MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER, AND DENYING MOTION TO SEAL

17 This matter comes before the Court on Amazon Fulfillment Services, Inc.
18 (“Amazon”)’s Motion for Supplemental Proceedings (Dkt. #139), Plaintiffs Beautyko LLC,
19 Linoi LLC, Shop Flash USA Inc., Beautyko USA Inc., and Bennoti USA Inc. (collectively 20 referred to as “Beautyko”)’s Motion for Protective Order (Dkt. #142), and Amazon’s related 21 Motion to Seal (Dkt #147). Amazon seeks an order requiring Beautyko to appear for 22 supplemental proceedings and to testify under oath concerning assets and property that may be 23 used to satisfy the outstanding judgment in this case. Beautyko opposes this request on various 24 grounds. For the following reasons, the Court GRANTS IN PART Amazon’s Motion for 25 Supplemental Proceedings, GRANTS IN PART Beautyko’s Motion for Protective Order, and 26 DENIES Amazon’s Motion to Seal.

I. BACKGROUND

On November 22, 2017, judgment in the amount of $3,611,999.80 was rendered in favor of Defendant Amazon and against Plaintiffs. Dkt. #136. On December 22, 2017, costs in the amount of $4,950.14 were taxed against Beautyko (Dkt. #138). The judgment against Beautyko thus totals $3,616,949.94, not including interest. Beautyko has not appealed this judgment and the judgment remains unsatisfied. See Dkt. #140 (Declaration of Vanessa Power) at ¶¶ 3–4. Amazon believes, based on discovery in this case and discussions with Beautyko’s counsel, that Beautyko owns property or has assets that may be used to satisfy the judgment. Id. at ¶ 5.

II. DISCUSSION

A. Motion for Supplemental Proceedings

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 69(a)(2) provides: “[i]n the aid of the judgment . . . the judgment creditor . . . may obtain discovery from any person—including the judgment debtor...” The procedure “in proceedings supplementary to and in aid of judgment . . . must accord with the procedure of the state where the court is located.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 69(a)(1). Under Washington State’s supplemental proceedings statute, a judgment creditor may apply for an order requiring the judgment debtor “to appear at a specified time and place” to answer concerning a judgment “[a]t any time within ten years after entry of a judgment.” RCW 6.32.010. Where the judgment is a corporation, the “corporation must attend by and answer under the oath of an officer thereof.” RCW 6.32.050.

27
28

Under RCW 6.32.010, a court may order a judgment debtor not only “to appear in court for examination” but also “to produce certain described documents.” Arnold v. Nat’l Union of Marine Cooks & Stewards Ass’n, 42 Wn.2d 648, 649, 257 P.2d 629 (1953); Britannia Holdings

1 Ltd. v. Greer, 127 Wn. App. 926, 929, 113 P.3d 1041 (2005) (referring to court orders in
2 supplemental proceedings requiring judgment creditor to provide “information and documents”
3 as well as a “full accounting”). The purpose of this procedure is to “make the judgment debtor
4 answer concerning the extent and whereabouts of his or her property and, if possible, to enable 5 the judgment creditor to locate nonexempt property belonging to the judgment debtor which 6 may be applied on the debt.” Rainier Nat’l Bank v. McCracken, 26 Wn. App. 498, 511, 615
7 P.2d 469 (1980).

9 Pursuant to the above laws, Amazon now requests that an examination be ordered of 10 Avi Sivan as corporate representative of all of the Beautyko entities. Amazon lists 14 topics of 11 investigation in its Motion. See Dkt. #139 at 3–4.
12

13 In Response, Beautyko first argues that “the requested discovery is far overreaching and 14 should be limited.” Dkt. #145 at 1. Specifically, Beautyko objects to two of topics of 15 investigation:
16

17 4. Corporate income tax returns for the past five years for each 18 Judgment Debtor and all income tax returns for any business in 19 which Avi Sivan has had an interest in at any point in the past 20 five years. If the filing of the most recent return is pending but the 21 return has been prepared or the information is available, this 22 information is requested as well.

23 5. Personal income tax returns for the past five years for Avi
24 Sivan and Prem Ramchandani. If the filing of the most recent 25 return is pending but the return has been prepared or the 26 information is available, this information is requested as well.

27 Id. at 2 (citing Dkt. #139-1) (emphasis added by Beautyko). Beautyko objects to the Motion 28 “to the extent that additional requests can be interpreted as requiring the Judgment Debtors to produce personal financial information of nondebtor people or entities.” Id. Beautyko points out that judgment was entered against the Beautyko entities, not against Avi Sivan or Prem

1 Ramchandani. Beautyko requests that any examination take place in the Eastern District of 2 New York. Beautyko equates Amazon's Motion to requesting the Court enter an order for a 3 subpoena that an examination be conducted under Rule 30(b)(6). Id. at 5.

4 On Reply, Amazon argues that certain facts make discovery into the personal financial 5 information of Mr. Sivan and Mr. Ramchandani appropriate. These facts are:

7 (1) Mr. Sivan and Mr. Ramchandani are the only owners of the 8 Beautyko Plaintiffs; (2) the Beautyko Plaintiffs shared the same
9 addresses, warehouses, emails, tax identification numbers, and 10 even bank accounts, thus commingling funds and other assets, not 11 only between and among the Beautyko Plaintiffs, but between and 12 among at least seven known non-judgment debtor businesses; (3)
13 Mr. Sivan conducted business on behalf of Beautyko Plaintiffs as 14 well as non-judgment debtor businesses - with Amazon if not 15 others - using his personal email account; and (4) at least two of 16 the Beautyko Plaintiffs loaned substantial funds to Mr. Sivan
17 and/or Mr. Ramchandani, and at least one of the Beautyko
18 Plaintiffs received substantial loans from Mr. Sivan.

19 Dkt. #153 at 2. Amazon cites several cases in support of this contention. Id. (citing Falicia v.
20 Advanced Tenant Services, Inc., 235 F.R.D. 5, 9 (D.C. 2006) (allowing discovery of non-party
21 companies that were owned by members of the same family that owned the judgment debtor
22 corporation); E.I. DuPont de Nemours and Co. v. Kolon Indus., Inc., 286 F.R.D. 288 (E.D. Va.
23 2012) (under Rule 69, presumption is in favor of full discovery of any matters related to a 24 judgment creditor's efforts to trace debtors' assets and otherwise to enforce a judgment); Credit
25 Lyonnais, S.A. v. SGC Intern., Inc., 160 F.3d 428 (8th Cir. 1998) (reversing and remanding
26 order denying motion to compel deposition of individual officer of judgment debtor 27 corporation, including inquiry into individual's personal finances and assets and transfers of 28 assets between individual officer and judgment debtor corporation)). Amazon also argues that venue for the examination is proper here in the Western District of Washington because Beautyko filed this litigation in the first instance here, and because Beautyko's arguments

1 related to the subpoena rule are irrelevant because there is no subpoena at issue with this
2 Motion. Id. at 6.

3 The scope of discovery allowed under Rule 69 is broad. See Republic of Argentina v.
4 NML Capital, Ltd., 134 S.Ct. 2250, 2254 (2014) (“The rules governing discovery in post
5 judgment execution proceedings are quite permissive.”). The Court finds that Amazon has 6 presented credible evidence that Mr. Sivan commingled his assets and the assets of other non-7 debtor entities with the Beautyko entities and otherwise blurred the lines between his 8 businesses and himself, and that this is consistent with evidence already presented at trial.
9 Given this information, almost all of the requested discovery is warranted. However, the Court
10 finds that Amazon has not presented sufficient evidence to justify discovery into Mr.
11 Ramchandani’s personal tax returns. That portion of Amazon’s Motion will be denied.
12

14 The Court further finds that the proper venue for the examination is in the Western 15 District of Washington. Beautyko has failed to present any valid basis to challenge Amazon’s 16 request to hold the examination here, where Beautyko itself filed suit. The Court notes that 17 Beautyko has failed to present any evidence that it would be a significant hardship for Mr.
18 Sivan to travel here for examination.
19

20 B. Motion for Protective Order

21 In addition to opposing the above Motion, Beautyko has also filed a Motion of a 22 Protective Order seeking to restrict Amazon from “pursuing financial information from any 23 person or entity other than the Beautyko entities.” Dkt. #142 at 1. Specifically, Beautyko
24 moves to prevent a portion of six third-party subpoenas. Each of these subpoenas seek the 25 following:
26

27 All documents, including communications, related to any contracts
28 or business relationship with any of the following companies or

1 individuals, including but not limited to invoices, purchase orders,
2 loans, accounts receivable, and accounts payable: Beautyko USA
3 Inc.; Bennoti USA Inc.; Beautyko LLC; Linoi LLC; Shop Flash
4 USA Inc.; Avi Sivan; and Prem Ramchandani, between January 1,
5 2013 to Present.

6 Dkt. #144-1. Beautyko argues that the scope of discovery allowed under Rule 69 for non-
7 parties is limited to a search for the judgment debtor's hidden assets, not the assets of Mr. Sivan
8 or Mr. Ramchandani. Dkt. #142 at 3 (citing La Suisse, Societe d'Assurances Sur La Vie v.
9 Kraus, 62 F.Supp. 3d 358, 361 (S.D.N.Y. 2014)).

10 In Response, Amazon relies on the same or similar law and arguments as its prior 11 Motion. See, e.g., Dkt. #149 at 6 (citing Falicia, supra; Caisson Corp. v. County West Building
12 Corp., 62 F.R.D. 331, 335 (E.D. Pa. 1974)). Amazon points out that "the information sought
13 under the Subpoena calls for production of information related to the business dealings of Mr.
14 Sivan and Mr. Ramchandani - both on behalf of or in addition to the named Plaintiffs/judgment
15 debtors." Id. (citing Dkt. #144-1).

16 For the same reasons as stated above, the Court finds that Amazon may pursue the 17 above subpoenas as stated, including seeking information about the third parties' dealings with 18 Mr. Sivan, but not as to third parties' dealings with Mr. Ramchandani. Amazon has presented 19 sufficient evidence that the lines between Mr. Sivan's businesses were sufficiently blurred to 20 make them a mere extension of his personal business empire, but insufficient evidence as to 21 Mr. Ramchandani to warrant seeking such information.
22

23 C. Motion to Seal

24 Finally, the Court will address Amazon's Motion to Seal. (Dkt. #147).

25 "There is a strong presumption of public access to the court's files." Local Rule 5(g).
26 The Court's Local Rules explicitly instruct the parties to present legal and evidentiary support
27
28

1 in a motion to seal. Normally that motion must include “a specific statement of the applicable
2 legal standard and the reasons for keeping a document under seal, with evidentiary support
3 from declarations where necessary.” Local Rule 5(g)(3)(B). However:

4 Where parties have entered a litigation agreement or stipulated
5 protective order (see LCR 26(c)(2)) governing the exchange in 6 discovery of documents that a party deems confidential, a party
7 wishing to file a confidential document it obtained from another
8 party in discovery may file a motion to seal but need not satisfy 9 subpart (3)(B) above. Instead, the party who designated the document confidential must satisfy subpart (3)(B) in its response to the motion to seal or in a stipulated motion.

10 Local Rule 5(g)(3).

11 Amazon’s Response to Beautyko’s Motion for Protective Order relies on tax returns and 12 balance sheets filed as exhibits. See Dkt. #149 at 4 (citing Power Decl., Exs. D-H). Amazon
13 filed these under seal because they were marked as confidential by Beautyko in discovery.
14 Beautyko argues that there is no reason to make these documents public, and that they should 15 remain sealed for privacy reasons. Dkt. #155 at 1 – 2 (citing A. Farber and Partners, Inc. v.
16 Garber, 234 F.R.D. 186, 190-91 (C.D. Cal. 2006); Ross v. B. None Enterprises, Inc., 2:13-CV-
17 00234 KJM, 2014 WL 2700901 at 2 (E.D. Cal. June 13, 2014)). Amazon argues that 18 Beautyko’s cited cases are inapposite because A. Farber did not involve the issue of sealing on 19 the record, and because Beautyko has failed to present here specific evidence of good cause to 20 seal as was presented in Ross. Dkt. #156. The Court agrees with Amazon and finds that 21 Beautyko has failed to meet its burden to show why these documents should be sealed.
22 Accordingly, Amazon’s Motion to Seal will be denied.
