II. DISCUSSION

A. Summary Judgment Standard

7 Summary judgment is proper only if the pleadings, the discovery and disclosure 8 materials on file, and any affidavits show that there is no genuine issue as to any material 9 fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). 10 The moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law when the nonmoving party 11 fails to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of a claim in the case on which 12 the nonmoving party has the burden of proof. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 13 323 (1986). There is no genuine issue of fact for trial where the record, taken as a whole, 14 could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party. Matsushita Elec. 15 Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986) (nonmoving party must 16 present specific, significant probative evidence, not simply "some metaphysical doubt"). 17 See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e). Conversely, a genuine dispute over a material fact exists 18 if there is sufficient evidence supporting the claimed factual dispute, requiring a judge or 19 jury to resolve the differing versions of the truth. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 20U.S. 242, 253 (1986); T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec. Contractors Ass'n, 809 F.2d 21 626, 630 (9th Cir. 1987).

22

1 The determination of the existence of a material fact is often a close question. The 2 Court must consider the substantive evidentiary burden that the nonmoving party must 3 meet at trial – e.g., a preponderance of the evidence in most civil cases. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 254; T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630. The Court must resolve any factual 4 5 issues of controversy in favor of the nonmoving party only when the facts specifically 6 attested by that party contradict facts specifically attested by the moving party. The 7 nonmoving party may not merely state that it will discredit the moving party's evidence 8 at trial, in the hopes that evidence can be developed at trial to support the claim. T.W. 9 Elec. Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630 (relying on Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255). Conclusory, 10 nonspecific statements in affidavits are not sufficient, and missing facts will not be 11 presumed. Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed'n, 497 U.S. 871, 888-89 (1990).

12 B. RISA's motion

13 RISA claims that its "[m]otion is very simple." Dkt. 228 at 1. RISA, however, 14 confuses the issue of whether it can enforce its bylaws with the issue of how it enforces 15 its bylaws. The issue of whether RISA can enforce its bylaws has been decided in 16 RISA's favor. See Dkt. 100. In the instant motion, the issue is not whether RISA can 17 assess dues, because it can. The issue is how much it may assess. On this issue, RISA's 18 motion fails for at least two reasons. First, RISA has failed to show that the specific 19 monthly amount of dues owed is anything more than an arbitrary amount fixed by 20members of the board. Although RISA asserts through the improperly filed 21 "supplemental declaration" that the dues help pay for services available to all residents, RISA has failed to submit an accounting of these expenses. Therefore, there is an issue 22 of fact as to the specific monthly dues owed by any member of RISA, let alone allegedly "non-member" Plaintiffs.

3 Second, the bylaws require as assessment of fees for services rendered. Dkt. 210 at 2–3. It is undisputed that, subsequent to "withdrawing" from RISA, "Plaintiffs have 4 privately contracted for their water, sewer, and garbage services." Dkt. 89 at 2. RISA 5 6 has failed to show that they are entitled to judgment as a matter of law that, pursuant to 7 the wording of the bylaws, Plaintiffs are responsible for a uniform flat fee when they did 8 not receive at least some of the services offered to paying members of the community. 9 Moreover, some of Plaintiffs' claims of retaliation allege that RISA specifically told the 10 garbage service not to collect Plaintiffs' garbage. Even if the garbage payment is 11 "community based," these factual allegations create questions of fact whether RISA was 12 the catalyst for Plaintiffs ordering their own services. No interpretation of the bylaws 13 supports the proposition that Plaintiffs are financially responsible for services that RISA 14 prevented Plaintiffs from enjoying. Therefore, RISA's motion must be denied because 15 questions of fact exist as to Plaintiffs' actual share of the required dues.
