UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT TACOMA

SEAN C. NEUHAUSER,

Plaintiff,

v.

CAROLYN W. COLVIN, Acting
Commissioner of Social Security,

Defendant.

CASE NO. C14-5421 BHS

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM JUDGMENT,
VACATING JUDGMENT,
REMANDING MATTER UNDER
SENTENCE SIX OF 42 U.S.C.
§ 405(G), AND DENYING PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY FEES WITHOUT
PREJUDICE

This matter comes before the Court on the Commissioner of Social Security’s (“Commissioner”) motion for relief from judgment (Dkt. 21) and Plaintiff Sean Neuhauser’s (“Neuhauser”) motion for attorney fees (Dkt. 19). The Court has considered the pleadings filed in support of and in opposition to the motions and the remainder of the file and hereby rules as follows:

I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

2 On July 3, 2013, an Administrative Law Judge (“ALJ”) denied Neuhauser’s claim
3 for disability benefits under the Social Security Act. AR 27. On November 14, 2013,
4 Neuhauser requested review of the ALJ’s decision with the Appeals Council. AR 9–14.
5 Neuhauser submitted a Veterans Administration (“VA”) Rating Decision to the Appeals
6 Council. AR 2. The Appeals Council denied Neuhauser’s request for review. Id. In 7 doing so, the Appeals Council noted that it “looked at the [VA] Rating Decision,” but
8 determined that the evidence was about a later time and therefore did not affect the ALJ’s
9 decision. Id. The Appeals Council returned the VA Rating Decision to Neuhauser and 10 did not incorporate it into the administrative record. Id. at 2, 5.

11 On May 21, 2014, Neuhauser filed a complaint in this Court seeking review of the 12 ALJ’s decision. Dkt. 1. In his opening brief, Neuhauser argued that this matter should be 13 remanded for additional consideration of the VA Rating Decision because this new 14 evidence was material and Neuhauser had good cause for not submitting it earlier. Dkt.
15 10 at 16–17. Because the VA Rating Decision was not incorporated into the 16 administrative record, Neuhauser attached a copy of the decision to his opening brief.
17 Dkt. 10, Ex. A. In response, the Commissioner argued that the VA Rating Decision was 18 not material, but did not contest good cause. See Dkt. 14.

19 On April 1, 2015, the Honorable Karen L. Strombom, United States Magistrate
20 Judge, issued a Report and Recommendation (“R&R”) recommending that the Court
21 reverse the ALJ’s decision and remand the matter “for further consideration of the VA’s 22 rating decision.” Dkt. 16 at 2, 8. Neither party filed objections to the R&R.

1 On April 22, 2015, the Court adopted the R&R. Dkt. 17. The Court reversed and 2 remanded the ALJ's decision pursuant to sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). Id. On 3 April 23, 2015, the Court entered judgment. Dkt. 18.

4 On July 8, 2015, Neuhauser moved for attorney fees pursuant to the Equal Access
5 to Justice Act ("EAJA"), 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d). Dkt. 19. On July 20, 2015, the 6 Commissioner responded. Dkt. 22. On July 24, 2015, Neuhauser replied. Dkt. 23. On 7 July 20, 2015, the Commissioner moved for relief from the judgment under Federal Rule
8 of Civil Procedure 60(b)(1). Dkt. 21. On August 14, 2015, Neuhauser responded. Dkt.
9 25. The Commissioner did not file a reply.

10 II. DISCUSSION

11 Both the Commissioner's motion for relief from judgment and Neuhauser's
12 motion for attorney fees hinge on whether this matter should be remanded under sentence
13 four or sentence six of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). See Dkts. 19, 21. The Court will address the 14 Commissioner's motion first and then turn to Neuhauser's motion.

15 A. Relief from Judgment

16 The Commissioner seeks relief from the Court's April 23, 2015 judgment under 17 Rule 60(b)(1). Dkt. 21. Rule 60(b)(1) provides that a district court may relieve a party
18 from a final judgment based on "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect."
19 Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(1). In order to obtain relief under Rule 60(b)(1), the movant "must 20 show that the district court committed a specific error." Straw v. Bowen, 866 F.2d 1167,
21 1172 (9th Cir. 1989). A motion under Rule 60(b)(1) must be brought within a reasonable
22 time, and no more than one year after the entry of judgment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(c)(1).

1 The Commissioner contends that the Court erroneously remanded this matter
2 under sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g) instead of sentence six. Dkt. 21. The 3 Commissioner requests the Court to vacate the judgment and enter a corrected order
4 remanding this case for further proceedings pursuant to sentence six. Id.

5 Section 405(g) “authorizes district courts to review administrative decisions in 6 Social Security benefit cases.” Akopyan v. Barnhart, 296 F.3d 852, 854 (9th Cir. 2002).
7 Sentence four and sentence six of § 405(g) set forth the exclusive methods by which the 8 Court may remand a case to the Commissioner. Shalala v. Schaefer, 509 U.S. 292, 296
9 (1993). Sentence four authorizes the Court “to enter, upon the pleadings and transcript of 10 the record, a judgment affirming, modifying, or reversing the decision of the 11 Commissioner of Social Security, with or without remanding the cause for a rehearing.”
12 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). A sentence four remand is “essentially a determination that the 13 agency erred in some respect in reaching a decision to deny benefits.” Akopyan, 296 F.3d
14 at 854. Meanwhile, sentence six “describes an entirely different kind of remand.”
15 Melkonyan v. Sullivan, 501 U.S. 89, 98 (1991) (quoting Sullivan v. Finkelstein, 496 U.S.
16 617, 626 (1990)). Under sentence six, the district court does not affirm, modify, or 17 reverse the Commissioner’s decision. Id. Rather, the Court remands because “there is 18 new evidence which is material” and “there is good cause for the failure to incorporate 19 such evidence into the record.”¹ 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).

21 ¹ The Court may also remand under sentence six where the Commissioner requests a 22 remand before answering the complaint. Schaefer, 509 U.S. at 297 n.2. This second category of sentence six remands does not apply in this case.

1 The issue in this case is whether sentence four or sentence six applies where 2 additional evidence was submitted to, but not considered by, the Appeals Council. The 3 Ninth Circuit has determined that sentence four applies to additional evidence that was 4 “submitted to and considered by the Appeals Council.” Brewes v. Comm’r of Soc. Sec.
5 Admin., 682 F.3d 1157, 1162 (9th Cir. 2012) (emphasis added). In Brewes, “the Appeals
6 Council accepted [the claimant’s] proffered new evidence and made it part of the record.”
7 Id. at 1164. Because the additional evidence was part of the administrative record, the 8 Ninth Circuit reviewed the evidence pursuant to sentence four. Id.; see also 42 U.S.C.
9 § 405(g) (providing that the Court may affirm, reverse, or modify the ALJ’s decision 10 under sentence four based on “the pleadings and transcript of record” (emphasis added)).

11 In contrast to Brewes, the Appeals Council in this case did not accept Neuhauser’s 12 proffered new evidence and make it part of the administrative record. Although the 13 Appeals Council looked at the VA Rating Decision, the Appeals Council did not consider 14 the evidence when it denied Neuhauser’s request for review. AR 2. Instead, the Appeals
15 Council determined that the VA Rating Decision was about a later time and thus did not 16 affect the ALJ’s decision. Id. For this reason, the Appeals Council did not incorporate 17 the VA Rating Decision into the administrative record. See id. at 2, 5.

18 Under these circumstances, the Court finds that the additional evidence should be 19 evaluated under sentence six standards. See Mayes v. Massanari, 276 F.3d 453, 458, 461
20 (9th Cir. 2001); Armani v. Colvin, No. C14-1175, 2015 WL 3561670, at *2 n.2 (W.D.
21 Wash. May 19, 2015); Bustamante v. Colvin, No. CV-13-02080, 2015 WL 136016, at 22 *11 (D. Ariz. Jan. 9, 2015); Winland v. Colvin, No. 13-cv-5778, 2014 WL 4187212, at

1 *2–4 (W.D. Wash. July 25, 2014); Snell v. Colvin, No. C13-5565, 2014 WL 2197932, at 2 *2–3 (W.D. Wash. May 27, 2014). But see Congreve v. Colvin, No. 13-cv-0031, 2014
3 WL 11555560, at *3 n.2 (E.D. Wash. Mar. 21, 2014). Indeed, Neuhauser relied on 4 sentence six standards in his opening brief when he argued that this matter should be
5 remanded for consideration of the VA Rating Decision.² Dkt. 10 at 16–17. The Court
6 remanded for further consideration of the VA Rating decision, but stated that remand was 7 pursuant to sentence four. See Dkt. 17. In light of this error, the Court grants the 8 Commissioner’s motion and vacates the judgment. The Court proceeds to address 9 whether this matter should be remanded under sentence six instead.

10 Under sentence six, the Court considers whether the new evidence is material to 11 determining disability and whether the claimant has shown good cause for not submitting
12 the evidence earlier. See 42 U.S.C. § 405(g); Mayes, 276 F.3d at 462. In the R&R, Judge
13 Strombom determined that the VA Rating Decision pertained to the relevant time period
14 and was therefore material to the disability decision. Dkt. 16 at 6. The Court adopts 15 Judge Strombom’s materiality determination. Judge Strombom, however, did not 16 determine whether Neuhauser had good cause for not submitting the VA Rating Decision

18 ² In his response to the Commissioner’s motion for relief from judgment, Neuhauser
19 relies on a case from this district for the proposition that the Court may remand under sentence
20 four. Dkt. 25 at 2 (citing Richards v. Astrue, No. 11-cv-6011, 2012 WL 3279523, at *7 (W.D.
21 Wash. Aug. 10, 2012)). Richards, however, is distinguishable from this case. In Richards, the 22 claimant submitted new evidence to the Appeals Council, which the Appeals Council considered and incorporated into the administrative record. See 2012 WL 3279523, at *2, *5. After noting that the case was similar to Brewes, the district court reviewed the evidence under sentence four.
Id. at *5, *7. As discussed above, the Appeals Council in this case did not consider and incorporate the VA Rating Decision into the record. Accordingly, the evidence should be evaluated under sentence six.

1 earlier. See id. In his opening brief, Neuhauser argued that good cause existed. Dkt. 10
2 at 17. The Commissioner does not contest good cause. See Dkts. 14, 21. Upon review
3 of the record, the Court finds that good cause exists in this case. The Court remands this 4 matter for consideration of the VA Rating Decision under sentence six of § 405(g).

5 B. Attorney Fees

6 Neuhauser seeks attorney fees and expenses under EAJA. Dkt. 19. In any civil 7 action brought by or against the United States, EAJA directs the Court to award attorney
8 fees to the prevailing party unless the Court finds the government’s position was 9 “substantially justified” or “special circumstances make an award unjust.” 28 U.S.C.
10 § 2412(d)(1)(A). In Social Security disability cases, a claimant who obtains a sentence 11 four remand is considered a prevailing party at the time of remand. Akopyan, 296 F.3d at 12 854; Flores v. Shalala, 49 F.3d 562, 569 (9th Cir. 1995). Meanwhile, a claimant who 13 obtains a sentence six remand does not become a prevailing party until the claimant is 14 awarded benefits on remand. Akopyan, 296 F.3d at 855; Flores, 49 F.3d at 568.

15 For the reasons discussed above, the Court remands this matter under sentence six 16 instead of sentence four. Because Neuhauser is not yet a prevailing party for the 17 purposes of EAJA, the Court denies Neuhauser’s motion for attorney fees without 18 prejudice.

19 III. ORDER

20 Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that the Commissioner’s motion for relief from 21 judgment (Dkt. 21) is GRANTED. The Court VACATES the judgment (Dkt. 18). The 22 Court REMANDS this matter pursuant to sentence six of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g) to the

1 Commissioner for consideration of the VA Rating Decision. Although the Court retains 2 jurisdiction over this matter, the Court directs the Clerk to administratively close this case
3 pending further development of the record. If Neuhauser seeks review of any subsequent 4 decision, he shall file a motion to reopen this case. Neuhauser's motion for attorney fees
5 (Dkt. 19) is DENIED without prejudice.

6 Dated this 27th day of August, 2015.
