05/02/2017	8	 TEXT ONLY ORDER  The court is in receipt of plaintiff Authenticom, Inc.'s emergency motion for status conference and preliminary injunction schedule (dkt. # 5 ), which will be DENIED without prejudice. While the court appreciates the advanced warning of plaintiff's planned filing of a motion for preliminary injunction, it would be premature to schedule a status conference or to set a briefing schedule or a hearing date until the motion and supporting documents are filed pursuant to the court's Procedure to be followed on Motions for Injunctive Relief . Once filed, the court will determine the appropriate briefing schedule and whether a status conference is required. In the meantime, plaintiff should serve the complaint as soon as possible. Likewise, once plaintiff files its planned preliminary injunction motion, plaintiff should immediately serve that motion and all supporting materials, as the briefing schedule will depend, at least in part, on the date and manner of service of that motion on defendants. Signed by District Judge William M. Conley on 5/2/2017. (kwf) (Entered: 05/02/2017)

06/23/2017	152	 TEXT ONLY ORDER  Discovery is conducted between the parties without court involvement, and in that process a great deal of material gets designated as "confidential." That's fine for discovery. But if a document is presented as a basis for the court's decision, then the exhibit is presumptively public--subject to reasonable and limited exceptions for documents that would actually cause significant damage if disclosed. The court will not ask the parties to undertake the burden of redacting all the documents that might have been designated as confidential during discovery. If, at the hearing, a particularly sensitive document is needed, then the court will allow the document to be shown to the court without displaying it on the larger screens in the courtroom. The burden will be on the party seeking to maintain confidentiality to make a case for it. The court expects the parties to cooperate in identifying such documents in advance of the hearing. No telephonic conference is needed. Signed by District Judge James D. Peterson on 06/23/2017.
