UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

ROBERT E. CARUSO and SANDRA L.
FERGUSON,

Plaintiffs,

v.

WASHINGTON STATE BAR
ASSOCIATION, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. C17-00003 RSM

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANTS'
MOTION FOR PRE-FILING ORDER

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on Defendants' Motion for a Pre-Filing Order against Plaintiff Robert E. Caruso's counsel, Stephen K. Eugster. Dkt. #61. For the reasons stated below, the Court GRANTS this Motion.

II. BACKGROUND

Mr. Eugster's legal battles against the Washington State Bar Association apparently began in 2009 after he was sanctioned for professional misconduct. See In re Disciplinary Proceeding Against Eugster, 166 Wn.2d 293, 298 (2009) ("Eugster I").

In December of that year, Mr. Eugster filed suit in U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Washington ("Eastern District"), alleging Washington's lawyer discipline system

1 violates due process. Dkt. #62-1, Appendix at 1-31 (“Eugster II”).¹ The court dismissed the 2 case because Mr. Eugster lacked standing and because his claims were unripe. Id. at 68-75. He 3 appealed and the Ninth Circuit affirmed. Id. at 78-79.

4 In early 2015, Mr. Eugster filed suit here in the Western District, challenging bar
5 membership, license fees, and the use of such fees. Id. at 80-97 (“Eugster III”). This Court
6 found that Mr. Eugster altered and “grossly misstate[d]” language from a U.S. Supreme Court
7 opinion to support his theory of the case. Id. at 130. This Court explained that the Supreme 8 Court and Ninth Circuit have upheld mandatory bar membership and fees several times, “and in 9 no uncertain terms.” Id. at 130-34. The Court dismissed Mr. Eugster’s claims with prejudice;
10 the Ninth Circuit affirmed. Id. at 139-42.

11 In late 2015, soon after Eugster III was dismissed, Mr. Eugster filed complaints in 12 Spokane County Superior Court and in federal court in the Eastern District, again claiming that 13 Washington’s lawyer discipline system violates due process requirements. See id. at 143-77
14 (“Eugster IV”), 289-325 (“Eugster V”). These cases were also dismissed with prejudice, on res
15 judicata grounds, in part because Mr. Eugster could have raised such objections in his prior 16 disciplinary proceedings. Id. at 225-28; 367-81. Division III of the Court of Appeals affirmed, 17 and the Washington Supreme Court denied Mr. Eugster’s petition for review in Eugster IV. Id.
18 at 230-276. Eugster V remains pending before the Ninth Circuit, id. at 382-383; Dkt. #62
19 (“Flevaris Decl.”) at ¶21.

20 In late 2016, Mr. Eugster filed suit again in this Court, again challenging bar
21 membership, fees, and discipline procedures. Id. at 400-24 (“Eugster VI”). Mr. Eugster tried
22 to distinguish the suit by arguing the WSBA’s most recent bylaw amendments designating

1 limited license practitioners as bar members transformed the WSBA into a new entity that 2 lacked authority. Id. at 407-416, 421-23. Mr. Eugster voluntarily dismissed that suit, id. at 3 425-26, then immediately re-filed the same claims in the instant matter, on behalf of two other
4 previously disciplined lawyers, initially as a class action but eventually abandoning the class
5 claims. Id. at 427-76; 477-516. This Court rejected Mr. Eugster’s arguments and dismissed his 6 claims with prejudice. Id. at 517-25.

8 In early 2017, around the same time he filed this case, Mr. Eugster also filed suit in 9 Thurston County Superior Court, again challenging WSBA license fees. Id. at 668-692
10 (“Eugster VII”). Mr. Eugster argued that license fees constitute an improper “tax.” Id. at 704.
11 Eugster asked that the WSBA be placed into a receivership and for an accounting of any 12 WSBA expenditures. Id. at 706-07. After Defendants moved to dismiss, Mr. Eugster
13 voluntarily dismissed the case. Flevaris Decl. ¶39; Appendix at 723-24.

15 At one point the WSBA asked this Court to impose monetary sanctions against Mr.
16 Eugster, to deter him from his escalating pattern of meritless litigation. This Court agreed, 17 finding Mr. Eugster had filed a “legally and factually baseless” suit after being “on notice of 18 the flaws” in his claims, especially given his prior suits. Appendix at 532. This Court ordered 19 Mr. Eugster to pay $28,385 to the WSBA for legal expenses incurred defending against the 20 suit. Id. at 540. On appeal, Mr. Eugster argued the WSBA had defrauded this Court and that 21 this Court was unduly biased. Id. at 570-88. The Ninth Circuit affirmed, rejecting those 22 arguments as meritless and “unsupported by the record.” Id. at 615-18, 620. Mr. Eugster
23 moved for rehearing en banc, and that request is pending. Id. at 626-40, 645-665; Flevaris
24 Decl. ¶¶ 33-34.
25
26
27
28

1 Mr. Eugster did not heed the sanction this Court imposed on him. In late 2017, Mr.
2 Eugster filed another lawsuit in the Eastern District. Appendix at 737-47 (“Eugster VIII”). As 3 before, Mr. Eugster’s complaint asserted constitutional claims against bar membership, license
4 fees, and discipline procedures, and argued that the WSBA lacks regulatory authority. Id. at 5 744-47. In response, the WSBA notified Mr. Eugster that his complaint was duplicative and 6 frivolous, as before. Id. at 727. The WSBA also notified Mr. Eugster that it would seek a 7 vexatious litigant order against him if he refused to withdraw the case. See id.

9 Mr. Eugster did not withdraw. Instead, he requested that the assigned judge recuse
10 himself based on the fact he had already dismissed one of Mr. Eugster’s prior suits. See id. at 11 823-29. The court denied that request and the WSBA moved to dismiss. Id. at 830-34; 748-70.
12 In response, Mr. Eugster filed an amended complaint with the same claims; also reasserting his 13 challenge against the use of fees; and arguing as a new theory in support of those claims that 14 the Washington Supreme Court and WSBA constitute a monopoly over the practice of law. Id.
15 at 771-95. The WSBA again moved to dismiss, explaining that Mr. Eugster’s claims were 16 precluded by his past suits and meritless as a matter of law in any event. See id. at 796-822.
17 That motion remains pending. Flevaris Decl. at ¶46.

20 On February 12, 2018, Mr. Eugster filed another lawsuit in Spokane County, asserting 21 defamation, invasion of privacy, and abuse of process claims against both the WSBA and its 22 attorneys as named defendants, based on the WSBA’s briefing in this case. Id. at 835-48
23 (“Eugster IX”). That action remains pending. Flevaris Decl. at ¶49.

25 The next day, Mr. Eugster filed a “Complaint on Remand” before the superior court in 26 Eugster IV, purporting to name the Washington Court of Appeals and the individual judges
27 who decided the appeal in that case as defendants. Appendix at 227-85. Mr. Eugster argued 28

1 that the judges “made the case their own” and that the decision in that case cannot stand
2 because the discipline system does not afford due process. Id. at 281-82. The superior court
3 summarily denied Mr. Eugster’s request because the matter already had been “dismissed with 4 prejudice.” Id. at 286.

5 On March 6, 2018, Mr. Eugster filed in Thurston County, again challenging bar
6 membership, fees, and the discipline system, and asserting that the Washington Supreme Court
7 and WSBA constitute a monopoly. Id. at 849-61 (“Eugster X”). That case is pending. Flevaris
8 Decl. ¶51.

10 Finally, in an appendix Mr. Eugster recently filed, he included a copy of a complaint
11 and summons for a new case apparently filed in Spokane County on April 10, 2018. Flevaris 12 Decl. at ¶52; Appendix at 874-83 (“Eugster XI”). This complaint names the WSBA, the 13 Washington Court of Appeals Division III, and the three judges who ruled against him in 14 Eugster IV as defendants, challenging the decision in that case. Appendix at 875-78.

15
16 On multiple occasions, the WSBA has requested Mr. Eugster pay the fee award this 17 Court imposed on him. Id. at 666. Mr. Eugster has ignored those requests and the Court’s 18 prior order. Flevaris Decl. at ¶¶ 28, 35.

19 20 III. DISCUSSION

21 A. Legal Standard

22 The All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), provides district courts with the inherent power
23 to enter pre-filing orders against vexatious litigants. Weissman v. Quail Lodge Inc., 179 F.3d
24 1194, 1197 (9th Cir. 1999). Such pre-filing orders are an extreme remedy that should rarely be 25 used. Molski v. Evergreen Dynasty Corp., 500 F.3d 1047, 1057 (9th Cir. 2007). Courts should 26 not enter pre-filing orders with undue haste because such sanctions can tread on a litigant's due 27
28

1 process right of access to the courts. Id. (citing Cromer v. Kraft Foods N. Am., Inc., 390 F.3d
2 812, 817 (4th Cir. 2004); Moy v. United States, 906 F.2d 467, 470 (9th Cir. 1990); Logan v.
3 Zimmerman Brush Co., 455 U.S. 422, 429, 102 S. Ct. 1148, 71 L. Ed. 2d 265 (1982); 5A
4 Charles Alan Wright & Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1336.3, at 698 (3d
5 ed. 2004)). A court should enter a pre-filing order constraining a litigant’s scope of actions in 6 future cases only after a cautious review of the pertinent circumstances. Id. Nevertheless, 7 “flagrant abuse of the judicial process cannot be tolerated because it enables one person to 8 preempt the use of judicial time that properly could be used to consider the meritorious claims
9 of other litigants.” Id. There are four factors for district courts to examine before entering pre-
10 filing orders. First, the litigant must be given notice and a chance to be heard before the order 11 is entered; second, the district court must compile an adequate record for review; third, the 12 district court must make substantive findings about the frivolous or harassing nature of the 13 plaintiff’s litigation; and fourth, the vexatious litigant order “must be narrowly tailored to 14 closely fit the specific vice encountered.” Id. The relevant record for review includes prior 15 complaints and related filings and orders. See Molski, 500 F.3d at 1059.

19 B. Analysis

20 Defendants step through each of the above elements in their Motion. They argue that 21 Mr. Eugster has received proper notice, both by email and by service of this Motion. Dkt. #61
22 at 7 (citing Appendix at 727 and 731). The Court agrees that Mr. Eugster has received proper 23 notice and a chance to be heard on this Motion.

25 Next, Defendants contend that the Court has an adequate record for review because “a 26 complete list of the offending party’s cases and the complaints from many of those cases
27 qualif[y] as an adequate record.” Id. (citing Molski, 500 F.3d at 1059). The Court agrees.

1 Third, Defendants contend that the record supports a finding that Mr. Eugster's
2 litigation efforts have been frivolous and harassing. To evaluate whether a party's actions
3 warrant such an order, courts in the Ninth Circuit often consider five factors: (1) the party's 4 "history of litigation" and any duplicative or harassing suits; (2) whether the party has an 5 objective good faith expectation of prevailing; (3) whether the party is represented by counsel;
6 (4) whether the party has caused "needless expense" to others or posed an unnecessary burden
7 on the courts; and (5) whether other sanctions would provide adequate protection. Molski, 500
8 F.3d at 1058. Defendants walk through each of these factors. See Dkt. #61 at 8–12. The Court
9 has reviewed the extensive record, Defendants' briefing, and Mr. Eugster's briefing, and finds
10 that each of these elements supports Defendants' requested relief. First, Mr. Eugster's eleven 11 actions constitute a massive amount of duplicative litigation. That at least some of these 12 litigation efforts are duplicative is obvious given that courts have previously dismissed on res
13 judicata grounds; cases that are not directly duplicative are derivative. The record demonstrates 14 clearly that much of that litigation is meant to harass Defendants, their counsel, and judges who 15 ruled against him. See Lundahl v. Nar Inc., 434 F. Supp. 2d 855, 859-60 (D. Idaho 2006)
16 (finding harassment based on a "lengthy history of targeting the same defendant and any party
17 previously associated with [prior] lawsuits, including judges, clerks, and attorneys.) The Court
18 can also infer that these efforts are meant to harass. See Johns v. Town of Los Gatos, 834 F.
19 Supp. 1230, 1232 (N.D. Cal. 1993); Buster v. Greisen, 104 F.3d 1186, 1189-90 (9th Cir. 1997).
20 Second, courts have previously found that Mr. Eugster had no objective good faith expectation 21 of prevailing. See Appendix at 75, 136-39, 232, 380, 524-25. Third, Eugster is himself an 22 attorney and is not entitled to any deference as a pro se filer. Fourth, Defendants have 23 submitted adequate evidence of needless expense based on Mr. Eugster's procedural practices.
25
26
27
28

1 See Dkt. #61 at 10–11. The Court finds that Mr. Eugster has posed an unnecessary burden on 2 federal and state courts. Fifth, the Court finds that no other sanction would provide adequate
3 protection, given that Mr. Eugster has so far failed to pay monetary fees ordered by this Court
4 as a sanction. See Appendix at 666. Where prior sanctions have not deterred a vexatious
5 litigant, a pre-filing order becomes appropriate. See, e.g., Henry v. Gill Indus., Inc., 983 F.2d
6 943, 948 (9th Cir. 1993).

8 Finally, Defendants assert that their requested pre-filing order is appropriately tailored.
9 Dkt. #61 at 12–13. Defendants request the Court restrict Mr. Eugster from filing any lawsuits
10 against the WSBA, its employees, or agents in federal court without this Court’s permission.
11 The Court agrees that such relief is proper given the numerous and varied suits Mr. Eugster has 12 previously filed naming the WSBA and WSBA officials and employees. Any kind of lawsuit 13 against such persons in federal court would raise the strong possibility of being filed for a 14 frivolous and harassing purpose. Second, the WSBA requests that the Court restrict Mr.
15 Eugster from filing any facial challenges to Washington’s bar system in state court.
16 Defendants point out that a federal court can enjoin future state court filings regarding matters
17 already decided in federal court, to effectuate the federal court’s judgments and prevent re-18 litigation. Dkt. #61 at 13 (citing G.C. & K.B. Investments, Inc. v. Wilson, 326 F.3d 1096, 1107 19 (9th Cir. 2003)). The Court agrees that such a restriction is warranted under the doctrine of res
20 judicata and the record, and is permitted under the relitigation exception to the Anti-Injunction
21 Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2283. See G.C. & K.B., supra. Finally, the WSBA requests that the Court
22 restrict Mr. Eugster from asserting claims arising from his prior federal suits, in federal or state
23 court. Dkt. #61 at 13 (citing Cook v. Peter Kiewit Sons Co., 775 F.2d 1030, 1033-34 (9th Cir.
24 1985); Wood v. Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce, Inc., 705 F.2d 1515, 1525-26 (9th Cir.
25
26
27
28

1 1983)). Mr. Eugster argues that these requests are “too broad and ill-defined,” yet he fails to 2 explain how this could be the case given the record. See Dkt. #63 at 7. Defendants point out
3 on Reply that this proposed order will “not prevent Eugster from bringing valid claims on his 4 own behalf or on behalf of his clients,” instead requiring “pre-filing review only of certain 5 limited categories of claims that Eugster already has had ample opportunity to litigate.” Dkt.
6 #66 at 7. The Court agrees and will grant Defendants’ proposed relief.

8 IV. CONCLUSION

9 Having reviewed the relevant briefing and the remainder of the record, the Court hereby 10 finds and ORDERS:
11

- 12 1) Steven K. Eugster is enjoined from filing any of the following without prior leave of 13 this Court: (a) any lawsuit in federal court against the WSBA, its employees, or 14 agents; (b) any lawsuit in a Washington State court bringing a facial challenge
15 against Washington State’s attorney bar system; and (c) any claims in federal or state
16 court arising from one of Mr. Eugster’s prior federal suits challenging Washington
17 State’s bar system. This injunction applies to Mr. Eugster as a party and in his role 18 as an attorney.
19
- 20 2) In the future, if Mr. Eugster wishes to obtain leave of this Court to file such a 21 lawsuit, he must first file a separate motion under Case No. 2:18-mc-66 RSM stating 22 clearly what distinguishes the contemplated suit from all of his prior suits. He must 23 attach a proposed copy of the complaint. He must further present a short description
24 of the legal basis for each claim to be pursued, with brief citation to legal authorities
25 in support. Mr. Eugster may then only file his proposed complaint in federal or state 26 court if he obtains leave of this Court to do so.
