10 Makah Tribal Council, HONORABLE
11 JOHN HAUPT, Chief Judge of the Makah
12 Tribal Court, MORISSET, SCHLOSSER,
13 JOZWIAK & SOMERVILLE, A
14 Professional Service Corporation,

15 Defendants.

CASE NO. C14-5491 BHS

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

16 This matter comes before the Court on Defendants Timothy Greene, Honorable
17 John Haupt, and Morisset, Schlosser, Jozwiak & Somerville's ("Defendants") motion to 18 dismiss (Dkt. 5). The Court has considered the pleadings filed in support of and in 19 opposition to the motion and the remainder of the file and hereby grants the motion for 20 the reasons stated herein.

21 I. PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

22 Plaintiff Dotti Chamblin is a member of the Makah Tribe ("Tribe"), as well as a patient at the Tribe's Health Clinic ("Clinic"). Dkt. 5, Declaration of Rebecca JCH
Jackson ("Jackson Dec."), Ex. 4; Dkt. 6 at 1.

1 On January 3, 2014, the Clinic’s Health Director, Elizabeth Buckingham
2 (“Buckingham”), filed a petition for an order of protection against Plaintiff. Jackson
3 Dec., Ex. 2. In the petition, Buckingham alleged that Plaintiff made threats against a
4 Clinic staff member. Id. at 18. That same day, the Makah Tribal Court (“Tribal Court”)
5 granted a temporary order of protection. Jackson Dec., Ex. 3.

6 On January 8, 2014, the Clinic sent Plaintiff a notice of suspension of 7 nonemergency services under the Clinic’s Violent Patient Policy. Jackson Dec., Ex. 4.
8 The notice explained that Plaintiff could only use the Clinic for emergency medical care
9 with a police escort. Id. at 23. The notice also explained how Plaintiff would obtain her
10 regular nonemergency treatment. Id.

11 On April 28, 2014, the Clinic voluntarily moved to dismiss its petition for an order
12 of protection. Jackson Dec., Ex. 1. The Tribal Court granted the Clinic’s motion. Id.

13 Plaintiff appealed the Tribal Court’s order. Jackson Dec., Ex. 5. On June 16,
14 2014, the Makah Court of Appeals dismissed Plaintiff’s appeal for lack of jurisdiction.
15 Id. In its decision, the Makah Court of Appeals explained that Plaintiff was not an 16 aggrieved party because the petition against her was dismissed. Id.

17 On June 20, 2014, Plaintiff, appearing pro se, sued the Defendants in this court.
18 Dkt. 1. Plaintiff alleges that the issuance of the restraining order violates various 19 provisions of the Indian Civil Rights Act (“ICRA”). Id. at 4–5.

20 On July 11, 2014, Defendants filed a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter
21 jurisdiction under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure (“Rule”) 12(b)(1), failure to state a
22 claim under Rule 12(b)(6), and ineffective service of process under Rule 12(b)(5). Dkt.

1 5. On July 23, 2014, Plaintiff responded by filing a “Motion to Court to Accept Case.”
2 Dkt. 6. On August 8, 2014, Defendants replied. Dkt. 8.

3 II. DISCUSSION

4 Plaintiff alleges claims under the ICRA. Dkt. 1 at 4–5. Defendants argue that the
5 Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiff’s claims. Dkt. 5 at 4. In response,
6 Plaintiff argues that the Court has jurisdiction under the ICRA, the Treaty of January 31,
7 1855 (“Treaty”), and Article VI, Clause 2 of the U.S. Constitution. Dkt. 6 at 1–2.

8 Rule 12(b)(1) provides for dismissal of claims if the court lacks subject matter
9 jurisdiction. Jurisdiction is a threshold issue that should be addressed before considering
10 the merits. Steel Co. v. Citizens for a Better Env’t, 523 U.S. 83, 94–96 (1998); Retail
11 Flooring Dealers of Am., Inc. v. Beaulieu of Am., LLC, 339 F.3d 1146, 1148 (9th Cir.
12 2003). The burden falls on the plaintiff to establish that jurisdiction is proper. Kokkonen
13 v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 511 U.S. 375, 377 (1994). If the court finds that it lacks
14 subject matter jurisdiction, then it “must dismiss the action.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3).

15 Here, the Court lacks jurisdiction under the ICRA and the Treaty. Federal courts
16 only have jurisdiction under the ICRA to hear claims against tribes in habeas corpus
17 proceedings. See 25 U.S.C. § 1303; Santa Clara Pueblo v. Martinez, 436 U.S. 49, 67–70
18 (1978). Plaintiff, however, has not filed a habeas petition. Moreover, the ICRA “does
19 not impliedly authorize actions for declaratory or injunctive relief against either the tribe
20 or its officers.” Martinez, 436 U.S. at 72. Similarly, the Treaty does not create an 21 implied cause of action for individual tribal members against the Tribe or its officers. See
22

1 Treaty with the Makah Tribe, Jan. 31, 1855, 12 Stat. 939. Thus, neither the ICRA nor the
2 Treaty confer jurisdiction on the Court in this case.

3 The Court also lacks jurisdiction under Article VI, Clause 2 of the U.S.
4 Constitution. Article VI, Clause 2 does not confer jurisdiction on the Court or give rise to 5 Plaintiff's claims. See U.S. Const. art. VI, cl. 2.

6 Finally, Defendants Greene and Haupt are tribal officers who are immune from 7 suit.<sup>1</sup> Sovereign immunity bars suits against tribes unless Congress has authorized the 8 suit or a tribe has waived its immunity. Martinez, 436 U.S. at 58–59. Waivers of 9 sovereign immunity must be express and unequivocal. Id. at 58. Sovereign immunity
10 also extends to tribal officials acting within the scope of their authority. Linneen v. Gila
11 River Indian Cmty., 276 F.3d 489, 492 (9th Cir. 2002).

12 In this case, Defendants Greene and Haupt acted within the scope of their 13 authority. Defendant Haupt performed his job as the Tribal Court's Chief Judge when he 14 dismissed the Clinic's petition for an order of protection. See Jackson Dec., Ex 1. This
15 act is within the scope of Defendant Haupt's authority. Meanwhile, Defendant Greene
16 was not involved in either the Tribal Court proceedings or the Clinic's administrative
17 action. Dkt. 8, Declaration of Timothy J. Greene at 2. Additionally, the Clinic's petition
18 for an order of protection did not waive Defendant Greene's or Defendant Haupt's
19 sovereign immunity for claims brought by Plaintiff in federal district court. See Okla.

21 <sup>1</sup> The ICRA applies to tribes acting in their governmental capacity. See 25 U.S.C.
22 § 1302(a). Accordingly, the ICRA does not apply to Defendant Morisset, Schlosser, Jozwiak &
Somerville, a non-tribal law firm. Jackson Dec. at 2.

1 Tax Comm'n v. Citizen Band Potawatomi Indian Tribe, 498 U.S. 505, 510 (1991) (“Tribe
2 did not waive its sovereign immunity merely by filing an action for injunctive relief.”).
3 Plaintiff’s claims against Defendants Greene and Haupt are therefore barred by sovereign
4 immunity.

5 Because the Court does not have jurisdiction over Plaintiff’s claims, Defendants’
6 motion to dismiss on this issue is granted.

7 III. ORDER

8 Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that the Defendants’ motion to dismiss (Dkt.
9 5) is GRANTED, and the Clerk shall close the case.

10 Dated this 2nd day of September, 2014.
