IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF HAWAI‘I

BRIAN EVANS, Plaintiff, vs.

KAIALI‘I (KAI) KAHELE, Defendant.

ORIGINAL PROCEEDING

FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND JUDGMENT

(By: Recktenwald, C.J., Nakayama, McKenna, and Wilson, JJ., and Circuit Judge Ashford, assigned by reason of vacancy)

Upon consideration of the August 11, 2020 election complaint filed by Plaintiff Brian Evans, the September 25, 2020 motion to dismiss filed by Respondent Scott Nago, Chief Election Officer, and Plaintiff’s opposition to the motion to dismiss the complaint, and having heard this matter without oral argument, we set forth the following findings of fact and conclusions of law and enter the judgment in accordance with HRS § 11-173.5.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Plaintiff Brian Evans (Plaintiff) was one of four candidates in the democratic primary election for the office of U.S. Representative, District II in the August 8, 2020 primary election.

2. According to the final primary election summary printout, the election results for the democratic primary election for U.S. Representative, District II were:

Kahele, Kaiiali'i (Kai)	100,841	(65.8%)
Evans, Brian	12,337	(8.1%)
Lee, Brenda L. Machado	10,694	(7.0%)
Famera, Noelle	7,992	(5.2%)
Blank Votes	20,904	(13.6%)
Over Votes	381	(0.2%)

3. Plaintiff contends Kahele purposely availed himself of active duty with the assistance of co-conspirators within his campaign in an effort to avoid a full and fair campaign process and deprive all other candidates of their right to a fair race and public knowledge of the candidates. He further states that this was done to avoid debates with opponents in his own party and to deprive other candidates of their fair opportunities to appear in the media. Thus, he contends the court should strike Kahele as a candidate for the office and order an investigation into this matter.

4. In the motion to dismiss Plaintiff's election contest complaint, the Chief Election Officer contends the complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and the relevant election contest statutes limit the supreme court's jurisdiction to deciding which candidate was nominated or elected, and thus, the court cannot grant the relief requested.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. HRS § 11-172 provides that a copy of the complaint for an election contest "shall be delivered to the chief election officer or the clerk in the case of county election " See Han v.

Manahan, SCEC-12-0000716, 2012 WL 3667313, (Haw. Aug. 27, 2012) (concluding that in an election contest involving a county election, the City Clerk was a necessary and indispensable party who should have been named as a defendant and served with a copy of the complaint).

2. The democratic primary election for the office of the United States Representative, District II, is a state election administered by the State Office of Elections. The Chief Election Officer, therefore, is a necessary and indispensable party who should have been named as a defendant. The record shows the attorney for the Chief Election Officer was served with a copy of the complaint, and this court issued an order directing the Chief Election Officer to appear in this matter to ensure the election contest is decided on the merits.

3. HRS § 11-172 provides in relevant part:

The complaint shall set forth any cause or causes, such as, but not limited to, provable fraud, overages or underages, that could cause a difference in the election results.

4. A complaint challenging the results of an election pursuant to HRS § 11-172 fails to state a claim unless the plaintiff demonstrates errors that would change the outcome of the election. Tataii v. Cronin, 119 Hawai'i 337, 339, 198 P.3d 124, 126 (2008) (citing Akaka v. Yoshina, 84 Hawai'i 383, 387, 935 P.2d 98, 102 (1997)). See also Funakoshi v. King, 65 Haw. 312, 317, 651 P.2d 912, 913 (1982) (Difference in the election results . . . mean[s] a difference sufficient to change the results of the election).

5. [T]he [plaintiff] must show that he or she has actual information of mistakes or errors sufficient to change the result. The [plaintiff] has the burden of demonstrating that the specific acts and conduct of which [he or she] complain[s] would have had the effect of changing the results. In the absence of facts showing that irregularities exceed the reported margin between the candidates, the complaint is legally insufficient because, even if its truth were assumed, the result of the election would not be affected.

It is not sufficient that the [plaintiff] points to a poorly run and inadequately supervised election process that evinces room for abuse or possibilities of fraud. An election contest cannot be based upon mere belief or indefinite information.

Tataii, 119 Hawai'i at 339-40, 198 P.3d at 126-27 (citing Akana v. Yoshina, 84 Hawai'i at 387-388, 935 P.2d at 102-103 (internal quotation marks, brackets and citations omitted)).

6. Upon considering a complaint contesting a primary election, a special primary election, or a county election, the supreme court, pursuant to HRS § 11-173.5, "shall give judgment fully stating all findings of fact and law" and "shall decide what candidate was nominated or elected."

7. Taking Plaintiff's allegations as true and viewing them in the light most favorable to him, it is evident he has presented no set of facts that would entitle him to the requested relief. He does not present specific acts or actual information of mistake or error sufficient to change the election results. Even if the claims regarding Kahele's failure to participate in media campaigns and debates are true, that alone is insufficient to change the results of the election. See Tataii v. Cronin, 119
