9 AT SEATTLE

10 MASOUD KHAZALI,

11 Plaintiff,

12 v.

13 ELIZABETH BERNS,

14 Defendant.

CASE NO. C16-1022JLR

ORDER DISMISSING
COMPLAINT AND ACTION

15 I. INTRODUCTION

16 Before the court is pro se Plaintiff Masoud Khazali's civil rights complaint.
17 (Compl. (Dkt. # 4).) Mr. Khazali named Judge Elizabeth Berns of the King County 18 Superior Court in Washington State as the sole defendant in this action. (See id. at 1.)¹ 19 Mr. Khazali is proceeding in forma pauperis ("IFP"). (See IFP Ord. (Dkt. # 3) at 1 20 (granting Mr. Khazali's motion for leave to proceed IFP).) However, in granting Mr.

1 Khazali IFP status, Chief Magistrate Judge James P. Donohue, recommended review of 2 Mr. Khazali’s complaint under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B). (IFP Ord. at 1.) The court has 3 conducted the recommended review and DISMISSES Mr. Khazali’s complaint and this 4 action with prejudice and without leave to amend his complaint as more fully described 5 below.

6 II. BACKGROUND

7 On June 30, 2016, Mr. Khazali filed a motion for leave to proceed IFP (IFP Mot.
8 (Dkt. # 1)), along with a proposed complaint (Dkt. # 1-1). On July 13, 2016, Magistrate 9 Judge Donohue granted Mr. Khazali’s IFP motion, and his complaint was filed on the 10 court’s docket on the same day. (IFP Ord.; Compl.) In his order Magistrate Judge 11 Donohue “recommends review” of Mr. Khazali’s complaint under 28 U.S.C.
12 § 1915(e)(2)(B). (IFP Ord. at 1.)

13 In addition to the present suit, on June 30, 2016, Mr. Khazali also filed a related 14 action in this court against “King County Court of the Washington State” to “[s]top the 15 proceeding on the case number: 15-3-00152-7 SEA.”² (See Khazali v. King Ct. Court of 16 Wash. State, No. C16-1021JLR, W.D. Wash. (“Khazali I”), Compl. (Dkt. # 4) at 4.) In 17 addition to a variety of other relief, he asks this court to (1) “[v]oid all the [o]rders of the 18 King County Court of Washington” in the state court case, (2) “[s]tart an investigation on

² The court liberally construes Mr. Khazali’s related complaint to be against King County Superior Court for the State of Washington. See Balisteri v. Pacifica Police Dep’t, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1988) (“[P]ro se pleadings are liberally construed, particularly where civil rights claims are involved.”).

1 the [k]idnapping third party [sic] in the case,” and (3) “[t]ak[e] the kidnapped child from 2 the [k]idnappers and return[] him to his custodian [f]ather by a Federal agent.” (Id. at 4.)

3 The court has reviewed the docket, pleadings and orders that are on file and 4 publically available in King County Superior Court Case Number 15-3-00152-7 SEA.³
5 See In re the Custody of: T.K.K., No. 15-3-00152-7 SEA, King County Superior Court of 6 the State of Washington (“In re the Custody of: T.K.K.”).⁴ The state court matter was 7 initiated on January 5, 2015, when the grandmother of Mr. Khazali’s son filed a petition 8 for non-parental custody of the boy. Id., Dkt. # 1. On March 23, 2016, Judge Berns 9 issued a temporary restraining order against Mr. Khalazi, which prohibited him from 10 having contact with his son or his son’s grandmother until the case could be tried or until 12 ³ Under Federal Rule of Evidence 201, the court may take judicial notice of the docket 13 and various orders issued by King County Superior Court in this related action in state court. See 14 Reyn’s Pasta Bella, LLC v. Visa USA, Inc., 442 F.3d 741, 746 n.6 (9th Cir. 2006) (“We may take 15 judicial notice of court filings and other matters of public record”); In re Zulueta, 520 F. App’x 21 judicial notice of the pleadings and court orders in earlier related proceedings); Madden v. Cate, 22 No. CV 11-5652 FMO(JC), 2013 WL 5741781, *3 n.5 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 22, 2013) (taking judicial notice of the California Supreme Court docket); Rosal v. First Fed. Bank of Cal., 671 F. Supp.

2d 1111, 1120-21 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (taking judicial notice of plaintiff’s bankruptcy petition, an order granting a motion for relief from the automatic stay, and the bankruptcy court’s order of dismissal); Retired Emps. Ass’n of Orange Cty., Inc. v. Cty. of Orange, 632 F. Supp. 2d 983, 985 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (taking judicial notice of a bankruptcy court order under Rule 201); Schweitzer
v. Scott, 469 F. Supp. 1017, 1020 (C.D. Cal. 1979) (ruling in a case involving review under 28 U.S.C. § 1915 that “the Court is empowered to and does take judicial notice of court files and records”). Further, the court may take judicial notice of appropriate public records on its own without a party’s request. See Fed. R. Evid. 201(c).

⁴ To protect the privacy of the child at issue, the court has replaced the child’s name in the title of the case with initials. See Local Rule W.D. Wash. LCR 5.2(a)(2).

1 August 1, 2016, whichever occurred later. Id., Dkt. # 109. The case was reassigned to 2 Judge Sean P. O’Donnell on July 13, 2016. Id., Dkt. # 119. Judge O’Donnell held a non-3 jury trial on August 1, 2016. Id., Dkt. # 126. On August 3, 2016, Judge O’Donnell 4 issued another temporary restraining order against Mr. Khalazi, which prohibits him from 5 having contact with his son or his son’s grandmother until September 6, 2016, or until 6 further order of the court. Id., Dkt. # 131.

7 In the present suit, Mr. Khazali alleges Judge Berns failed to “respond[] in any 8 way to [his] motions for dismissal of the case and dismissal of the restraining order.” 9 (Compl. at 6.) He alleges that she ignored his report of a kidnapping and “legalized the 10 [k]idnapping” of his child. (See id.) Mr. Khazali alleges that he was “judged to be 11 unstable [sic] man who could hurt court personnel.” (Id. at 7.) He further alleges that he 12 “has been restrained to contact his own child for so long and security is summoned only 13 because of what he says and what he wrote,” and that he “only criticized the court and the 14 States.” (Id.) He alleges that as a result of the “legalized . . . kidnapping” of his child, he 15 has “lost his business, home, and belonging[s].” (Id.) He alleges that “Judge . . .
16 Berns . . . tortured [him] and his family for what he said or what he wrote or what he 17 believed!” (Id.) Finally, he asserts that Judge Berns did not act within her “judicial duty” 18 when she failed to respond to his motions and ignored his reports of a “[k]idnapping in

1 progress” (id. at 6), and that her alleged actions in “forc[ing] and support[ing] the 2 kidnapping of the child” were unconstitutional and non-judicial (id. at 7).⁵

3 Pursuant to Magistrate Judge Donohue’s recommendation, the court now reviews 4 Mr. Khazali’s complaint pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B).

5 III. ANALYSIS

6 Title 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B) authorizes a district court to dismiss a claim filed 7 IFP “at any time” if it determines: (1) the action is frivolous or malicious; (2) the action 8 fails to state a claim; or (3) the action seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is 9 immune from such relief. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B).⁶ Pro se pleadings must be 10 liberally construed. Balisteri, 901 F.2d at 699. When reviewing a complaint, however, a 11 court does not accept as true unreasonable inferences or conclusory legal allegations cast 12 in the form of factual allegations. See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) 13 (“[T]he tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a 14 complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions.”); W. Mining Council v. Watt, 643 F.2d 15 618, 624 (9th Cir. 1981); Spewell v. Golden State Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir.
16 2001) (“Nor is the court required to accept as true allegations that are merely conclusory, 17 unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable inferences.”); Clegg v. Cult Awareness

19 ⁵ Mr. Khazali’s complaint states: “The judge forced and supported the kidnapping of the 20 child with her none constitutional, none judicial action.” (Compl. at 7.) The court liberally construes this statement as indicated above.

21 ⁶ Under Calhoun v. Stahl, 254 F.3d 845, 845 (9th Cir. 2001) (per curiam), the court may 22 properly apply the screening provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B) to non-prisoner civil litigants seeking to proceed IFP.

1 | Network, 18 F.3d 752, 754-55 (9th Cir. 1994) (“[T]he court is not required to accept legal
2 | conclusions cast in the form of factual allegations if those conclusions cannot reasonably
3 | be drawn from the facts alleged.”); McGlinchy v. Shell Chem. Co., 845 F.2d 802, 810 (9th
4 | Cir. 1988) (“[C]onclusory allegations without more are insufficient to defeat a motion to 5 | dismiss for failure to state a claim”). If a plaintiff’s complaint is found deficient and an
6 | amendment could possibly cure the deficiency, the complaint must be dismissed with 7 | leave to amend. See Eldridge v. Block, 832 F.2d 1132, 1135-37 (9th Cir. 1987).
8 | However, leave to amend is properly denied “where the amendment would be futile.”
9 | DeSoto v. Yellow Freight Sys., 957 F.2d 655, 659 (9th Cir.1992).

10 | Judges are absolutely immune from liability for damages based on acts performed
11 | in their official capacities, Ashelman v. Pope, 793 F.2d 1072, 1075 (9th Cir. 1986) (en 12 | banc), and this immunity shields judges from liability for damages in civil rights suits for 13 | judicial acts performed within their subject matter jurisdiction, Stump v. Sparkman, 435
14 | U.S. 349, 356 (1978). The public policy that underlies judicial immunity is the 15 | furtherance of independent and disinterested judicial decision making. Ashelman, 793
16 | F.2d at 1078. To effectuate this policy, the Ninth Circuit broadly construes the scope of 17 | judicial immunity. Id. Judicial immunity is not affected by the motives underlying 18 | judicial acts. Id. at 1077. Judicial immunity applies even if there are allegations that a
19 | judicial decision resulted from a bribe or a conspiracy. Id. at 1078. It applies no matter
20 | how “erroneous the act may have been, and however injurious in its consequences it may 21 | have proved to the plaintiff.” Id. at 1074 (citing Cleavinger v. Saxner, 474 U.S. 193
22 | (1985) (quotations omitted)). Judicial immunity “is not limited to immunity from

1 damages, but extends to actions for declaratory, injunctive and other equitable relief.”
2 Moore v. Brewster, 96 F.3d 1240, 1243 (9th Cir.1996) (discussing federal judges’ 3 immunities).⁷

4 Judges are not immune, however, if they act in the clear absence of all jurisdiction 5 or perform acts that are not judicial in nature. Ashelman, 793 F.2d at 1075. Acts are 6 judicial where the acts are normally performed by a judge, and where the parties deal 7 with the judge in his or her judicial capacity. Id.; Sparkman, 435 U.S. at 361; Crooks v.
8 Maynard, 913 F.2d 699, 700 (9th Cir. 1990). A judge will not be deprived of immunity 9 because the action he or she took was in error, was done maliciously, or was in excess of 10 his or her authority; rather, he or she will be subject to liability only when he or she has 11 acted in the clear absence of all jurisdiction, Sparkman, 435 U.S. at 356-57; that is, when 12 he or she acts in a private or nonjudicial capacity, see Henzel v. Gerstein, 608 F.2d 654, 13 658 (5th Cir. 1979).

14 Judge Berns was acting within her normal, official judicial capacity and function 15 when she refused to accept or denied Mr. Khazali’s motions. (See Compl. at 6.) Based 16 on the court’s review of the King County Superior Court docket and orders in that case, 17 she was also acting within her normal, official judicial capacity when she entered a 18 temporary restraining order against Mr. Khazali, which allowed his child to remain with 19 the child’s grandmother and effectively prevented Mr. Khazali from contacting his child.

20 21 ⁷ Moreover, in 1996 Congress amended 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to prohibit the grant of 22 injunctive relief against any judicial officer, state or federal, acting in his or her official capacity “unless a declaratory decree was violated or declaratory relief was unavailable.” 42 U.S.C.
§ 1983.

1 Mr. Khazali’s descriptions of Judge Berns’s actions as “legalized kidnapping” or 2 “torture” (see Compl. at 7) are to no avail because they constitute legal conclusions, 3 conclusory factual allegations, or unreasonable factual inferences that the court need not 4 accept as true. See Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678; W. Mining Council, 643 F.2d at 624; Spewell, 5 266 F.3d at 988; Clegg, 18 F.3d at 754-55. The same is true of Mr. Khazali’s conclusory 6 allegations that Judge Berns’s acts were non-judicial in nature or not within her “judicial 7 duty.” (See Compl. at 6-7.)

8 Because Mr. Khazali’s allegations challenge core judicial functions, such as 9 presiding over child custody proceedings, maintaining control over the case docket, and 10 determining motions, Mr. Khazali’s claims are barred by the doctrine of judicial 11 immunity. See, e.g., Gonsalves v. Unknown Judge, No. CIV. 12-00034 LEK, 2012 WL 12 214711, at *2 (D. Haw. Jan. 24, 2012) (ruling that because the plaintiff’s allegations 13 challenged judicial functions such as presiding over proceedings, maintaining control 14 over the docket, and deciding motions, the plaintiff’s claims were barred by judicial 15 immunity). Accordingly, the court DISMISSES Mr. Khazali’s complaint with prejudice 16 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B).

17 In addition, the court finds that any amendment of Mr. Kzahali’s complaint would 18 be futile because Judge Berns is immune from suit. See Smith v. Commanding Officer, 19 Air Force Accounting & Fin. Ctr., 555 F.2d 234, 235 (9th Cir. 1977) (“[I]t was within the 20 discretion of the district court to deny leave to amend when the amendment would be 21 ‘futile’ because [the plaintiff] could not prevail on the merits because of the 22 Government’s immunity.”) (citing Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178 (1962) and Brennan v.

1 Univ. of Kansas, 451 F.2d 1287, 1289 (10th Cir. 1971)); see also Huffine v. Molloy, No.
2 C07-1556-RSMJPD, 2007 WL 4026155, at *1 (W.D. Wash. Nov. 14, 2007) (denying 3 leave to amend as futile because plaintiff's complaint was directed at a judge who was 4 immune from suit). Accordingly, the court DENIES Mr. Khazali leave to amend his 5 complaint.

6 Finally, the court CERTIFIES that any IFP appeal from this order would not be 7 taken "in good faith" pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3). See Coppedge v. United States, 8 369 U.S. 438, 445 (1962); Gardner v. Pogue, 558 F.2d 548, 550 (9th Cir. 1977) (indigent 9 appellant is permitted to proceed IFP on appeal only if appeal would not be frivolous).

10 IV. CONCLUSION

11 For the foregoing reasons, the court DISMISSES this action with prejudice under 12 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B) because the complaint is frivolous, fails to state a claim upon 13 which relief can be granted, and seeks relief against a defendant who is immune from 14 suit. Further, because any amendment of Mr. Khazali's complaint would be futile, the 15 court DENIES Mr. Khazali leave to amend his complaint. Finally, the court CERTIFIES 16 that any IFP appeal from this order would not be taken in good faith.
