JULIE SNEAD

Original Proceeding

Trial Cause No. CV-1206096

MEMORANDUM OPINION

A&E Television Networks, LLC, Christie Chreene, and Julie Snead filed a petition for writ of mandamus seeking to compel the trial court (1) not to permit any further discovery, and (2) to enter a written order memorializing its oral rulings on their objections to the summary judgment evidence. The real parties in interest, Crystal Ward and Hogs Dogs & Lace, LLC, filed a response in which they contend that the trial court implicitly overruled Relators' objections when the trial court signed the summary judgment order. After reviewing the petition, the response, and the records submitted by the parties, we conclude that Relators have not shown an abuse of discretion for which an appeal would be an inadequate remedy. See generally In re Prudential Ins. Co. of Am., 148 S.W.3d 124, 135-36 (Tex. 2004); Walker v. Packer, 827 S.W.2d 833, 842 (Tex. 1992). Accordingly, we deny the petition for mandamus relief.

PETITION DENIED.
