41:4 – 16	Foundation; Relevance	Premiums not relevant to coverage of the underlying claim and the witness has no basis as the claims preparer to testify regarding premiums Microsoft paid or Cypress received. F.R.E. 401, 602	Ms. Kist's answer relates to the issue of voluntary payor and is thus relevant.  Moreover, she is being questioned on an email (Exhibit 196) that was directed to her. Additionally, parties have stipulated admissibility to that email on March 4, 2019.	OVERRULED
43:1 – 11	Relevance	Premiums not relevant to coverage of the underlying claim and the witness has no basis as the claims preparer to testify regarding premiums Microsoft paid or the Reinsurers received. F.R.E. 401, 602	Ms. Kist's answer relates to the issue of voluntary payor and is thus relevant.  Q. Were reinsurance premiums relevant to this particular policy?   A. Because reinsurance premiums are part of what makes up the policy.	OVERRULED

45:19 – 46:7	Relevance	Business impact analysis has no relevance to any issues in the case including the insurance claim, payment of the underlying contingent business interruption claim to Cypress, or the voluntary payment defense of Hynix. F.R.E. 401	Ms. Kist's answer relates to the issue of voluntary payor and Cypress' evidence of damages.  Q. Can you tell me what this analysis is for?  A. Yes. It's a business impact analysis that actually reviews Microsoft's, you know, revenues and impacts to their revenues throughout the year.  Q. Impact of what?  A. It could be the impact of a loss.  Q. Do you know who came up with the data that's contained in this document?  A. Yes.  Q. Who was it?  A. Microsoft.  (Kist Dep., 45:22-46:7.)	OVERRULED

47:8 – 47:16	Foundation	The testimony was provided in response to an incomplete hypothetical and thus, is an improper opinion. F.R.E. 701	Ms. Field's response was not in response to an incomplete hypothetical but a line of questioning based off of a document that she was being question on:	OVERRULED
			Q And did you review any materials other than what Microsoft provided you directly? A With respect to this particular bullet point? Q Yes. A No. Q And submitting a claim for incremental freight expenses would only have been appropriate if the incremental expenses were caused by the fire, right? A Correct. Q If those extra expenses were caused by reasons other than the fire, then submitting a claim for that amount would not have been appropriate? A Correct.  (Field Dep., 47:2-16.)

64:15 – 16	Foundation	The question posed lacks foundation as to whether the witness is qualified to offer an opinion re: "best practice" and submission to an insurance company as she is employed by a claim preparation company, not an insurance company. F.R.E. 701	Ms. Field's answer is permissible under FRE 701 as it is based on her perception as someone who has substantial experience. Her answer puts in context her other testimony regarding the handling of the insurance claim and is thus helpful. Moreover, it is not based on any specialized knowledge as prohibited under FRE 701.	OVERRULED
66:16 – 67:22	Relevance	Ex. 207 related to negotiations in 2014 and is not relevant to the fire that occurred in 2013 or to any issue in the case. F.R.E. 401	Ms. Field's answer goes to the calculation of consequential incremental chip costs that Cypress potentially paid for and is therefore relevant.  Q. When you say what amount is incremental, you wanted to get an idea of what the baseline to compare it against it was.	OVERRULED

PAGE / LINE	NATURE OF OBJECTION	REASON	RESPONSE	COURT'S RULING

			Q. And when calculating the incremental chip costs, was it your understanding that the incremental cost was based on a comparison between what Microsoft paid for Samsung chips compared to what they would have paid for Hynix chips?

The fact that Microsoft was going to consider purchasing these chips from Samsung in 2014 regardless of whether the fire occurred is not relevant to this litigation and no foundation has been provided by Hynix. F.R.E. 401	Field's testimony is also based on an email, (Exhibit 207)—to which parties stipulated admissibility on March 4, 2019—where she was a recipient,  Q. So if we look back at the document at Exhibit 207, Mr. King tells you (reading) A. Right.  (Field Dep., 70:24-71:6.)
82:25 – 84:1	Foundation; relevance	This is not relevant to the fire and the claim as submitted to the insurers. F.R.E. 401	Ms. Field's answer relates to the issue of voluntary payor and is thus relevant.  Moreover, the questions are an attempt to establish foundation through her memory:  Q. 84:8 – 25	Foundation; relevance	This is not relevant to the fire and the claim as submitted to the insurers. F.R.E. 401	Ms. Field's answer relates to the issue of voluntary payor and is thus relevant.  Moreover, her answer is based on her recollection of discussions.  Q. What basis do you have to conclude that it was an immaterial amount then?  A. My recollection of the discussion.  (Field Dep., 84:18-20.)	OVERRULED
89:12 – 17	Foundation	Witness has no recollection of the question posed.	Hyinx's counter-designation is being used to establish what Ms. Field knows or does not know, which goes to the foundation of Cypress' designations. See Fed R. Her testimony is rationally based on her perception of that document and the situation surrounding that document, is helpful to clearly understanding the rest of her testimony, and is not based on scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge. Thus, it is admissible. Fed. R. Evid. 701.
92:14 – 25	Foundation and No Knowledge	The witness had never seen the email shown to her and the email does not state what Hynix claims it does, i.e. inconsistent with the ability of Hynix to supply 30.6 million DRAM chips. F.R.E. 801	Ms. Field's testimony goes to her knowledge of whether she had seen information similar to what was contained in the document presented before her. In other words, her knowledge regarding the exact document before her is not at issue. Moreover, this counter-designation is meant to establish what Ms. Field knows or does not know,	OVERRULED

57:19 – 24	Relevance	Number of lines at Icheon has no relevance to the issues in the case. F.R.E. 401	Icheon is the facility listed in the Ninth Amendment that produced Microsoft's 2133 DRAM chips. Given that Cypress' claim is that Hynix did not produce enough 2133 DRAM chips when Hynix allegedly could have, such information goes to the core of the litigation and is thus relevant.	OVERRULED
