10 NEW FLYER OF AMERICA, INC., et
11 al.,

12 Defendants.

CASE NO. C17-5949 BHS

ORDER DENYING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SEVERANCE AND SEPARATE
TRIALS

13 This matter comes before the Court on Defendant New Flyer of America, Inc.'s 14 ("New Flyer") motion for severance and separate trials. Dkt. 14. The Court has 15 considered the pleadings filed in support of and in opposition to the motion and the 16 remainder of the file and hereby denies the motion for the reasons stated herein.

17 I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

18 On November 29, 2016, Plaintiffs William Marion ("Marion") and Raymond
19 Moore ("Moore") (collectively "Plaintiffs") filed their complaint against King County
20 Department of Transportation, Metro Transit Division, New Flyer, and twenty "John 21 Doe" defendants. On October 20, 2017, the Pierce County Superior Court granted
22

1 summary judgment in favor of Defendants King County Department of Transportation
2 and Metro Transit Division, leaving New Flyer as the sole remaining defendant. See Dkt.
3 1-2.

4 On October 30, 2017, New Flyer moved to sever the action and conduct separate
5 trials on the respective claims of Marion and Moore. Dkt. 6-2 at 119–25. On November 6 15, 2017, Plaintiff responded to the motion. Id. at 170–76. On November 15, 2017, New 7 Flyer withdrew its motion to sever the trial before Pierce County. See Dkt. 16 at 2. Then,
8 on November 16, 2017, New Flyer removed the action to this Court based on diversity
9 jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332, 1441, 1466. Dkt. 1.

10 On December 19, 2017, New Flyer filed a renewed motion to sever the action and 11 conduct separate trials on Plaintiffs’ respective claims. Dkt. 14. On January 3, 2017, 12 Plaintiffs responded in opposition.¹ Dkt. 16. On January 5, 2017, New Flyer replied. Dkt.
13 17.

14 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

15 Plaintiffs are both journey-level bus mechanics for the King County Department
16 of Transportation. On May 9, 2016, Marion was allegedly electrocuted while servicing 17 Bus No. 4369. Dkt. 1-1 at 5; Dkt. 15 at 8.² On August 30, 2016, Moore was allegedly

19 ¹ Plaintiffs are advised that responses to motions under LCR 7(d)(3) are due the Monday
20 before the noting date, as opposed to responses to motions filed under LCR 7(d)(2) which are 21 due the Wednesday before the noting date. W.D. Wash. Local Rule LCR 7(d)(3).

22 ² The Court suggests to Defendant and Plaintiffs that future filings, including exhibits filed on the record for the first time, can employ the page numbering requirements set forth in the local rules, which require an abbreviated title and page number be affixed to the bottom of the page in all filings. W.D. Wash. Local Rules LCR 10(e)(3). This numbering can then be used to more efficiently provide accurate citations pursuant to LCR 10(e)(10). See W.D. Wash. Local

1 electrocuted while servicing Bus No. 4302. Dkt. 1-1 at 5.³ Plaintiffs assert claims against 2 New Flyer for product liability and intentional infliction of emotional distress. Id. at 7.
3 From the parties' arguments on the motion, it is suggested that Plaintiffs' claims are 4 predicated on a theory that they were electrocuted as a proximate result of a defective
5 "hot coach detector" on the buses manufactured by New Flyer. ⁴

6 III. DISCUSSION

7 New Flyer moves to sever Plaintiffs' claims and conduct separate trials. Dkt. 14.
8 New Flyer first argues that its motion should be granted on the basis that Plaintiffs'
9 claims do not satisfy the requirements of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 20. Id. at 5-7.
10 Under that rule:

11 Persons may join in one action as plaintiffs if:

12 (A) they assert any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the 13 alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, 14 occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and

15 (B) any question of law or fact common to all plaintiffs will arise in 16 the action.

17 Rule LCR 10(e)(10). Also, while not required or suggested by any rule, it is the Court's 18 preference that citations not be placed in footnotes.

19 ³ The Court is uncertain from what evidence New Flyer has determined that Moore was 20 servicing Bus No. 4302. While New Flyer has cited a deposition of Moore, this bus number does 21 not appear in the cited portion of the deposition. See Dkt. 14 at 3 n.11 (citing Dkt. 15 at 31). Nor 22 does the bus number seem to appear in the incident report form. See Dkt. 15 at 41. Nonetheless, this fact is not disputed by Plaintiffs.

⁴ The Court notes that no allegations of a defective "hot coach detector" are made in Plaintiffs' complaint, expressly or otherwise. This Court was not afforded the opportunity to address whether Plaintiffs' complaint adequately pled viable product liability claims under the consumer expectation test or some other theory without specifying some defect other than the mere allegation that Plaintiffs were electrocuted while performing maintenance. Regardless, it appears that at this stage of the proceedings, after discovery has already been carried out in state court, any arguments on the merits of Plaintiffs' claims are likely best reserved for summary judgment proceedings.

1 Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 20. New Flyer argues that Plaintiffs cannot satisfy Rule 20 on the
2 basis that Plaintiffs' claims do not arise out of the same transaction. Notably, there is no
3 clearly articulated dispute over whether a common question of fact exists as to whether 4 the buses both suffered from a defective "hot coach detector" or some other common 5 defect.

6 The Ninth Circuit has not provided a bright-line definition for "transaction,"
7 "occurrence," or "series." Other district courts in our Circuit have noted that, "[a]lthough
8 there might be different occurrences, where the claims involve enough related operative 9 facts, joinder in a single case may be appropriate." Nguyen v. CTS Elecs. Mfg. Sols. Inc., 10 301 F.R.D. 337, 341 (N.D. Cal. 2014). Quoting an old Supreme Court decision
11 interpreting the meaning of the word "transaction," the Eighth Circuit has adopted a test 12 that looks for the existence of a "logical relationship" between the plaintiff's claims.
13 Mosley v. Gen. Motors Corp., 497 F.2d 1330, 1333 (8th Cir. 1974) (quoting Moore v.
14 New York Cotton Exch., 270 U.S. 593, 610 (1926)) ("'Transaction' is a word of flexible 15 meaning. It may comprehend a series of many occurrences, depending not so much upon 16 the immediateness of their connection as upon their logical relationship.").

17 In this case, it is alleged that both Plaintiffs were similarly electrocuted while 18 performing maintenance on the same product within a narrow time period of several 19 months. Under these allegations, there is a strong logical correlation between the 20 Plaintiffs' claims on the basis that Plaintiffs were electrocuted as a result of the same 21 manufacturing, warning, or other defect. Accordingly, for the purposes of this stage of 22

1 the proceedings, the Court finds that Plaintiffs’ complaint sufficiently establishes a 2 “series of occurrences” for the purposes of a Rule 20 permissive joinder of plaintiffs.

3 New Flyer also argues against joinder on the basis that it would lead to jury
4 confusion and prejudice. Regarding jury confusion, New Flyer argues that Plaintiffs each
5 suffered distinct and different injuries and are responsible in different ways for their own
6 harm. See Fkt. 14 at 7–8. However, the Court fails to see how any potential problems
7 with assigning evidence regarding specific injuries or comparative fault to a certain 8 plaintiff cannot easily be avoided with competent trial management. New Flyer also 9 argues that, if Plaintiffs present their claims regarding electrocution together, a jury could 10 potentially infer without any other evidence that the buses were the cause of the alleged 11 injuries due to some unknown and unidentified systemic issue. The shortcoming of this 12 argument is that New Flyer has failed to articulate how such an inference based on the 13 circumstantial evidence of the occurrences’ similarities would be improper. Moreover, if 14 such an inference was improper, the Court fails to see how it could not be avoided with a 15 simple instruction to the jury.

16 New Flyer also raises numerous arguments regarding the inadequacy or lack of 17 evidence to support Plaintiffs’ cursory allegations of an unspecified product defect. See
18 Dkt. 14 at 6; Dkt. 17 at 4–5. These arguments relating to the merits of Plaintiffs’ claims 19 raise issues that should be addressed through an appropriate dispositive motion, but they 20 have little bearing on the issue of joinder.

1 IV. ORDER

2 Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that New Flyer's motion for severance and 3 separate trials (Dkt. 14) is DENIED.

4 Dated this 7th day of February, 2018.
