JUDGMENT ORDER BY PANELLA, J.

FILED DECEMBER 18, 2014

* Retired Senior Judge assigned to the Superior Court.

In this consolidated appeal, Appellant, Devon Robert Weaver, challenges, pro se, the trial court's order denying his request to vacate restitution orders in eight separate judgments of sentence. After careful review, we affirm.

The underlying sentencing orders in this appeal were entered at various times from 1987 to 1998. Weaver's first argument in favor of vacation of his restitution is that the restitution orders were illegally entered. To the extent that this argument is a challenge to the original judgments of sentence, we note that the trial court had no jurisdiction to consider these claims, as Weaver has not identified any timeliness exceptions to the jurisdictional requirements of the Post Conviction Relief Act. See *Commonwealth v. Jackson, 30 A.3d 516, 519 (Pa. Super. 2011).

To the extent that Weaver argues that such alleged issues with the entry of the restitution orders qualify as reason why the trial court should have exercised its discretion in his favor pursuant to 18 Pa.C.S.A. § 1106(c)(3) and modified the restitution to zero, we conclude that the trial court did not abuse its discretion. As this Court has previously stated, while Section 1106(c)(3) permits a court to modify an order of restitution at any time for justifiable reasons, "[a]t some point, finality is needed." Commonwealth v. Ortiz, 854 A.2d 1280, 1282 (Pa. Super. 2004).

The trial court concluded that the restitution orders at issue, which range from 16 to 27 years old, are so stale that finality trumps whatever other concerns Weaver may raise. We cannot conclude that this reasoning is capricious or an error of law, and therefore find that none of Weaver's issues on appeal merit relief.

Order affirmed. Jurisdiction relinquished.
