

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

EDITH MAE MAY,

Petitioner,

v.

JENNIFER MCDERMOTT,

Respondent.

Case No. 24-CV-450-JPS

ORDER

On April 15, 2024, Petitioner Edith Mae May (“Petitioner”) filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254. ECF No. 1. Petitioner also filed a motion for leave to proceed without prepayment of the filing fee. ECF No. 3. The Court now grants the motion to proceed without prepayment of the filing fee and screens the petition under Rule 4 of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Proceedings.

1. LEAVE TO PROCEED WITHOUT PREPAYMENT

Ordinarily, a habeas petitioner must pay a statutory filing fee of $5.00 to file a petition for habeas review in federal court. 28 U.S.C. § 1914(a). However, under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1), the Court may authorize the commencement of a habeas petition without prepayment of fees if a party submits an affidavit asserting his inability to pay and stating “the nature of the action, defense or appeal and affiant’s belief that the person is entitled to redress.” Petitioner submitted a trust fund account statement along with her motion. ECF No. 6.

Upon review of Petitioner’s prison trust account statement, the Court finds that she is unable to pay the $5.00 filing fee based on her lack of funds. The Court will accordingly grant the motion to proceed without prepayment of the filing fee.

2. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner seeks federal habeas relief on the revocation order in Racine County Circuit Court Case No. 2009CF001374. ECF No. 1 at 2. Petitioner indicates that her conviction was entered on January 29, 2024, and that she has yet to appeal her conviction in any higher court. Id. at 2-5. The Court will not elaborate further on the factual background, however, because Petitioner has failed to exhaust her administrative remedies and this case must therefore be dismissed without prejudice.

3. ANALYSIS

Rule 4 authorizes a district court to conduct an initial screening of habeas corpus petitions and to dismiss a petition summarily where “it plainly appears from the face of the petition and any attached exhibits that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court.” Thus, Rule 4 provides the district court the power to dismiss both those petitions that do not state a claim upon which relief may be granted and those petitions that are factually frivolous. See Small v. Endicott, 998 F.2d 411, 414 (7th Cir. 1993). Under Rule 4, the Court analyzes preliminary obstacles to review, including whether the petitioner has complied with the statute of limitations, exhausted available state remedies, avoided procedural default, and set forth cognizable claims.

A district court may not address the merits of the constitutional claims raised in a federal habeas petition “unless the state courts have had a full and fair opportunity to review them.” Farrell v. Lane, 939 F.2d 409, 410 (7th Cir. 1991). Accordingly, a state prisoner is required to exhaust the remedies available in state court before a district court will consider the merits of a federal habeas petition. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A); Dressler v. McCaughtry, 238 F.3d 908, 912 (7th Cir. 2001) (if petitioner “either failed to exhaust all available state remedies or raise all claims before the state courts, his petition must be denied without considering its merits.”). A petitioner exhausts her constitutional claim when she presents it to the highest state court for a ruling on the merits. Lieberman v. Thomas, 505 F.3d 665, 669 (7th Cir. 2007) (citing Picard v. Connor, 404 U.S. 270, 275 (1971); Perruquet v. Briley, 390 F.3d 505, 513 (7th Cir. 2004)). Once the state’s highest court has had a full and fair opportunity to pass upon the merits of the claim, a prisoner is not required to present it again to the state courts. Humphrey v. Cady, 405 U.S. 504, 516 n.18 (1972). The exhaustion requirement applies to revocation proceedings. See Schroeder v. Pollard, 361 F. Supp. 3d 800, 805 (E.D. Wis. 2019) (applying habeas exhaustion requirement to Wisconsin revocation proceeding).

Here, Petitioner herself indicates that she filed no appeals of her revocation conviction to any higher state court. Thus, Petitioner has not sufficiently exhausted her state remedies and the Court will dismiss the petition without prejudice. See Bolton v. Akpore, 730 F.3d 685, 696 (7th Cir. 2013) (noting that ordinarily an exhaustion dismissal is without prejudice so that the petitioner may return to state court in order to litigate the claim).

Under Rule 11(a) of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases, “the district court must issue or deny a certificate of appealability when it enters a final order adverse to the applicant.” To obtain a certificate of appealability under 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2), Petitioner must make a “substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right” by establishing that “reasonable jurists could debate whether (or, for that matter, agree that) the petition should have been resolved in a different manner or that the issues presented were adequate to deserve encouragement to proceed further.” Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 336 (2003) (internal citations omitted). No reasonable jurists could debate whether Petitioner exhausted her state remedies. As a consequence, the Court is compelled to deny a certificate of appealability as to the petition.

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that Petitioner's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, ECF No. 1, be and the same is hereby DENIED;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Petitioner's motion to proceed without prepayment of the filing fee, ECF No. 3, be and the same is hereby GRANTED;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this action be and the same is hereby DISMISSED without prejudice for failure to exhaust state remedies; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a certificate of appealability be and the same is hereby DENIED.

The Clerk of the Court is directed to enter judgment accordingly.

Dated at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this 10th day of May, 2024.

J.P. Stadtmueller
U.S. District Judge
