Defendants.

Case No. C17-1787RSM

ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR
PROTECTIVE ORDER AND TO QUASH
OR MODIFY SUBPOENA

17 This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff Lorenzo Santiago Salas's Motion for 18 Protective Order and to Quash or Modify Subpoena. Dkt. #28.

19 A full background of this discovery dispute is unnecessary. This is a products-liability
20 action in which the plaintiff alleges a spray can exploded in his hands, causing injury. See Dkt.
21 #19 at 4. GT Engineering was retained as consulting experts by Plaintiff. Dkt. #28-1 at 2.
22 Defendants mailed a subpoena to GT Engineering seeking "all records, files, correspondence,
23 notes, test results, objects, and spray texture can that is the subject of this lawsuit." Id. at 12.
24 Defendants emailed a copy of that subpoena to Plaintiffs. GT Engineering apparently had 25 possession of the can for testing purposes. Plaintiff stated in initial disclosures and in 26 interrogatory responses that GT Engineering "may... testify." Dkt. #30-1 at 8 and 13.

ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER AND TO QUASH OR MODIFY
SUBPOENA - 1

1 The Court has reviewed the briefing of the parties and submitted declarations, and is
2 disappointed that the parties have been unable to resolve this relatively simple dispute. The 3 parties appear more interested in highlighting each other's perceived procedural errors than in
4 properly exchanging information.

5 It is not clear how Plaintiff has been prejudiced by Defendants serving the subpoena
6 request to Plaintiff via email given the history of communications between the parties.
7 However, giving Plaintiffs the benefit of the doubt as to whether GT Engineering was a
8 consulting expert rather than a testifying expert at the time of the original subpoena,
9 Defendants have not shown exceptional circumstances to justify production of GT
10 Engineering's expert opinions and conclusions. Because GT Engineering had possession of the 11 can at issue, Defendants may ask factual questions about chain-of-custody.
12

13 Having reviewed the relevant briefing, the declarations and exhibits attached thereto,
14 and the remainder of the record, the Court hereby finds and ORDERS that Plaintiff Salas's
15 Motion for Protective Order and to Quash or Modify Subpoena, Dkt. #28, is GRANTED.
16 Defendant shall issue a new subpoena seeking only factual, chain-of-custody information. The 17 parties shall attempt in good faith to enter a joint agreement before Defendant conducts any 18 destructive testing.
