DECISION AND ORDER

MAINE COUNCIL OF
SELF INSURERS

Plaintiff

v.

MAINE WORKERS' COMPENSATION
BOARD

Defendant

Before the court is a consolidated motion for judgment on a stipulated record by the Maine State Chamber of Commerce ("the Chamber"), the Workers' Compensation Coordinating Council ("the Workers Compensation Council"), and the Maine Council of Self Insurers. Plaintiffs seek judicial review, pursuant to 5 M.R.S. § 8058, of a rule promulgated by the Maine Workers' Compensation Board ("the Board").

Facts

39-A M.R.S. § 213 provides that the Board shall review workers' compensation cases involving permanent injury and, every two years, calculate a permanent impairment threshold such that 25% of all injured employees with a permanent impairment ("PI") will exceed that threshold. § 213 further provides that the Board shall do so through the use of an independent actuary utilizing actuarially sound data and methodology. A worker whose PI rating exceeds the resulting PI Threshold will be entitled to extended benefits.

Initially, the actuary retained by the Board made the determination that the 2006 PI Threshold should be set at 12.5%. This determination was made without inclusion of the cases reported to have 0% PI.

The Board then had two of its Hearing Officers review a subset of the 0% cases that were not included in the actuary's calculus. Of the 611 files reviewed, the Hearing Officers concluded that 343 lacked sufficient information to accurately assign any PI rating, and of the 268 that had sufficient information, 183 had a PI rating of 0% and the remaining 85 were something more than 0%.

In light of this data, the Board recalculated its figures and ultimately set the PI threshold at 11.8%. This calculation included not only the 85 cases that were determined to have a PI rating of higher than 0%, but also the 183 cases determined to have a PI rating of 0%.

Plaintiffs seek review of this determination, arguing, inter alia, that the Board's decision was arbitrary and capricious due to the inclusion of workers with 0% impairment.

Standard of Review

When an agency rule is challenged in a declaratory judgment action, the standard of review is contained in 5 M.R.S. § 8058. If the rule is procedurally sound, the court may review the rule substantively “to determine whether the rule is arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion or otherwise not in accordance with the law.” 5 M.R.S. § 8058(1), Conservation Law Foundation, Inc. v. Dept. of Env. Protection, 2003 ME 62, ¶21, 823 A.2d 551, 559. Under a motion for judgment on a stipulated record, the Court may determine any factual issues that arise from the stipulated record, drawing any necessary inferences. Rufus Deering Co. v. Spike, 2006 WL 295967, *1 (Me. Super., July 25, 2006) citing Boston Five Cents Sav. Bank v. Dept of Housing, 768 F.2d 5, 11-12 (1st Cir. 1985).

Discussion

I. Timeliness

First, the Board argues that the plaintiffs’ action should be dismissed as untimely filed under 5 M.R.S. § 11002. However, the 40-day time limitation contained in 5 M.R.S. § 11002 applies to challenges to an agency’s adjudicatory decision. When a plaintiff challenges a formal rule, the challenge is treated as a declaratory judgment action. 5 M.R.S. § 8058. Accordingly, the statute of limitations in such actions is six years from the date the cause of action accrues. Bog Lake Co. v. Town of Northfield, 2008 ME 37, ¶ 7, 942 A.2d 700, 703.

A rule is defined as “the whole or any part of every regulation, standard, code, statement of policy, or other agency statement of general applicability.” 5 M.R.S. § 8002(9)(A). The PI Threshold was promulgated using formal rulemaking procedures, and is an agency statement of general applicability, setting a standard as required under 39-A M.R.S. § 213. Consequently, these actions are timely as within the general six year statute of limitation for civil actions.

II. Inclusion of 0% Permanent Impairment Cases

The issue is whether the Board's decision to set the 2006 PI Threshold at 11.8% was in accordance with law. 39-A M.R.S. § 213 states that "the board, using an independent actuarial review based upon actuarially sound data and methodology, must adjust the [permanent impairment threshold] so that 25% of all cases with permanent impairment will be expected to exceed the threshold and 75% of all cases with permanent impairment will be expected to be less than the threshold."

Plaintiffs argue that that the Board's 2006 PI Threshold of 11.8% was improper because the 0% cases used in the actuary's calculus did not have a "permanent impairment" for purposes of § 213. As § 213 requires, the PI Threshold is required to be calculated such that the top quartile of cases with permanent impairment are above the threshold. Therefore, by including 0% cases that do not have a permanent impairment, the PI Threshold is artificially lowered.

The Board argues that the inclusion of the 0% cases was proper for two reasons. First, the Board argues that the actuary found their inclusion to be reasonable. This reliance is misplaced, however, because the actuary was not in a position to determine which 0% cases could properly be included in the calculus. In other words, the actuary's role was to calculate a threshold using data provided to him by the Board, not to determine which 0% cases reflect a true "permanent impairment" as a matter of law.

Second, the Board argues that some of the 0% cases still show some permanent injury; notwithstanding a 0% PI rating. This argument, however, is discredited by the distinction between permanent injury and permanent impairment.

A permanent impairment is defined under the Maine Workers' Compensation Act of 1992 as "any anatomic or functional abnormality or loss existing after the date of maximum medical improvement that results from the injury." 39-A M.R.S. § 102(16). Pursuant to 39-A M.R.S. § 153(8)(A), the Board is required to "establish by rule a schedule for determining the existence and degree of permanent impairment based upon medically or scientifically demonstrable findings . . ." Accordingly, the Board promulgated Me. W.C.B. Rule, ch. 7, § 6, which adopts the fourth edition of the American Medical Association Guides ("the Guides") for that purpose. According to the Guides, it is possible for a person to experience some permanent residual effects (i.e. permanent injuries) without having any permanent impairment. See, e.g. Guides, 4th ed., DRE Lumbrosacral, Category 1, at p. 102.

Consequently, the fact that some of the cases may involve some form of permanent injury does not mean that all of the 0% cases involve permanent impairment.

Remedy

When an agency's rule is invalidated as arbitrary and capricious pursuant to 5 M.R.S. § 8058, the rule is set aside and declare invalid. Because § 8058 is, in essence, a declaratory judgment action, an accompanying order to remand is inappropriate procedurally. Accordingly, the court GRANTS plaintiffs' motion for judgment on a stipulated record, and declares the Workers' Compensation Board's 2006 PI Threshold invalid.
