1 2 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON 3 AT TACOMA 4 OSCAR TRINIDAD and SUSAN TRINIDAD, husband and wife, 5 CASE NO. C13-5191 BHS Plaintiffs, ORDER GRANTING IN PART 6 AND DENYING IN PART v. DEFENDANT'S MOTION AND 7 RENOTING PLAINTIFFS' METROPOLITAN PROPERTY AND MOTION 8 CASUALTY INSURANCE COMPANY, 9 Defendant. 10 11 This matter comes before the Court on Defendant Metropolitan Property And 12 Casualty Insurance Company's ("Metropolitan") motion for summary judgment (Dkt. 9) 13 and Plaintiffs Oscar and Susan Trinidad's ("Trinidads") motion for summary judgment 14 (Dkt. 15). The Court has considered the pleadings filed in support of and in opposition to 15 the motions and the remainder of the file and hereby grants in part and denies in part 16 Metropolitan's motion and renotes the Trinidads' motions for the reasons stated herein. 17 I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY 18 On February 13, 2013, the Trinidads filed a complaint against Metropolitan in 19 King County Superior Court for the State of Washington. Dkt 1. The Trinidads assert 20 claims for (1) violations of the Washington Insurance Fair Conduct Act, WAC 284-30 et 21 seq., (2) violations of the Washington Consumer Protection Act, RCW Chapter 19.86, (3) 22 bad faith, and (4) breach of duty to defend. Id. Exh. 1.

1	On March 13, 2013, Metropolitan removed the matter to this Court. Id.
2	On October 31, 2013, Metropolitan filed a motion for summary judgment. Dkt. 9.
3	On November 18, 2013, the Trinidads responded. Dkt. 11. On November 21, 2013, the
4	Trinidads filed a motion for partial summary judgment. Dkt. 15. On November 22,
5	2013, Metropolitan replied. Dkt. 18. On December 6, 2013, Metropolitan responded to
6	the Trinidads' motion. Dkt. 20. On December 13, 2013, the Trinidads replied. Dkt. 22.
7	II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND
8	This lawsuit arises out of the Trinidads' insurance claim they submitted to
9	Metropolitan and request for defense. On May 7, 2010, the Trinidads filed a lawsuit in
10	state court against their neighbors for malicious harassment, outrage, negligent infliction
11	of emotional distress, intentional interference with a business relationship, defamation
12	and nuisance. The neighbors filed a counterclaim against the Trinidads contending that
13	they had engaged in a pattern of surveillance and made false accusations against the
14	neighbors. The subsequent undisputed timeline is as follows:
15	• A counterclaim was served on the Trinidads on or about 5/26/10.
16	 A claim and request for defense was tendered to their insurer, MetLife, on 6/1/10.
17	 The claim was assigned to Bette-Jon Schrade of MetLife on 6/2/10. Ms. Schrade spoke with Mr. Wathen, the Trinidads' attorney on the
18	underlying litigation, on June 3, 2010.Also on June 3, 2010, Attorney Jack Rankin was contacted by MetLife
19	 to conduct a claims analysis and/or investigation. A certified copy of the policy and counterclaim was forwarded to
20	 Rankin only as of June 15, 2010. As late as October 3, 2010, Attorney Rankin advised Ms. Schrade the
21	coverage opinion had been completed. It was also discussed that MetLife would defend under a Reservation of Rights and file a
22	Declaratory Judgment Action, asking the Court to declare there was no coverage for the allegations contained in the counterclaim.

1 2	• On February 10, 2011, Ms. Schrade wrote to Mr. Wathen that MetLife would defend the Trinidads under a reservation of rights and may seek a declaratory judgment.
3	 declaratory judgment. On February 20, 2011, Johnson, Keay, Graffe, Moniz & Wick appeared as the defense firm provided by MetLife to defend the Trinidads on the
4	 counterclaim more than eight months after the claim was tendered. The counterclaim was dismissed subsequent to the appearance of Counsel provided by MetLife.

7	III. DISCUSSION
8	Metropolitan moves for summary judgment on damages. Dkt. 9. The Trinidads
9	move for partial summary judgment on liability. Dkt. 15.
10	A. Summary Judgment Standard
11	Summary judgment is proper only if the pleadings, the discovery and disclosure
12	materials on file, and any affidavits show that there is no genuine issue as to any material
13	fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c).
14	The moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law when the nonmoving party
15	fails to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of a claim in the case on which
16	the nonmoving party has the burden of proof. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317,
17	323 (1986). There is no genuine issue of fact for trial where the record, taken as a whole,
18	could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party. Matsushita Elec.
19	Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986) (nonmoving party must
20	present specific, significant probative evidence, not simply "some metaphysical doubt").
21	See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e). Conversely, a genuine dispute over a material fact exists
22	if there is sufficient evidence supporting the claimed factual dispute, requiring a judge or
I	jury to resolve the differing versions of the truth. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477

ORDER - 3

U.S. 242, 253 (1986); T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec. Contractors Ass'n, 809 F.2d
 626, 630 (9th Cir. 1987).

3 The determination of the existence of a material fact is often a close question. The Court must consider the substantive evidentiary burden that the nonmoving party must 4 5 meet at trial – e.g., a preponderance of the evidence in most civil cases. Anderson, 477 6 U.S. at 254; T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630. The Court must resolve any factual 7 issues of controversy in favor of the nonmoving party only when the facts specifically 8 attested by that party contradict facts specifically attested by the moving party. The 9 nonmoving party may not merely state that it will discredit the moving party's evidence 10 at trial, in the hopes that evidence can be developed at trial to support the claim. T.W. 11 Elec. Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630 (relying on Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255). Conclusory, 12 nonspecific statements in affidavits are not sufficient, and missing facts will not be 13 presumed. Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed'n, 497 U.S. 871, 888-89 (1990).

B.

Metropolitan's Motion

Metropolitan moves for summary judgment on the Trinidads' claims for bad faith, violation of the CPA, violation of IFCA, and for breach of contract. Dkt. 9.

17

1. Bad Faith

Bad faith usually creates a presumption of harm which the insurer must rebut. Mutual of Enumclaw Ins. Co. v. Dan Paulson Constr. Inc., 161 Wn.2d 903, 924–25 (2007). The presumption may be rebutted by showing that the insured "ultimately suffered no harm resulting from [the insurer's] breach of its duties" Ledcor Industries (USA), Inc. v. Mutual of Enumclaw Ins. Co., 150 Wn. App. 1, 11 (2009).

1	In this case, Metropolitan argues that the Trinidads ultimately suffered no harm as
2	a result of the alleged breach of Metropolitan's duties. Dkt. 9 at 7–9. The Trinidads
3	counter that they suffered unnecessary legal expense and emotional damages because of
4	Metropolitan's bad faith. Dkt. 11 at 11–15. With regard to the legal fees, Metropolitan
5	paid the Trinidads' attorney directly for all the fees that he billed. ¹ Although the
6	Trinidads assert that the amount of reimbursement "does not appear to equate to the total
7	actually billed," the Trinidads have failed to submit admissible evidence in support of this
8	assertion. Therefore, the Trinidads have failed to show damages resulting from
9	unnecessary legal fees.
10	With regard to the emotional damages, emotional damages are recoverable for an
11	insurer's bad faith. Anderson v. State Farm Mut. Ins. Co., 101 Wn. App. 323, 333
12	(2000). Metropolitan argues that the Trinidads have failed to submit sufficient,
13	admissible evidence in support of their allegations of emotional damages. Dkt. 18 at 6–7.
14	The Court disagrees. For example, Mrs. Trinidad declares that "they participated in
15	counseling and continued to receive professional therapeutic help for the emotional fall-
16	out from the struggles we were going through." Dkt. 13, Declaration of Susan Trinidad,
17	\P 12. Taking the facts and inferences in the light most favorable to the Trinidads, the
18	Court finds that they have submitted sufficient evidence to create material questions of
19

evidence of the arrangement that was made for Mr. Wathen's engagement and method of compensation are not before the Court.

fact on the issue of whether they suffered emotional damages as a result of Metropolitan's alleged bad faith. Therefore, the Court denies Metropolitan's motion on the Trinidads' claim for bad faith.

2. CPA

5 An essential element of a CPA claim is injury to business or property. Ledcor, 6 150 Wn. App. at 12–13. "The injury element will be met if the consumer's property 7 interest or money is diminished because of the unlawful conduct even if the expenses 8 caused by the statutory violation are minimal." Mason v. Mortgage America, Inc., 114 9 Wn.2d 842, 854 (1990). However, "reimbursement for lost wages and earning capacity, 10 medical expenses and damage to her car, arise from personal injuries and ... are not 11 injuries to 'business or property' as contemplated by the CPA." Hiner v. 12 Bridgestone/Firestone, Inc., 91 Wn. App. 772 (1998), reversed in part on other grounds, 13 138 Wn.2d 248 (1999).

14 In this case, Metropolitan argues that the Trinidads have failed to show injury to 15 their business or property. Dkt. 9 at 9–12. The Court agrees. First, the Trinidads have 16 failed to submit admissible evidence in support of their allegation that they incurred fees 17 and expenses when they acted as their own attorney. Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed'n, 497 18 U.S. at 888–89 (Conclusory, nonspecific statements in affidavits are not sufficient, and 19 missing facts will not be presumed.). Second, although they incurred attorney fees, they 20never paid the attorney. Thus, their finances were never diminished. Third, the Trinidads 21 may not recover medical expenses for their treatment during the period of the alleged bad faith. Therefore, the Court grants Metropolitan's motion for summary judgment on the Trinidads' CPA claim.

22

3

3. Breach of Contract

Damages are a necessary element of a breach of contract claim. Jacob's Meadow Owners Ass'n v. Plateau, 44 II, LLC, 139 Wn. App. 743, 754 (2007). Emotional distress damages are not recoverable in a breach of contract action. Gaglidari v. Denny's Restaurants, Inc., 117 Wn.2d 426 (1991).

8 In this case, Metropolitan argues that the Trinidads have failed to show that they 9 have suffered cognizable damages for their breach of contract claim. Dkt. 9 at 13–14.
10 The Court agrees. Being billed for attorney work is not financial damage. Working on 11 your own case is not financial damage. The final category of alleged damages, emotional
12 distress, is not cognizable in contract. Therefore, the Court grants Metropolitan's motion
13 on the Trinidads' claim for breach of contract.

14

4. IFCA

Neither RCW 48.30.010 nor the WAC create a private right of action for isolated violations of WAC insurance provisions. Escalante v. Sentry Ins., 49 Wn. App. 375, 388 (1987); review denied, 109 Wn.2d 105 (1988), overruled on other grounds, El/wein v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., 142 Wn.2d 766 (2001). Rather, private causes of action for violations of the insurance regulations must be brought under the CPA. Escalante, 49 Wn. App. at 390.

In this case, the Court grants Metropolitan's motion for summary judgment on the Trinidads' CPA claim because of a lack of damages. It follows that Metropolitan is entitled to summary judgment on the Trinidads' IFCA claim for the same reason.

 Therefore, the Court grants Metropolitan's motion on this claim.

3 C. The Trinidads' Motion

4 The Trinidads move for summary judgment on the issue of liability for their bad 5 faith claim, their IFCA claim, and their CPA claim. The Court, however, will only consider the bad faith claim because the statutory claims will be dismissed. On this 6 7 claim, Metropolitan rests on its contention that the Trinidads have failed to establish 8 damages. Dkt. 20 at 9–11. In light of the denial of Metropolitan's motion on this issue, 9 the seriousness of a finding of bad faith, and the early state of this proceeding, the Court 10 finds that the Trinidads' motion should be renoted and requests additional briefing to 11 decide the issue of liability on the merits. Therefore, the Trinidads' motion is hereby 12 renoted for consideration on the Court's January 10, 2014 calendar. The parties may file 13 supplemental briefs pursuant to the local rules governing responses and replies.

14

IV. ORDER

Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that Metropolitan's motion for summary judgment (Dkt. 9) is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part and the Trinidads' motion for summary judgment (Dkt. 15) is RENOTED as stated herein.
