10 ANDREW MARK SALAZAR,

11 Petitioner,

12 v.

13 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

14 Respondent.

CASE NO. C17-1770JLR

ORDER DENYING PETITION TO SET ASIDE, VACATE, OR CORRECT SENTENCE

15 I. INTRODUCTION

16 Before the court is Petitioner Andrew Mark Salazar's 28 U.S.C. § 2255 petition to 17 set aside, vacate, or correct his sentence. (Pet. (Dkt. # 1).) In support of his petition, Mr.
18 Salazar asserts (1) the trial court imposed a sentence in excess of the legal maximum; (2)
19 the trial court imposed unconstitutional enhancements to his sentence; and (3)
20 prosecutorial misconduct. (See id. at 2.) Respondent United States of America ("the 21 Government") opposes Mr. Salazar's petition. (See Resp. (Dkt. # 7).) For the reasons
22

1 stated below, the court DENIES Mr. Salazar's petition and this matter is DISMISSED
2 with prejudice.

3 II. BACKGROUND

4 On January 28, 2015, the grand jury returned a superseding indictment charging
5 Mr. Salazar with producing visual depictions of minors engaged in sexually explicit
6 conduct and receiving and possessing visual depictions of minors engaged in sexually
7 explicit conduct in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 2251(a), 2251(e), 2252(a)(2), and
8 2252(a)(4). See United States v. Salazar, No. CR14-0275JLR-1 (W.D. Wash.), Dkt. # 1.
9 On April 13, 2015, Mr. Salazar pleaded guilty to two counts of possession and receipt of 10 visual depictions of minors engaged in sexually explicit conduct in exchange for the 11 dismissal of a count of production of visual depictions of minors engaged in sexually
12 explicit conduct. (See id., Dkt. ## 44, 45.) On August 3, 2015, this court sentenced Mr.
13 Salazar to 238 months imprisonment to be followed by lifetime supervision. (Id., Dkt.
14 # 59.) Mr. Salazar's sentence fell 22 months short of the high end of the agreed upon
15 recommendation range detailed in the Plea Agreement. (See id., Dkt. ## 10, 59.) Mr.
16 Salazar did not appeal his sentence or convictions. (See generally id.) Mr. Salazar filed
17 his present motion on November 22, 2017. (See id., Dkt. # 66; see also Pet.) The 18 Government timely opposed his petition. (See Resp.) The court now considers Mr.
19 Salazar's petition.¹

21 ¹ The court is not required to hold an evidentiary hearing on Mr. Salzar's petition because 22 there are no factual disputes and the record conclusively shows that he is not entitled to relief.
See United States v. Chacon-Palomares, 208 F.3d 1157, 1159 (9th Cir. 2000).

III. ANALYSIS

The court denies Mr. Salazar’s petition on three procedural grounds: (1) his petition is time barred; (2) his petition is barred because he failed to file a direct appeal; and (3) his petition is barred by the appeal waiver in his plea agreement that prohibits collateral attacks on his sentence. In addition, the court also denies Mr. Salazar’s petition because his claims lack merit.

A. Expiration of the Statute of Limitations

A one-year statute of limitations ordinarily applies to 28 U.S.C. § 2255 petitions. See 28 U.S.C. § 2255(f). The one-year statutory period can be triggered by four different events, but in Mr. Salazar’s case it was triggered when his judgment of conviction became final. See 28 U.S.C. § 2255(f)(1). Because Mr. Salazar did not file a direct appeal, his conviction became final “upon the expiration of the time during which [he] could have sought review by direct appeal.” United States v. Schwartz, 274 F.3d 1220, 1223 (9th Cir. 2001). Mr. Salazar’s judgment of conviction became final on August 17, 2015, fourteen days after the entry of the judgment on August 3, 2015. See Salazar, No. CR14-0275JLR-1, Dkt. # 59. Mr. Salazar did not file his 28 U.S.C. § 2255 petition until November 22, 2017. (See id., Dkt. # 66; see also Pet.) Thus, Mr. Salazar filed the motion over fifteen months after the statute of limitations expired.

In order to avoid the dismissal of his petition on statute of limitations grounds, Mr. Salazar must demonstrate “cause” for his procedural default or “some objective factor external to the defense” that impeded his adherence to the procedural rule. See Murray v. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 488 (1986); see also United States v. Skurdal, 341 F.3d 921, 925

1 (9th Cir. 2003). The Supreme Court has also stated that “cause” for failure to raise an
2 issue exists “where a constitutional claim is so novel that its legal basis is not reasonably
3 available to counsel.” Reed v. Ross, 468 U.S. 1, 16 (1984). Mr. Salazar’s constitutional
4 claims are not novel. (See generally Pet.) Mr. Salazar also does not offer any argument
5 about how any external factor impeded his ability to adhere to the statute of limitations.
6 (See generally id.) Accordingly, the court denies Mr. Salazar’s petition due to the 7 expiration of the statute of limitations.

8 B. Failure to File a Direct Appeal

9 Mr. Salazar’s claims are also barred because he failed to raise them on a direct 10 appeal. A defendant may not raise a claim on collateral review that was not raised on 11 direct appeal unless the defendant shows both (1) cause excusing the procedural default,
12 and (2) actual prejudice from the claim of error. United States v. Johnson, 988 F.2d 941,
13 945 (9th Cir. 1993). Mr. Salazar has made neither showing. Indeed, he received a
14 sentence below the top of the range expressly agreed to in his plea agreement. See
15 Salazar, No. CR14-0275JLR-1, Dkt. # 45. Accordingly, the court also denies Mr.
16 Salazar’s petition on this ground.

17 C. Waiver of Appeal or Collateral Attack

18 Mr. Salazar’s petition is also barred by the appeal waiver in his plea agreement,
19 which includes a waiver of the right to bring a collateral attack against his conviction and
20 sentence except as it may relate to the effectiveness of his legal representation. (See id.)
21 Although he alleges prosecutorial misconduct, nowhere in his petition does Mr. Salazar
22 allege ineffectiveness of counsel. (See generally Pet.) Statutory rights of appeal or

1 collateral attack may be waived by a criminal defendant in a valid plea agreement.
2 United States v. Leniear, 574 F.3d 668, 672 & n.3 (9th Cir. 2009) (citing United States v.
3 Abarca, 985 F.2d 1012, 1014 (9th Cir. 1993)); United States v. Navarro-Botello, 912
4 F.2d 318, 321 (9th Cir. 1990). Thus, the court denies Mr. Salazar’s petition on this
5 ground as well.

6 D. Conclusory Allegations

7 In addition to the procedural bars, Mr. Salazar’s claims are meritless. Indeed, Mr.
8 Salazar provides nothing but generalized allegations in support of his contentions that his
9 sentence was in excess of the maximum authorized by law, involved the imposition of 10 unconstitutional enhancements, and was the result of prosecutorial misconduct. (See 11 generally Pet.) Such conclusory allegations—unsupported by a statement of specific 12 facts—do not warrant habeas corpus relief. James v. Borg, 24 F.3d 20, 26 (9th Cir.
13 1994) (citing Boehme v. Maxwell, 423 F.2d 1056, 1058 (9th Cir. 1970)). Accordingly,
14 the court also denies Mr. Salazar’s petition on this basis.

15 IV. CONCLUSION

16 Mr. Salazar’s petition is procedurally barred because the statutory limitations
17 period has expired, Mr. Salazar failed to file a direct appeal, and Mr. Salazar waived any 18 collateral attack to his sentence and conviction in plea agreement. In addition, Mr.
19 Salazar’s substantive claims are long on unsupported and generalized allegations, and as 20 such, they do not warrant habeas corpus relief. For all of these reasons, the court

21 //

22 //

1 DENIES Mr. Salazar's 28 U.S.C. § 2255 petition and DISMISSES this action with 2 prejudice.
